LABOR SCORES SLEUTH PLAN

TRADES COUNCIL URGES FINE-SPLITTING TABOO AS SOLONS AWAIT MEET

Harry Cresswell, Anthony Wynn and J. C. Higgins Are Named Members of Committee to go to City Hall to Seek Repeal of Dry Detective Legislation.

APPROXIMATELY 1,000 CITIZENS SIGN PETITIONS PROTESTING RAID METHODS

Representative Manufacturers, Merchants and Professional Men Will Ask Council at Friday Evening's Session to Eradicate Ordinances Blamed for Inter City Enforcement Officers' War.

Trades and Labor council today joined hands with representative citizens here in demanding repeal of the fine-splitting detective legislation.

Meeting last night, the central labor body voted to urge the city council at Friday night's session to rescind the emergency ordinance enacted on Jan. 10.

A committee consisting of J. C. Higgins, president of the council, Harry Cresswell and Anthony Wynn, was named to appear before the solons.

Councilman Thomas Farrall, a member of Trades and Labor council, urged condemnation of the measure. He declared the ordinance to be one of the "most dastardly pieces of legislation ever written" into the city statutes. No one spoke in favor of the bill, although several members assailed it. The vote on the motion to name a committee to appear before city council was not unanimous.

Names of approximately 1,000 voters, it was estimated, have been affixed to the citizens' petitions requesting repeal of the legislation. Two petitions, which have been turned in, are said to contain about 350 signatures.

May Change Meeting Place

The papers will be collected Friday afternoon. A committee of representative manufacturers, merchants and professional men, will be selected to present the petitions.

Due to the interest which is being manifested in council's possible action on the request, a movement was started today to have the session of the solons transferred to the high school auditorium. The suggestion was made by Councilman N. P. Kerr, who declared that many persons who contemplated attending the meeting could not be accommodated if the session was held in city hall.

President of Council L. T. Capehart said that the request would be referred to the other members of the legislative body when they assembled Friday evening. If agreeable, he said, the meeting would be transferred to the high school building where a large crowd of citizens may be accommodated.

Anonymous Letter Writer Turns Guns On City Officials

The Review-Tribune today received an anonymous communication on "private detective and police activities" in the inter-city prohibition enforcement officers' war.

If the writer desires publication of the letter, he should forward his name as evidence of good faith. His identity will not be revealed.

Unless this request is complied with before noon Friday, the communication, which makes uncomplimentary references to certain city officials, will be consigned to the waste paper basket.

DISMISS JURY IN RUM TRIAL

Jurors are Hopelessly Divided in Jersey City Case.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 22.—Judge Charles M. Egan today dismissed the jury in the Hudson county liquor cases who heard the evidence in the case of ten policemen and two civilians, when the jury reported that it was hopelessly divided.

The jury reported at 10 o'clock this morning. The judge, who had been delayed in reaching court, arrived shortly before the jurors filed into the room. They had been out since 3:07 yesterday afternoon and appeared to be tired.

"Gentlemen, have you reached a verdict," the judge said.

Henry A. Lauenstein, of Bayone, N. J., the foreman replied: "I am sorry to say, judge, we have not—we were unable to reach a verdict."

Conspiracy Charged.

Tri-state Poultry Fanciers' Meeting In C. of C. Rooms

A meeting of the Tri-State Poultry association will be held in the chamber of commerce room, Little building, tonight.

Election of officers and distribution of trophies to the winners in the 1924 chicken show, will feature the session. The membership committee will report. Plans for next year's show will be discussed.

All chicken fanciers are invited to attend.

Husband is Head Of House, Ruling In Whisky Trial

DAYTON, O., Jan. 22. — A husband is the head of his house and is responsible for what takes place therein, even if his wife commits a misdemeanor.

This, in effect, is the decision of Common Pleas Judge E. T. Snediker in the case of William Penn vs. the city of Dayton, who upheld the decision of municipal court, in which Penn was fined $350.

Penn was arrested by local police, charged with unlawful possession of whisky. The story told by police in the criminal division of municipal court when Penn was tried and found guilty was that his wife had the whisky under her dress when they raided the Penn home. They declared she was allowing the whisky to run out of an inverted bottle under her dress, in the bath room when they arrived. Penn was present at the time.

CANTON LAWYER KIWANIS NATAL DAY SPEAKER

Loren Souers Makes Tenth Anniversary Address.

50 ATTEND MEET

Per Capita Assessment for Harding Memorial is Voted.

Tenth anniversary of the organization of the first Kiwanis club was celebrated by the East Liverpool club in connection with the weekly noonday luncheon in the Larkins annex, Market street, today. About 50 members and their guests attended.

Attorney Loren Souers, Canton Kiwanian, speaker of the day, traced the growth of the Kiwanis movement. Kiwanis International today boasts of a membership of more than 93,000, scattered in 1,300 cities in United States and Canada, the speaker claimed.

He also discussed the causes for the growth of the movement and the aims and ideals of the club. President George E. Lewis, who presided, read an anniversary message to the club members.

Evening Meeting Next Week.

The club voted 50 cents per capita to the proposed Harding memorial, which Kiwanis International will erect at Stanley Park, British Columbia, where the late President Harding made his last public speech just a few days before his death. The memorial movement was explained by C. C.

BRIDGE BANDIT GOES TO PRISON

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 22.—William, alias James Porter, 26, arrested at Steubenville, Ohio, as alleged leader in the toll house robbery and kidnapping of Toll Keeper Fred Brinkman, pleaded guilty in criminal court here today. He was sentenced to serve ten years in the West Virginia penitentiary.

LIQUOR CHARGE FILED AGAINST EAGLES' CLUB IS DISMISSED

Detective-Police Raiders Fail to Substantiate Allegation.

CROWD ON HAND

Mayor Brown Hears Case in Council Chamber.

Declaring there was insufficient evidence to warrant conviction, Mayor Charles Brown, last evening, dismissed the charge of illegal possessing intoxicating liquors against the Eagles' club, raided by police and Steubenville detectives last Friday night.

In returning a verdict of not guilty, the mayor announced his willingness to "be fair" in the matter and said that he would not consider "evidence that had been dug out of the ground." A large crowd of spectators, who taxed the capacity of the council chamber, where the trial was held, cheered the decision.

Solicitor Harry L. Brokaw prosecuted the case, while Attorney Beq L. Bennett represented the defendants. The prosecution called three witnesses—Patrolman Norman McFarland, Turnkey William Cline and Special Officer Edgarle Bloor, who took part in the raid. None of the Steubenville detectives was present.

Three Patrolmen Testify.

The three patrolmen testified of the visit to the club house. They found the front door open and went to the grill in the basement of the building. Harry Webster, Steubenville dry detective, pressed the buzzer button. The bell was answered, but the officers were not admitted, it was declared. Webster then proceeded to smash down the door, it was testified.

Webster stepped behind the counter and seized a pitcher which, according to police witnesses, had the scent of whiskey. With a piece of towel, he soaked up liquid which was found in the sink, placing it in a pint bottle which was brought to the city hall.

Turnkey Cline and Special Officer Bloor were emphatic in their testimony that the liquid in the bottle was whiskey. Patrolman McFarland,

Less Than 2,000 Sets of Automobile Tags Issued Here

Less than 2,000 sets of outomobile license plates have been issued in East Liverpool by Deputy Automobile Registrar James S. Hilbert.

Of this number, approximately 1,600 are for pleasure cars while the remaining 350 are for motor trucks. The plates are being issued at the rate of about 75 per day, although the sales showed a big increase Tuesday—the last day of grace for the 1924 plates.

Mayor Brown has instructed the police to make no arrests for a few days yet of automobile owners who have not obtained new license plates.

STATE DEMANDS LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR GIRL WHO KILLED HER MOTHER

Woman District Attorney Selected to Prosecute San Francisco "Daughter of Jazz," Insists Upon Speedy Trial.

By COPELAND C. BURG

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22—"Dorothy Ellingson must serve life."

This was the demand made today by the prosecution in the case of the "Daughter of Jazz" who sent a death bullet into her mother's head.

"This is a murder case, not a case of ordinary juvenile delinquency," declared Dr. Theresa Meikle, assistant District Attorney, selected to prosecute the girl who slew in a "red headed" rage.

"It will not be dealt with as an ordinary juvenile derelection.

"The people will oppose any continuance.

"The place for this case is in the criminal courts and the sooner it reaches there the better. We demand a speedy trial."

Prisoner Defies Police

Dorothy, weak, from her ordeal of yesterday when she appeared in police court and won her first fight in the courts by having her case transferred to the juvenile court, was scheduled to appear today before Juvenile Judge Murasky, where her fate may be definitely determined.

Judge Murasky was expected to either order the child defendant held for the superior court on murder charges or order her sentenced until she is 23 to the girls' home at Ventura, California.

The young matricide's condition early today was reported improved since last night when she suffered a near collapse, although her father and brother who visited the city prison, were denied admittance.

While she pushed back her breakfast tray untouched, drinking only a small cup of black coffee, Dorothy defied the police. She refused to appear against four members of the Jazzland orchestra, who are held on statutory charges in connection with the path the coral-haired girl blazed down San Francisco's night life trail.

Slayer Nods to His Friends as he Goes to Death on Gallows

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Smiling and nooding recognition to friends, Herbert Copeland, Negro, went to his death on the gallows here today after confessing to numerous other murders aside from the killing of two capital policemen and a deputy sheriff.

Just before going to the scaffold, Copeland confessed, according to authorities, of murdering a woman in Galveston, Texas and a Negro police man in Chicago.

After four witnesses, representing the soldier organizations, were examined, Mr. Brokaw ordered a continuance to give the American Legion an opportunity to obtain statements.

The veterans were represented at the hearings by Attorneys W. S. Foulks and W. S. Stevenson. Attorney R. G. Thompson appeared for the City hospital board and the executive committee of the War Chest.

Unidentified Masked Fiend Attempts to Assault Ohio Woman

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Jan. 22.—Police of Junction City and Sheriff Harley McNabb and a force of deputies are scouring the woods near that village for an unidentified masked man who early today attempted to assault Mrs. William Taylor, Pennsylvania railroad employe, near Junction City.

Mrs. Taylor escaped from her assailant and ran exhausted to a neighbor's house, where she fainted.

POTTERS LAUD LATE CHIEF OF UNION LABOR

Memory of Gompers Honored at Open Meeting.

THREE SPEAKERS

Green's Message Read in Trades Council Hall.

The memory of the late Samuel Gompers, for many years president of the American Federation of Labor was honored by members of Trades and Labor Council in a memorial service, open to the public, in the labor council hall, Fifth and Washington streets, last evening.

The principal speaker was George Chadwick, second vice-president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who was one of the two delegates representing the Brotherhood at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor held in El Paso, Texas, last November. Mr. Chadwick discussed the life and work of the late chieftain, asserting that he had done more for the cause of organized labor and humanity than any person since Abraham Lincoln. He referred to his first meeting with Mr. Gompers at the Baltimore convention in 1912.

Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the Brotherhood, who followed Mr. Chadwick, compared Gompers with other great men of the modern times. He pointed to his splendid record as head of the organized labor movement.

A message from William Green, Coshocton, who succeeded Mr. Gompers, as president of the Federation was read. Mr. Green paid a high tribute to his predecessor and asked for the co-operation of organized craftsmen during his term of office.

The meeting was presided over by J. C. Higgins, president of the council. The meeting was largely attended.

WILLIAM REDDICK NOT INDICTED

Through an error, the name of William Reddick, of the Lincoln highway, was used in connection with a charge of criminal assault before Judge James G. Moore, at Lisbon, yesterday. The man under indictment is Willard Reddick, Oak street potter, who is in no way related to William Reddick.

MAYOR BROWN CONFERS WITH EXECUTIVE OF SISTER CITY

Wellsville Official Says he "Demands Truth."

NO PACT MADE

Peace overtures, designed to abolish inter-city prohibition enforcement hostilities which reached a tragic climax Saturday, met with failure, temporarily, at least, when a conference between Mayor James S. Barnes, of Wellsville, and Mayor Charles Brown, of East Liverpool, held yesterday afternoon in the office of the Wellsville executive, came to an end without an agreement.

The conference, it is said, was also attended by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, of East Liverpool, and Police Chief John Fultz, of Wellsville.

Mayor Brown Fosters Movement.

The movement for an understanding between the two cities on the question was fostered by Mayor Charles Brown, according to Mayor Barnes.

The Wellsville executive asserted that Mayor Brown expressed a desire to call off the inter-city raiding, smooth over the feeling of animosity said to exist now, and have each city handle its own law enforcement problems.

Mayor Barnes declared today that he is willing to return to a safe and sane enforcement program and would do it "in 10 minutes," on certain conditions.

The Wellsville official asserted he feels that he has a right to be cleared of any blame in the eyes of the public by a formal statement by Mayor Brown. He said that he "demands only the truth, "irrespective of whether it hurts me or any one else."

Efforts to reach Mayor Brown to-

Rev. Benjamin Swan, Former Resident, Dies in Florida

Rev. Benjamin Swan, 59, former resident of East Liverpool, died in his home in Lake Alfred, Florida, yesterday, according to word received today by relatives.

He was the son of the late Rev. J. M. Swan, who was a former pastor of the Longs Run Presbyterian church, near Calcutta. Until lately he was pastor of a Presbyterian church at North Warren, Pa., but went to Florida last fall in hopes of improving the health of his wife.

Rev. Swan is survived by his wife, a son, Rev. Harry Swan, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Albany, N. Y., and a daughter, Miss Lillian Swan, who is engaged in home missionary work in West Virginia; also three sisters and three brothers as follows: Mrs. Major Newman and Mrs. M. D. Farrar, of this city, Mrs. J. T. Leyenberger, Wheeling; Rev. W. L. Swan, of Willoughby, O.; R. W. Swan of Nankin, Ohio, and James L. Swan, of Tampa, Florida.

MINERS' STRIKE DANGER AVERTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The danger of a general strike in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields has been averted, Commissioners of Conciliation Thomas Davis and James F. Dewey today advised Secretary of Labor Davis. They also advised him they would join with the anthracite conciliation board and a special commission appointed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in an attempt to settle the disputes between the miners and operators in the Pittston Fields, involving about 11,000 miners.

H. W. CULP, CHEMIST, SPEAKING IN LAYMAN'S LANGUAGE, EXPLAINS SATURDAY'S ECLIPSE OF SUN

Speaking in the language of the layman, but with the Knowledge of the scientist, Harvey W. Culp, chemist in the Babcock and Wilcox laboratory, East End, and a member of the American Association of Variable Star Observers, today discussed the total eclipse of the sun which will be visible in the Northern section of the United States on Saturday.

The Sun will rise in the east a little before 7:30 a. m., tomorrow, a nick on the one edge may be noticed at 8 o'clock, but the time to begin to watch is about 9 o'clock, Culp says.

"On Saturday there will be enacted for the people residing in a narrow belt of the country a drama of great interest and one seldom seen in the life time of an average man," said Culp. "To those of us who live in a much wider region on either side of this path a much less important and dramatic sideshow will be seen the total eclipse of the sun.

"Eclipses of the sun occur four times yearly on an average, but all of these are not visible in any one particular locality. Eclipses also differ in the interest they evince from Astronomers and laymen as well. Everyone recalls observing eclipse of the sun which, when viewed through a smoked glass, appeared to be minus a section of familiar disc. These are by far the most common eclipses and are comparatively irrelevant to astronomers. There are those, however, for a glimpse of which astronomers will travel half way around the earth. These are total, the sun being entirely obscured for a few minutes. To this latter class the present eclipse belongs.

Path of Totality.

"Totality occurs along a path about 100 miles wide extending from a point north of Duluth, Minn., across northern Michigan and the Great Lakes to Buffalo, thence eastward to the coast between New York city (above 72nd street) and the southern border of Rhode Island. New Haven, Conn., will be almost in the center of the path.

"Eclipses are caused by the moon's passing between the earth and the sun and so cutting off part or all of the light, giving us total or partial eclipse, respectively. In a total eclipse the path is narrow because the shadow of the moon is almost as long as the distance of the moon from the earth and it is known that a globe such as the moon or the earth casts a shadow that tapers to a point. Hence if the shadow were exactly as long as the moon's distance from the earth the tip of this shadow cone would just graze the surface of the earth. Because the moon travels around the earth in a flattened circular orbit which, of course, brings it much nearer to us at some times than at others, the distance is shortened enough to make the shadow fall some distance on the other side of the earth to give a path about 100 miles wide where the earth cuts it. In this path, the light of the sun is wiped out and it becomes as dark as a night when there is a full moon. Because the moon travels so fast, this period of darkness will last two minutes at most in the present case. The period is rarely very much longer than this.

When the sun is totally gone, a portion of its upper surface (or atmosphere) remains observable. This is frequently seen to be full of bright jets or clouds thousands of miles high which are really storms on the sun. Out beyond this outer atmosphere, which is called the Corona, are seen great streamers of light gases extending sometimes ten million miles from the sun.

"Of course, all of this will not be visible in East Liverpool because we lie outside of the path of totality. The sun will be seen in partial eclipse, becoming 80 to 90 per cent covered by the moon at most. It will be of interest, however, to watch the moon slowly encroach upon the sun and then recede again. All of this will occur about 9 o'clock in the morning.

"Most interesting of the many problems that scientists will endeavor to solve at this time is the research that is being sponsored by the American Astronomical society and Scientific American. It is a research in which every person having a radio of

APPRAISEMENT OF PROPERTY COST $62,500

Figures Show Expense Was About Two Per Cent.

43,000 NAMES

Canvassers' Work Added $24,013,020 to Tax Duplicate.

Reappraisement of property, which added $24,013,020 to the tax duplicate, cost Columbiana county approximately $62,500, or a little more than two per cent, county Auditor C. E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, announced today.

The old valuation as shown by the tax duplicate was $108,629,060. The new valuation is $132,642,080.

The first application for funds to pay the cost of the reappraisement was made to the county commissioners on January 21, last, when $30,000 was set aside. An additional appropriation of $20,000 was made on June 23, last. A third appropriation of $10,00 was authorized Aug. 22, and Nov. 27 last there was another appropriation of $2,500.

Cost $6,250 a Year.

Stretching the cost of the appraisement over a period of 10 years, for example, it shall have cost the county at the rate of $6.250 per year to have obtained the new values.

It is possible that reductions will be made on valuations, following the filing of complaints. According to Mr. Hamilton, less than three percent of the 43,000 odd property owners in the county have filed objections.

No date for a meeting of the board of revision. All complaints first will be investigated by field agents. Their reports will be reviewed by the board.

No extension of time was granted by the County Commissioners at their last meeting for the payment of taxes, and the December paying term closed as of Jan. 20.

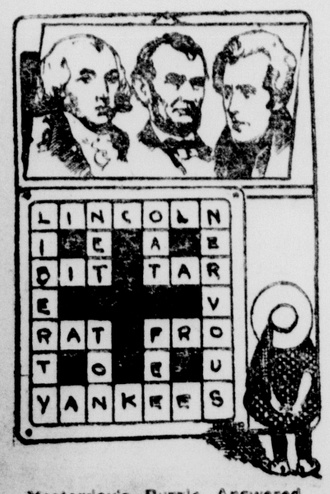
CROSS WORD PUZZLE ANSWER



Yesterday's Puzzle Answered.

DEATH ROLL

Newton M. Birch.

Newton M. Birch, 28 years old, died this morning at his home, 411 Prospect street. Death followed a brief illness.

Deceased, who was employed at the Buckeye pottery, is survived by his wife, one daughter, Virginia; his father, E. E. Birch, and the following brothers and sisters: Earl, McKelley, Ray R., Albert, Kenneth, Emil, all of this city, and Mrs. Roy Vaughn of Alliance.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home, Rev. D. W. McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Walter William Johnson.

Walter William Johnson, 23 years old, of Wellsville, died this morning in the East Liverpool city hospital, death being attributed to pneumonia.

He had been employed as a boiler maker at the shops prior to his illness.

The body will be sent tomorrow to Mt. Vernon for burial. Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 10 in the D. M. McLean funeral parlors.

H. W. Culp

any power at all can assist and in which they are urged to help.

"In the first place it is interesting for the scientist to try to discover whether the corona is electrical, atmospheric or atomic. More observation of halo which appears when all of the sun's disc is covered may reveal the source of the energy which the sun emits.

"The eclipse will help also to determine the exact time of the contacts of the rims of the sun and moon, and thus help to check the exceedingly accurate prognostications of astronomers which are sometimes rendered slightly inaccurate due to certain irregularities of the motion of the moon. These irregularities may receive partial explanation when the differences are checked.

"From the point of view of the Einstein theory the eclipse is interesting because the covering of the disc of the sun will permit the photographing and observation of the sky background of the sun. Einstein's theory says that the rays of light from the stars around the sun are attracted by its huge bulk. When the sun is shinning it is impossible to observe the background of the sun, and the rays of light from stars beyond the sun cannot be observed, and so the curve if there is any, cannot be studied.

"Another hypothesis which may be studied when the sun is darkened concerns the possible discovery of planets inside the orbit of Mercury.

Radio Co-operation.

"Four stations, WGY, Schnectady; WGR, Buffalo; WBZ, Springfield, Mass., and WOR, Newark, N. J. will broadcast a special program of slow dictation from 8:45 until 9 on the morning of the eclipse (the period in which the shadow will be speeding eastward over the country). Radio fans are urged to listen in' and note any difference in the manner in which the signals are received—that is, to note where the signals became weak or strong or where anything unusual in the transmission occurs. They are asked to note at what word in the dictation, which will be read slowly, the change was noted and to communicate their observations to Scientific American.

At the stations the words will be checked against a clock as they are read so that the exact time that any one of them was read will be known. Then if the observers note any change in the signals at a particular word the exact time of that change will be obtainable. The position of the moon's shadow will also be know definitely at every moment and thus the effect of the shadow upon radio waves passing through it can be determined. It is uncertain whether this effect will be a strengthening or an interference of static."

Calling attention to plans for the radio feature, Mr. Culp said:

"Several persons in the East Liverpool district have already agreed to listen to this special broadcast and will report their findings. This does not bar others from doing the same and we would like many more to help in this great experiment. All desiring to cooperate should receive an assignment of a station and further instructions from me in care of the YMCA in East Liverpool. I will be glad to meet anyone desiring to do systematic listening at the Y on Friday evening. It is quite necessary that all reporting should receive uniform instructions for carrying on the work."

No Weather Forecast

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The government weather bureau added tensity today to the universal interest in the eclipse of the sun Saturday by declining to forecast whether or not, the sky would be clear for this great solar event. There will be, however, a "special eclipse forecast issued Friday."

But man, in his ingenuity, set about months ago to defeat unfavorable weather conditions. The giant dirigible, Los Angeles, now at Lakehurst, N. J., will travel the aerial highways and make scientific observations and take photographs of the phenomenon.

So, too, will 12 DeHavilland army observation aeroplanes under the direction of Major William N. Hensley, Jr., commandant at Mitchell Field, L. I. The DeHavilland planes will soar three miles above the earth if necessary, it was said. They will be equipped with numerous instruments for scientific and astronomical deduction and with cameras as well.

From the ether, Major Hensley will send back to earth radio reports of the aeroplane eye view of the eclipse. This radio report will be relayed through station WJZ. The most favored localities to view the eclipse will be those in a pathway 70 miles wide which begins, roughly speaking, northwest of Duluth, Min., and stretches eastward to New York City, New Haven, Conn., Newport, R. I., and on into the Atlantic ocean.

New Haven Astronomer's Mecca.

New Haven, Conn., and its famous university, Yale, will be the mecca for astronomers and physicists, special trains will be run to New Haven for laymen and scientists of world wide fame already are there adjusting their sensitive instruments.

New Haven is the mecca because it will be directly in the full shadow of the eclipse and the scientists will have a maximum of two minutes in which to make their observations.

Harvard and Princeton universities, in cooperation, will attempt to fix the position of the moon at the time of the eclipse. The government has assigned a special aeroplane to make observations for Amherst college. There is in fact hardly a university or scientific body of any importance in the world but what will take some part in the event.

The scientists themselves do not know what to expect. New stars may be discovered; the Einstein theory of relativity may be definitely proven; the heat of the sun will be measured; photographs will be taken of the corona (the gaseous envelope surrounding the sun); magnetic currents will be studied and radio instruments will be closely watched for potential reactions.

Layman's Free Show.

The layman will have his own highly interesting free show. The most important manifestation for the layman will be the approach of the eclipse. The apparent shadow of night will come foward him out of the west at a speed of 60 miles a second. It will be an awsome stillness. If the layman is in the country, he more than likely will hear roosters crow and dogs barking as at night.

The layman looking skyward must beware, the astronomers warn, of "sun blindness," smoked glasses should be worn. The layman will see the most marvelous of solar pyrotechnics, the corona. He will see "prominences," as the astronomers term them, shooting out from behind the moon. These "prominences" are flames or sun explosions, and they rise in the air anywhere from 20,000 to 100,000 miles, some astronomers say 500,000 miles.

Strange, and yet unexplained, "shadow bands," about two inches wide, may appear on the earth.

This will be the last opportunity for people now living to view an eclipse, for the next will be 220 years hence.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Strength in the stock market and the foreign exchange market were the principal features of interest in the financing district today. Reflecting the confident prediction of the chairman of Barclay's Bank in London that sterling would soon return to par, demand sterling jumped 1⅛ cents to $4.79¼ in early trading, equalling its best record since 1915. In the stock market, United States Steel common continued the burst of strength with which it closed Wednesday's session and jumped to 126⅝, a new high since 1917 and exactly ten points below the record high price set in that movement. Rumors were current that the directors at their meeting next Tuesday would increase the rate of "quarterly special" dividend from the 50 cent disbursement inaugurated last year.

Oil stocks led the market in activity in the first two hours, most of the representative independent and Standard Oil shares continuing the movement which has been in progress since the turn of the year. Advances of from 25 to 42 cents a barrel in the prices of Tonkawa crude oil were made by the Marland company, while the Ohio company was reported to have marked up Ohio crude ten cents; Indiana Refining company advanced Kentucky crude 15 cents and Plymouth Oil advanced 25 cents.

175 Persons Attend Wednesday Meet in First M. E. Church

About 175 attended the supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. After congregational singing, T. T. McCann led in prayer, following which Dr. Fowler gave a breif report of the Ministers' Evangelistic Institute held in Canton, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Prior of Pittsburgh, an evangelistic worker among the colored people of the south, rendered southern melodies.

The people were then directed to the auditorium where an hour's service of prayer and praise was enjoyed. In this service, Mr. Prior gave a splendid gospel message in address and song. He reported on the results and expressed the grateful appreciation of the work being done by the Methodist church among his people in the south.

Mr. Bush of Sebring, Ohio, a missionary of the Methodist church to South Africa, gave a 15-minute talk on the work in that country.

An expression of the people indicated a desire to have Mr. Prior come on some evening later with his wife and five children to give a full evening's program. The date will be announced later.

IRONDALE MAN'S HAND AMPUTATED

Charles Morgan, Irondale, this afternoon underwent an operation for the removal of a hand at the city hospital following injuries he sustained at the plant of the East Ohio sewer pipe plant near Irondale.

Morgan, it is reported, had his hand caught in machinery and it was crushed. Dr. Rice of Irondale, rendered medical aid.

TRAIN DERAILED; 12 ARE INJURED

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Jan. 22.—Twelve persons were injured, three seriously, when Denver and Rio Grande Western passenger train No. 1, west bound, was derailed near Ruby, 25 miles west of here, today.

The injured were brought to a local hospital.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown during our recent bereavement; also the Rev. Difford and singers of St. Stephens church. Also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

Dismiss Jury

alleged leader of the "Bootlegging Ring"; Harry J. Stearns, councilman and chairman of the police committee of Weehawken; Captain Charles McNamee, of the Hudson County Boulevard police, two police lieutenants and seven patrolmen.

The jurors looked wan and haggard.

When the foreman told the judge that the jurors were "hopelessly disagreed," the judge said:

"Hopelessly? Don't you think that if you went out again for a short time you could arrive at a verdict?"

"No, your honor! The foreman replied. We have disagreed for fifteen hours and we cannot reach a verdict."

"Then, under the circumstances, and in view of your sincerity, I am compelled to discharge you from further service during the balance of the term of court," the judge said.

Majority For Conviction.

It was understood that the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction when dismissed. The first vote, it was said, was 8 to 4 for conviction. An hour later it switched to 9 to 3 and remained thus until they finally decided they were hopelessly deadlocked.

The defendants in the main seemed to accept the disagreement as they would have a verdict of acquittal. Every one of the ten police in uniform broke into smiles, as did Stearns.

Only Griffin, "mystery man" of the trial and characterized by state counsel as "king of the bootleggers," retained the calm that marked him throughout the trial. Not the slightest change of expression passed over his features when the disagreement was announced.

however, would not swear as to the contents of the bottle.

Turners' Case Not Called.

No witnesses were called by the defense. At the close of the testimony of the three members of the raiding party, Attorney Bennett made a motion that the case be dismissed for lack of evidence. With Mayor Brown's permission, he briefly reviewed the testimony. The mayor, without further formality, then dismissed the case.

The hearing was frequently interrupted by jeers and remarks from the crowd, which appeared friendly toward the defendants. The state witnesses' answers were hissed on one or two occasions.

Mayor Brown has set no date for the hearing of the Turners' Club, also charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. In asmuch as the mayor announced he would not consider evidence "dug up from the ground," it is doubtful if this case comes to trial. The raiders collected a quantity of earth, soaked with liquid which they claimed to be whiskey, when they cutout a section of the floor after raiding the Turners' club.

and those other boys," she said. "I refuse to testify against them. You can't drag me into court to make me harm them.

"I deserve whatever I get in this mess, but why drag in the innocent? I refuse to testify one word against any one accused of contributing to my delinquency."

Another attempt to have her testify will be made today. Dorothy's attorney, Alexander Mooslin, said he would battle today against any attempt to go ahead with the case and would demand a continuance. He said he would insist upon his legal right to prepare a proper defense for the child defendant along the lines of "mental illness."

Reserve police in large numbers were ordered on duty to prevent a recurrence of yesterday's near riot when a huge crowd, the largest ever attending a court hearing in San Francisco, surged about the hall of justice in an effort to view the red-headed girl who confessed she murdered her mother.

Pastor Carries Check to Widow.

In addition to this development, it was also announced today by Mayor Barnes that a check for $1,008.35 has been turned over to the widow of the late Percy Frost.

The check had been deposited with Mayor Barnes for the appearance of the owner on last Saturday morning but it was not cashed.

With Rev. B. R. Johnston, pastor of the First Christian church, acting as emissary, Mayor Barnes returned the check to the widow.

"I am not disposed to inflict any hardship on the family of Percy Frost," said Mayor Barnes.

The club members will entertain their wives and friends at the Country club next Thursday evening. Jules Brazil, Toronto, Canada, will furnish the entertainment. The meeting will be in the form of a dinner-dance.

"GOITRE GONE"

Wants Testimonial Published That Others May Benefit From This Simple Remedy.

Mrs. Earl Sanders, LaGrange, Ohio, says: "If you wish to publish this testimonial, you are welcome. It has been over a year and my goitre has not bothered me since. The choking and throbbing was awful. Had about given up when I saw Sorbol-Quadruple advertised. Lost 40 pounds and looked bad. Have regained this and am looking fine. Will tell my full experience even by letter."

CROWD HEARS DR. LOCKHART

Church of Christ Evangelist Speaks on "New Birth."

Another large crowd attended Wednesday night's revival services at the First Church of Christ. Evangelist William J. Lockhart spoke on the subject, "The New Birth."

The "Green" side in the Sunday school campaign sprang a surprise on the "RReds" by decorating the church auditorium in green prior to the Wednesday evening service. Prof. Harbinson, song leader, was in charge of the music.

The drive for a 1,000 attendance at the Bible school will be continued again next Sunday. The attendance last Sunday fell 11 short of this number.

Tonight Rev. Lockhart will discuss "The Prodigal Son." At the Friday night service he will be assisted by his son, "Billy" Lockhart. The service on Friday evening will be known as "Father and Son Night." The evangelist will preach to men only at 3 p. m. Sunday on "One Hundred Percent Americanism."

In his last night's discourse, Evangelist Lockhart said in part:

"There are two sides to the plan of salvation—man's side and God's side. There are the things that men must do to be saved and there are the things God will do. The secret things belong unto the Lord, our God, but the things that are revealed belong unto us and our children that we may do all the words of this law."

"You can not understand how God creates new life. You only understand the processes through which we must put the seed or the egg in order that God may do the balance.

"Put the egg in the incubator with the germ of life in it and keep the temperature at 102 or 103 and turn the egg once a day and give it moisture and on the morning of the 21st day you will see a miracle. A new life has been created. You will hear a 'Peep, peep,' and a little fluffy chicken will fall down in the nursery below. Can you understand how God gave the new life? No philosopher does. All you know is what you must do and God does the balance.

"So in the spiritual birth. Allow the germ of faith to be planted in your soul. Cultivate it until Jesus Christ is allowed to take possession of your life. Turn from the things that are wrong, confess the Lord and be baptised and Jesus Christ has promised the forgiveness of sins and the Gift of the Holy Spirit. Now do not concern yourself about God's part. Do your part and he will give you the new life.

"There is a birth of the water and a birth of the spirit. The birth of the spirit is God's side. You do your part and God does His. You may not understand how any more than you do how the grains grow or the chick is created or the child is born, and the 'secret things belong to God, the things that are revealed belong to us."

HIGHS FACING HARD CONTESTS

Columbiana Here Friday; Play Carrollton Saturday.

Taking on Columbiana high, listed as one of the leading contenders for the county scholastic basketball championship, and Carrollton high, in successive nights, the local school quintet is facing a difficult week-end assignment on the court.

The Columbiana passers are carded to play the Orange and Black tomorrow night on the local high school court.

On the following night, Coach Zimmerman and his squad will be in action at Carrollton.

Columbiana recently defeated Salem high by the count of 36 to 35, and prior to that Salem had won from Lisbon.

The local crew is in excellent shape for the two games. They will wind up their week's workouts this evening.

Coach Zimmerman, according to present arrangements, will start his regular lineup in the clash tomorrow night. Dickey and Weekly will probably go to the forward positions, with Shea at center and Scholl and Pignatore on the guards.

AID SOCIETY RAISES FUNDS

Members of the Ladies'-Aid society of the First Christian church held a quilting party yesterday afternoon in the church annex, Main street.

The society, through its own efforts, has obtained sufficient funds to make a substantial payment into the church remodeling fund.

In connection with yesterday's quilting party, luncheon was served by Mrs. Walter Weldon and her aides, honoring Mrs. John Crawford and Mrs. Alec White, whose birthdays were observed recently.

The society has a big work schedule ahead, it was announced, and efforts will be made to enroll more members.

WILL ATTEND KAYE SERVICES

A delegation of members of the congregation of the First Christian church is planning to attend services tonight in the Second Church of Christ in the East End, East Liverpool.

A series of evangelistic services, in charge of Rev. Harry G. Kaye, of New Castle, Pa., is under way in the East Liverpool church.

If weather permits, approximately 100 members of the local church will attend the services, according to announcement by Rev. Thomas Shearer, pastor. In this event, a special street car which will leave Wooster's stop at 6:50, will convey the church members to East End.

In the event that weather conditions are unfavorable, the trip will be made in the regular cars.

COAL MERGER PLAN REPORTED

Coal mines of Jefferson county would be included in the merger of all big coal interests in southern Ohio which, it is reported, is contemplated by companies in the field.

The companies interested employ about 12,000 men. The principal advantage of a merger, from the standpoint of the operators, would be reduced overhead, coal men said.

Most of the mines in the district, which include Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont counties, are owned and controlled by Cleveland operators.

REVIVALS HERE DRAW CROWDS

Crowds which have packed the Second Presbyterian church to capacity for over a week, during the revival services under charge of Dr. Lawther, of Niles, bid fair to make this series of meeting the greatest in the history of the church, according to announcement by Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor.

Special selections by the Sunday school orchestra last night added to the effectiveness of the program which featured Dr. Lawther's sermon on the subject, "The Mis-spent Life."

Dr. Lawther, in his address, pointed out the effects of a mis-spent life on a man and his family, especially his children, and "from the divine side," Dr. Lawther said," God's hand of wrath must rest everlastingly on every sinner, home and loved ones, until he repents of his sin."

Tonight, Dr. Lawther will speak on the theme, "The Greatest Question of Life."

High school students will be guests of the evening, although the meeting will be open to all.

On Tuesday evening a capacity audience of women heard Dr. Lawther on a special sermon for the night. Men were in the majority last night. A crowd of young people, in similar proportion, is anticipated tonight, with a sermon especially prepared for them.

RADIO SERVICE AT M. P. CHURCH

The First Methodist Protestant church, Tenth and Main streets, will conduct "radio services" on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. R. Ernest Games, pastor, announced today.

The radio service will take the place of the customary morning program, and iwll enable members of the congregation, as well as citizens in general, to whom an invitation is extended, to hear Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., L. L. D., presiednt of the general conference of the Methodist Protestant church.

Necessary arrangements have been completed by church officials whereby all who desire may listen in on the specially prepared program, which will be broadcast from the Rhode Island Avenue Methodist Protestant church in Washington, D. C., at 11 o'clock, eastern standard time.

There will be special music in addition to Rev. Lewis' sermon.

O. N. O. CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEET

Mrs. Leonard Stroble was hostess to members of the O. N. O. club last evening at her home in Princeton avenue, East Liverpool.

A brief business session was followed by a social hour. Five hundred music and fancywork were diversions. The home was appropriately decorated.

At the close of the affair the hostess served a two-course luncheon. Mrs. Fred Lowery, who recently celebrated her birthday, was honored by the club members who presented her with a pocketbook. Mrs. Albert Deemer, of this city, was a guest.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Plan Chicken Supper

Plans have been perfected for the chicken supper which will be given by members of the Missionary society of the First United Presbyterian church on Friday evening, January 30. The supper, it was announced, will be given for the public.

Kidney Sufferers

Physicians have long known a remarkably effective remedy for weak bladder and overworked kidneys—a wonderful oil imported from Holland which heals and tones up the irritated organs and banishes frequent calls, tired feeling, backaches, rheumatic pains, etc., often within 24 hours. This remarkable oil has at last been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. It costs only 50c, and relief is guaranteed or money back. Ask these druggists. Herche's Drug Store, C. G. Anderson, J. C. Carnahan, Gamble's Drug Store.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Tells you there is danger ahead. A healthy bladder does not act at night.

J. H. Dorton, W. Graham, Va., says: "I had to get up seven or eight times at night for forty years. I thought it was my age. After taking Lithiated Buchu a short time, I am alright." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at all leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway's. adv.

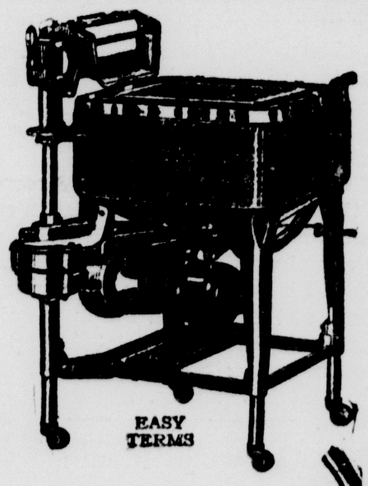
This Test has written washer history



EASY TERMS

It has been made by thousands and thousands of women. What they found amazed them.

They didn't realize there could be such a difference between washers.

Less than 600 days after this discovery was first made, the Maytag Gyrafoam Washer leaped into undisputed world leadership. There it stands today—unchallenged.

This is the test: wash with the Maytag—then do the same with any or all other washers. After that no doubt will remain as to which is the washer for you. The Maytag will be brought to your home any day you say. No obligation. Phone without delay.

Maytag Gyrafoam Washer
WITH CAST ALUMINUM TUB

9 Outstanding Maytag Features

1—Washes faster. The Gyrafoam Principle creates a more highly energized, turbulent and continuously effective water action. No idle water.

2—Washes cleaner. The Gyrafoam Principle mixes the soap evenly through the water, and forces the super-cleansing, soapier washing solution through the meshes of the clothes. No idle suds.

6—Easily adjusted to your height, and height of tubs.

The Thrift Decalog

Thrift Week should not be allowed to pass from memory without holding fast to this admirable set of thrift commandments given out by the National Thrift committee. It is worth learning by heart:

1—Work and earn.
2—Make a budget.
3—Record expenditures.
4—Carry life insurance.
5—Have a bank account.
6—Own your own home.
7—Make a will.
8—Pay bills promptly.
9—Invest in safe securities.
10—Share with others.

Some of these, perhaps, may be ignored by persons who are naturally thrifty and strong-minded. Anyone who instinctively weighs the merit of every purchase and saves his small change in preference to spending it may not need a formal budget or a detailed record of expenditures. It is even possible to imagine men so careful of the future that they will provide adequately for their families, against the chance of their own death, without life insurance policies.

But such providential strong-mindedness is rare. Nearly all of us, in order to get ahead and make the future secure for ourselves and those whose fortunes are bound up with ours, have to systematize the thing, establish more or less automatic machinery for it and place ourselves in positions where we are normally or legally bound to make definite, regular savings and investments.

Traffic in Pistols

Governor Silzer, of New Jersey, is trying to obtain passage of a bill in the state legislature drastically regulating the manufacture and sale of firearms.

Speaking of the pending measure, Police Commissioner Enwright, of New York city, says:

"Governor Silzer will do a great service not only to the state of New Jersey but to the state of New York and the country at large if he succeeds in this matter. New Jersey has been for years a market where desperate criminals operating in this city have obtained their pistols. Thousands of them have admitted they obtained their guns across the Hudson river."

A similar situation has existed in every other state which has honestly tried to disarm its own criminals. Always they have obtained them from other states less scrupulous about regulating firearms.

Clearly, the evil can never be corrected until there is uniform state legislation on the subject. And such legislation to be made fully effective will have to be supplemented by federal legislation along some such lines as those of the Copeland bill in the United States senate, to check the interstate traffic in firearms, especially the shipment of pistols by mail order houses.

Guns and Planes

President Coolidge sets his foot down firmly against the proposal to raise the elevation of guns of a lot of American battleships and thus increase their effective range. He says he takes this position in order to avoid doing anything to renew naval rivalry.

That may be just as well, in spite of jingo demands from many quarters for strengthening the American navy regardless of expense and diplomatic considerations. What statesmen in Great Britain or Japan may say about the technical right of this country in the matter may not be of great importance, but it is important to prevent, if possible, a general naval race like that of former years.

Besides, in the opinion of many good judges, naval guns are not going to cut much figure in future warfare. It may be no accident that, along with the announcement of the president's position on battleship guns, there appeared a statement from Washington that this country is now prepared to turn out war planes in larger numbers than any other country. If there is to be any more armament rivalry, it will probably be in the air.

Does war pay? Well, having won the German war at a cost of upwards $50,000,000,000, the United States is going to get $25,000,000 a year from Germany for several years.

Every time Italy feels like suppressing Dictator Mussolini he roars so tremendously that Italy forgets her grievances and applauds him for roaring.

To an honest man there are few pleasures so great as paying an honest debt.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE NITROGEN OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Atmospheric nitrogen fixation is the solution of the problem of supplying the universal demand for nitrogen which is so essential as the mainstay of the world's food supply and as a basic material for explosives. Germany now has a commanding lead in production, but in the next decade the United States will make great progress in the new industry. Also there will be important reductions in cost.

Such are some of the conclusions reached by Dr. J. M. Braham, of the United States fixed nitrogen laboratory, as a result of a survey of developments in the nitrogen problem which he made for the American Chemical society. All the leading nations have organized intensive research in this field, which has undergone an enormous expansion since the outbreak of the World war.

"The problem of meeting the rapidly increasing demand for nitrogen in combined form is now engaging the attention of all the important and progressive countries," says a statement, based on Dr. Braham's report, which has just been made public by the chemical society.

"The reason for this is that nitrogen is not only the heart of explosives, and hence of prime military importance, but it is also the key element in the fertilization of crops and consequently of utmost importance in meeting the food requirements of the world.

"A consideration of the principal sources of combined nitrogen suitable for both agricultural and military uses—namely, ammonia from coke and gas manufacture, Chilean nitrates and the products of atmospheric nitrogen fixation—leads to the conclusion that the latter must be largely relied upon to meet the constantly growing demands. While this method of supplying fixed nitrogen may not be the ultimate solution of the nitrogen problem it will in all probability be the main contributor of fixed nitrogen for several decades."

FIXATION NOT TWENTY YEARS OLD

This general conclusion, it is stated, has been reached by workers in this field both in the United States and abroad, and as a consequence nitrogen fixation processes are now and have been for several years the subject of intensive study and development in many countries, notably in Germany, France, Italy, England, Norway, Japan and the United States. The outstanding accomplishments in the nitrogen problem as in the nitrogen fixation processes and in the new materials which are being made available to agriculture by those processes.

It was less than 20 years ago when nitrogen fixation was first made possible on a commercial scale, yet at the present time air fixation processes produce almost half a million metric tons of nitrogen every year. This quantity is the equivalent in nitrogen of about 3,300,000 tons of Chilean nitrates and is nearly half of the world's output of inorganic nitrogen.

The part nitrogen fixation has played from 1913 to 1922 in meeting the world's nitrogen needs is striking, says the report. It is seen that in 1922 Germany produced about 75 per cent of the total nitrogen fixed, and met the greater part of her nitrogen requirements in that manner. The fixation in this country, on the other hand, was very small. The situation at present is essentially the same as in 1922.

In the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen there are three processes now in operation on a large scale. They are commonly known as the arc, the cyanamide and the direct synthetic ammonia processes. A fourth process is now in operation on a small scale in this country, producing sodium cyanide and hydrocyanic acid. Although ammonia can be produced readily from cyanide it does not at this time appear probable that this process will be able to compete with the direct synthetic ammonia process in the manufacture of ammonia.

By the arc process nitrogen becomes chemically combined with oxygen by passing air through an electric arc. It was put into operation in Norway in 1905, and was the first air fixation process to be developed commercially. The present annual rate of fixation by this process is stated at about 36,000 metric tons of nitrogen, and while there are arc process plants in six different countries, over 95 per cent of the total is produced in the two plants in Norway.

THE CYANAMIDE PROCESS

In the cyanamide process nitrogen is fixed by combination with finely powdered calcium carbide at relatively high temperature. It was developed in Germany shortly after the arc process was put into operation in Norway. It requires less than one-fourth the electric power of the arc process per ton of nitrogen fixed, and hence it has been more widely employed.

In 1913 there were cyanamide plants in operation in nine different countries, with a combined capacity of approximately 34,000 metric tons of nitrogen. Owing to the great demand for nitrogen during the war there was a tremendous increase in the production of cyanamide, and by 1918 there were in operation or under construction 36 plants, with an aggregate capacity of nearly 325,000 tons of nitrogen.

One of the plants under construction was the United States nitrate plant No. 2, at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, with a capacity of 40,000 tons of nitrogen per year, making it the largest cyanamide plant in the world. A number of the war-time cyanamide plants have been scrapped, and other have remained idle, as in the case of the one at Muscle Shoals. The present annual rate of fixation by this process is about 140,000 metric tons. This is a little more than four times the production for 1913, but represents less than half the capacity of existing plants.

"The outstanding developments in nitrogen fixation at present," says the announcement relative to Dr. Braham's survey, "are in the synthetic ammonia process, and it is in this direction that a reduction in the cost of fixed nitrogen can be confidently expected. This process, which consists in forming ammonia directly from the elements under conditions of high pressure and relatively high temperature in the presence of a catalyst, was first operated on a commercial scale in 1913 in Germany.

"The urgent need for nitrogen by Germany during the World war led to the construction of two huge fixation plants, one at Oppau, with a capacity of 100,000 metric tons of nitrogen per year, and one at Morseburg, with a 200,000-ton capacity. The annual out put of these two plants is nearly equivalent in nitrogen to that produced in Chile at the present time."

This process was not used on a commercial scale outside of Germany during the war, but experiments were begun in a number of other countries toward the close of the war period. Three synthetic ammonia plants are now in operation in the United States and 11 in other countries, with a combined capacity of about 320,000 tons. Several plants are under construction.

"It appears probable," says the report, "that ammonia can be produced in this country in a large installation for five to six cents per pound. This is much below the present market level for by-product ammonia."

DINNER STORIES

The boy hurried home to his father with an announcement:

"Me and Poe Peck had a fight today."

The father nodded gravely.

"Mr. Peck had already called to see me about it."

The little boy's face brightened.

"Gee, pop! I hope you made out as well's I did!"

Two clubmen were discussing the relative merits of their wives, when one of them remarked:

"My wife looks after me. I can assure you. Why, she takes off my boots for me in the evening."

"Ah! When you come home from the club?" suggested the other.

"No—when I want to go there."

"First time you ever milked a cow, eh?" asked uncle one morning. "Well, you do it 100 per cent better than most city folks do."

"It seems to come natural, somehow," explained the city youth. "I have had a good deal of practice with a fountain pen."

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By DAVID M. CHURCH.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Let all golfers gather round and listen to this message of joy.

An English scientist has invented a golf ball that will neither slice nor hook, no matter what cut is given it by the driver.

This achievement is the result of a long series of experiments, which have shown that there is a startling difference between the smooth ball and the deeply dimpled ball. The smooth ball is inclined to slice, while the dimpled ball is inclined to pull.

This contrast led to the inference by the scientist that a ball with a particular depth of dimple would neither slice nor pull. A ball with a very shallow dimple was manufactured, and this has been found to fly straight, no matter what spin is given it by the driver.

Let no golfer imagine, however, that his troubles are over, for there is a fly in the ointment. This new ball, which always takes the straight road, has a drawback that is nearly fatal—it has a tendency erthward. It will not soar; it has long since been discovered that the length of a drive depends a great deal on the soaring tendencies of the well-hit ball.

Professionals, however, state that the non-slicing, non-hooking ball, may be the best ball for some golfers. If the ground is hard and fast it may get a run and travel nearly as far as the ball that soars.

It is probable that the future golfer will eventually play three different balls—one which he will use when he finds himself hooking, one which he is slicing and one which will go straight, but will not soar.

This new invention has not yet been marketed.

British golf authorities are unmoved by the news from the United States that the United States Golf association intends to introduce a ball differing in size and weight from the present standard.

The present official ball is 1.62 ounces in weight, with a diameter of 1.62 inches. It is understood that the United States Golf association purposes to endorse a ball 1.68 inches in diameter and slightly lower in weight.

The British golf authorities held a secret session and considered this matter, but refused to fall in line with the United States Golf association. Evidently, they are a little peeved because, they state, they were not consulted by the United States Golf association on the matter, and their advice was not asked. They fear that the change will make a considerable difference in international play, and will hamper international tournaments and matches. However, since there are far more American golfers who come to England to compete than there are English golfers who go to the United States, the British golf authorities are convinced that any hardship will bear chiefly on the Americans.

English golf ball manufacturers are somewhat aroused over the proposed change, however, for it would necessitate their manufacturing two entirely different balls—one for use in the United States and one for use in the England. Inasmuch as nearly a million dollars' worth of golf balls are exported from England to the United States each year, any change in the size would mean an increase in the cost of English golf balls in the United States.

English golfers are having a hard winter. Rain has fallen in such quantities that many of the best courses in the vicinity of London have been closed while others are so heavy that there is but little satisfaction in playing them. Strangely enough, one of the best winter courses in London has recently been given over to the public. This is the Prince's club, at Mitcham, formerly an exclusive club enjoyed by England's premier statesman. Sir Harry Mallaby Dealy came into possession of the club and has made it into a public course. Its subsurface is sponge-like, and rain disappears through the turf almost as quickly as it falls; and one is amazed to find that his ball still gets a run on this course when other courses in the vicinity are closed or barely playable.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 22.—We went out to "Tall Timbers," Mike's country place, named appropriately by his friend Irvin Cobb, this morning. And I had a romp with my namesake, a Chesapeake hunting dog. His running mate is named Cobb. But they call him "Ivory."

Fine animals, but Ajax has won my heart. He is a five-year-old Belgian police dog who stays at the Houston home. Ajax tried to dispute the right of way with an automobile two months ago and has a limp, but it has not stilled his joyous spirit.

Every once in a while, for no reason at all, Ajax begins a circle of neighboring estates barking as though he had treed a panther. It is a deep throated ferocious bark, but it only means that Ajax wants to tell the world he is still alive and kicking.

It is a treat to see Ajax at play with a two months old water spaniel puppy. The puppy cuffs him around, nips at his ears and otherwise bullies him, but Ajax permits him like the gentleman he is. Now and then he picks the puppy up tenderly and shakes him.

Then he backs away, eyes him quizzically as much as to say: "Take that, you little fat rascal, and don't get fresh with your elders." Upon rare occasions Ajax is permitted to drowze in front of the open hearth, but when his master says quietly, "You've been here long enough!" Ajax walks out obediently but crestfallen.

During one sleepless night I was impressed more than ever with the fidelity of the dog by a habit of Ajax's. We were on a sleeping porch. Three times Ajax came quietly into the room, went to his master's bed and in the moonlight I could see him departing with a slowly wagging tail as though to say, "All's well!"

As I write Ajax is stretched alongside my chair. Now and then there is a faint growl and a twitching of his body—the dream of the chase. How devoted our dogs are. How tragic it is to lose them!

There is a famous dog in Houston of 25 years ago. He was a fox terrier named Sport. He was the member of a hunting expedition and after the hunt his picture appeared on first pages all over the country. The hunters treed a panther, but his master was a young boy who had been taken along. Sport sensed danger, and while cowboys were winding up their lariats to rope the varmint Sport dashed up the tree to a limb below—made a jump for the panther's belly and they fell to the ravine, the panther's sharp claws tearing him to shreds. Sport was miraculously saved by a great surgeon and lived to old age in the comfort that was his due.

Tonight we are going down to Eagle Lake in Louisiana to shoot ducks. That is other members of the party are to do the shooting. I know as little about hunting as a flea does about geometry. I once shot a rabbit and saw it crawl away in the brush mortally wounded to die. The thought of it still gives me a twinge. Herein, I suppose, I am a real tenderfoot.

Bassett Blakely phoned this afternoon to ask me to join him at the Houston club. I asked him what the program was. "Just a crowd down here," he said, "and we'll sit around, talk big and lie." I will be much more accomplished at this than at hunting.

Houston has a very superior traffic system. Not only do they flash lights at street corners for the motorists, but they ring bells to warn pedestrians. Most of our cities do not give pedestrians a thought—except to furnish ambulances.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

TROTZKY'S GOODBYE?

If reports are accurate Trotzky has fallen from power. He is said to acquiesce meekly in the decision of his political enemies, stripping him of his dignites as head of the Russan army.

If that's true there s something the matter with Trotzky's mental fighting apparatus. He had his chance when he had the Red army under his orders and Lenin, dying, left the whole of Russia to any man able to seize the power.

Trotzky seems to lack the power of a Danton, Robespierre or Marat. Those men knew how to fight for what they thought was theirs, and how to die cheerfully.

HE SOLD HIS POTATOES

Robert Reidt, who lives on Long Island, and is a Seventh Day Adventist, has sold his winter potatoes, his household furniture and all his property. He believes that the world is to end on February 6.

Mrs. Rowen, prophet, fixed that date. About February 7 Mr. Reidt will wish he had his winter potatoes back.

What this eccentric gentleman does, as an individual, was done formerly on a big scale. At the beginning of the year 1000 many got rid of their property, put on white robes and walked to the top of some hill, ready to be taken up to heaven.

You can imagine how they felt when they marched down again, and found others occupying their houses.

THE SUN'S RADIUM

Many experiments and observations will be made on Saturday when the sun light is shut out for a little while. One group of scientists will look for coronium, a new element, existing in the sun's corona. The outer rim of the corona will be visible, and give the physicists a good change.

The corona is visible only during an eclipse.

Other scientists will study the earth's magnetic currents, as effected by the eclipse. Every ship's captain will notice that the eclipse has an effect on the compass. Science doesn't know why.

Possibly some scientist will get from the eclipse the most important information of all, which has to do with the amount of radium in the sun.

The sun's length of life and the lives of this and other planets depend on the sun's radio-active force. If the sun were merely burning up, ah was once supposed, the life of human beings here might be cut down to a few million years, whereas it will probably go on for several hundred million years, aided by radium energy in the sun.

THE GUNS STAY DOWN

It seems finally decided that the guns of our battleships must not be elevated. To elevate them would increase their range, making them more valuable in war. But Europe doesn't want us to be too strong.

Experts say our guns, in range, are inferior to British guns, and we have the legal right to change that. But we yield to European pressure.

That's part of past history.

Now the head of the navy might give the country information on a statement published by English papers. The British have arranged their ships so that they can take in water ballast on one side or the other, and thus by making the ship tip over, raise the guns to the desired elevation and increase their range without actually changing the mechanical adjustment of the guns.

That seems to be highly ingenious, but, of course, we can't do it in this country, because probably somebody in Europe would object.

Judge Runyon, of the federal court, says he would like to have some of the real big bootleggers punished instead of the little men that are constantly brought into court. Too much time, he thinks, is wasted on minor offenders.

He is right, but punishing big men is not the usual United States plan. In this country if you get caught it seems more dangerous to steal an overcoat than it does to steal a government oil reserve.

A great surety company advertises $100,000 reward for the return of a million dollars' worth of bonds stolen. It says it will pay 10 per cent of the value of an bond stolen, whether it is obliged to make good insurance on such bond.

That's interesting news to bond bandits and hold-up men. It stabilizes their industry. It guarantees them $100,000 of good, safe cash on a million dollar bond robbery. But what about the laws regarding compounding felony.

In connection with that Paris agreement, giving us a little of the reparations money to pay for our foolishness in keeping soldiers in Germany after the war, the United States is sewed up and tied up and mixed up more or less in the whole European complications.

You are assured by statesmen that negotiated the business, in violation of the people's will expressed twice at the polls, that we are not legally bound, only morally bound.

"There are certain moral obligations, perhaps." That's what they tell you. And moral obligations will make an excellent peg on which to hang Europe's refusal to pay the billions she owes us later.

Make a memorandum of that.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Rothwell Guest At W. C. T. U. Meeting In M. E. Church Here

At the Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal parlors, Mrs. Kittie Rothwell, of East Palestine, a guest, gave a report on the national convention held in Chicago. Mrs. Rothwell is county president. The following program was featured:

Song—"Coronation."
Responsive reading—146th Psalm.
Song—"Unfurl the Temperance Banner. The flag was saluted.
Reading—18th Amendment.
Responsive reading—Facts relating to the Volstead Law.
Reading—"T. M. T. Bomb" by Richard P. Hobson—Mrs. M. J. Moore.
Responsive reading—"Value of Prohibition."
Reading—"Lincoln's Appeal for Law"—Mrs. Collins.
Thank offering.
Song—"Work for Enforcement.
Responsive reading—Written by Roy A. Hays.
Song—"America."

Mrs. Harold Benty Surprised.

Surprising Mrs. Harold Benty, a recent bride, who will be remembered as Miss Pansy Watson, a group of friends met at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Watson of Seventh street, where an evening of music and games was enjoyed. The guests included members of the Sunday school class taught by Miss Sara Hargreaves. A dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Benty, assisted by her sister, Miss Hannah Watson, and Miss Helen Pyles. Covers were arranged for Misses Sara Hargreaves, Edna Vondran, Maud Gardner, Audrey Bowery, Helen Ankrim, Helen Pyles, Bernice Williams, Mildred Walker, Dorothy Dawson, Hannah Watson, Mrs. Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Harold Benty.

The honor guest was presented with salad forks.

Miss Jean Hassel Hostess

In her home on Lisbon street Tuesday evening, Miss Jean Hassel delightfully entertained the members of the Busy Half Dozen club. The social hours were spent with games, dancing, radio and candy making. A four-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother. Covers were arranged for Misses Geraldine Manor, Margaret Williams, Threcea King, Mary Ester Smith, Ruth Anthony and Jean Hassel.

Miss Margaret Anthony was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks in the home of Miss Ruth Anthony of West Ninth street.

Danceland Academy Party

A series of Saturday evening dancing parties will be held in Danceland Academy, Fifth street, under the direction of William Curran and his dancing Academy. Beginning with January 24, through the courtesy of the Elks' dance committee, Billy Moore and his West Virginians will have charge of the musical program. Dancing will continue from 8 until 11:55. Billy Moore was one of the original Famous Players. They will play Friday evening for the Elks' club.

There will be no dance at Danceland Monday evening, due to the fact that the original Everett Merrill orchestra has been booked to play in the Olympic theatre at Steubenville, O., next week.

Country Club Bridge Party.

Seven tables of bridge were in progress at the weekly card party given in the East Liverpool Country club yesterday afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Bough and Mrs. J. C. Kelly. Candy was served during the social hours. The trophy for the highest score was awarded Mrs. Herbert A. Smith.

Next Wednesday's hostesses will be Mrs. Homer J. Taylor and Mrs. F. B. Lawrence.

Friday evening the semi-monthly card party will be held, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Betz and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Rinehart on the committee.

Birthday Anniversary Observed.

Celebrating the seventh birthday anniversary of little Miss Hilda Barnhouse of Bradshaw avenue, a number of little folks delightfully surprised her Wednesday evening. The social hours were spent with juvenile games and music, after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Charles Barnhouse, assisted by Mrs. R. D. Perrin. Covers were arranged for Vivian Kinsey, Grace Barnhouse, Jean Bradfield, Virginia Derrington, Dorothy Sayre, Jean Shaw, Dorothy Baxter, June Heddleston, Hilda Barnhouse, George Althers, Herman Kinsey, Richard Hall, Dana Laughlin, John Bradfield and Bernard Barnhouse. A large birthday cake with lighted candles formed the center piece for the table.

The honor guest received numerous presents.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The forty-eighth anniversary of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, was observed yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. Fourteen of the charter members of the society are living. Two of them, Mrs. Flora Pomeroy and Mrs. John W. Hall, were present at the meeting.

Following the roll call from 1877, Dr. D. W. MacLeod made an address. At his suggestion a committee will be appointed to arrange for observance of the fiftieth anniversary.

Mrs. John Young read a paper on China, which had been prepared by Mrs. Martha Connell. Dr. MacLeod urged interest in the foreign element and suggested financial aid for the Italian mission at Steubenville.

The election of officers, which was to have taken place yesterday, was postponed until the February meeting.

Club Meeting Postponed.

On account of the death of Newton Birch of Prospect street, the meeting of the Revelliers' club, which was to have been held in the home of Mrs. Carl Irvin of St. Clair avenue tonight, has been indefinitely postponed.

Jolly Fellows' Club Dance.

Fox trot—Prince of Wales.
Fox trot—Us Girls Must Have Fun.
Two step—Me and My Boy Friend.
Fox trot—Too Tired.
Fox trot—Blue Eyed Sally.
Waltz—West of the Great Divide.
Fox trot—My Best Girl.
Fox trot—Take Me.
Fox trot—Mandy and Me.
Two step—Lots O'Mamma.
Fox trot—Words.
Fox trot—Railroad Man.
Fox trot—How Do You Do.
Two step—Why Don't You Tell Me.
Fox trot—Copenhagen.
Fox trot—Noodle Soup Blues.

D. of A. Anniversary Meeting.

Pride of Valley Council No. 4, Daughters of America, will observe its thirty-third anniversary Monday evening. Following a short business session, a program arranged by Mrs. Albert Dawson, Mrs. Louise Hetzel and Edward Hargreaves will be given. Refreshments will be served.

P. H. C. Officers Installed.

The following officers were installed last evening at a meeting of Stratton Circle No. 40, Protected Home Circle, which was held in the Trades and Labor council hall, Washington street: past president, Lyda Smith; president, Katheryn Prescott; vice president, Arnold Flesch; treasurer, George McWilhelm; accountant, Elmer Carey; secretary, Wade S. Glass; guardian, Mary Goppert; chaplain, Mary Logan; guide, Thomas Neilson; companion, Maud Flesch; sentinel, Clell Kennedy; watchman, Stephan Johannes; pianist, Leon Hickman; trustees, Arnold Flesch, Mary Goppert and Margaret Smith.

During the business session, it was decided to hold a euchre party next Wednesday evening. The public will be invited.

Informal social hours followed the business session, during which refreshments were served.

K. of C. Card Party

Ladies of the Knights of Columbus will entertain tonight with a euchre, five hundred and bridge party in the K. of C. lodgerooms and parlors. Caterer Hoadley Morrow will serve the luncheon.

The committee of hostesses includes Mesdames S. J. Hamilton, Henry Joseph and Frank G. Jones. Their aides are: Mesdames Andrew Hester, William Hardie, George H. A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Get a bottle of "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair appears after this delightful, refreshing dressing.

CHANGE SOUGHT IN LIQUOR LAWS

Woman Legislator Wants Penalties Made More Stringent.

More stringent enforcement of prohibition laws would be provided under a bill introduced by Dr. Harriet B. Jones of Marshall county in the house of delegates yesterday. Her bill would add several sections to the present law, one of them providing that it shall be illegal to suspend, defer or remit the sentence imposed for violation of prohibition laws, while another makes a second offense a felony with a sentence of from one to five years as the penalty. Another section defines intoxication and fixes penalties for first and second offenses, with a mandatory jail sentence of from 10 to 30 days in cases of second offenses. Her bill would also require a charge of venue for a prohibition officer on charges of offenses against the person or property of any person he arrested for violation of prohibition laws, if he or his attorney files an affidavit that a fair trial cannot be obtained in the court in which the charge is brought.

Another bill introduced by Dr. Jones would submit to the people a home rule amendment to the constitution which, among other things, would permit cities to adopt or amend their own charters without going to the legislature, as is now required. The procedure set out in the proposed amendment would call for election of a charter commission, by vote of two-thirds of a city's legislative body, on petition of 10 per cent of the qualified voters. It would also require the commission's charter to be submitted to a vote of the people within a year, and for adoption of the charter by a majority vote.

Lasy Way to Break Severest Cough

No matter how long you have had a persistent, weakening cough—no matter how many remedies you have tried without success—you can usually get relief instantly, and often relieve the entire cough condition in 24 hours, by a very simple method.

The method is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief seems almost magical, and the quickness with which the whole cough condition disappears is often simply amazing. There is nothing better for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, bronchialasthma, hoarseness, and alsosevery throat irritation. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. ROBBER SUSPECT HELD TO COURT

George Lewis, negro, one of two men alleged to have held up the proprietors and robbed the Windsor Provision company butcher shop, was bound over to the Brooke County grand jury under bond of $5,000 last night.

The negro suspect was arraigned before Squire A. B. Collett of Wellsburg, and entered a plea of not guilty. Fifteen witnesses testified at the hearing, most of whom identified Lewis as the man seen near the scene of the hold-up.

Amos Craighead, negro, who was arrested with Lewis in Follansbee, is being held until information is obtained that may point to him is an accomplice in the holdup. Lewis' explanation of his whereabouts prior to and following the holdup has been entirely satisfactory, authorities say.

Craighead denied having any connection with the robbeery, asserting that he met Lewis a few days ago. They later went to Morgantown and then to Follansbee he said.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD MEET HERE

ANOTHER MAGIC CARPET

Man of Wealth Mostly Concerned About Overhead Expenses in His Garage.

NEW YORK, Jan. — America must have its luxury and insistently demands its comfort. Yet the man who is willing to spend anywhere from $1,500 to $15,000 for luxury and comfort is at the same time concerned about his "overhead" expense.

Such was the reaction of a lay man after a visit to the National Automobile Show now on here. An automobile "layman" is anybody who has had a minimum of three cars.

While it may sound paradoxical, automobiles are to be cheaper and more expensive than ever this year. But the cost of maintenance, the "overhead," will beradically less than in former years. Cars won't use so much gas, there will be less oil consumption, tires will last longer and the surfacing of cars has been almost revolutionized.

There is a steady and determined trend toward closed cars. In American homes the "We are going to have a closed car next" has become almost a household word, in many homes the final and last word. So the women are going to have their way again, with the aid of the automanufacturers. Prices have been reduced to a point wher it is, in several instances, as cheap to buy a closed car as a "hurricane box."

Never before has there been such regal elegance in the construction and fitting of closed cars. Those on display are a distinct departure from the signficant mournfulness of a hearse, for the sombre black has given way to moreb rilliant colors. Some cars have the luxurious appearance of French enamelled jewel cases.

"Economy of operation" is the big message of the auto show this year. The demonstrator alnogside the most expensive car emphasizes the "cost of upkeep" as though it were a vital point in the sales ragument.

What is of cheering interest to the man of modest means is that he need no longer drive a car which puts him within a few months in the class of the "shabby genteel." The new finishes are impervious to hot and cold water, gasoline, oil and grease. A few defiant demonstrators even pour strong acid on the finish of their cars and ask a less daring competitor to "laugh that off."

Gladstone was in Parliament at twenty-two and at twenty-four was lord of the treasury.

TO RESUME WORK ON RIVER ROAD

Announcement has been made that work will be resumed on the unfinished stretch of the New Cumberland-Weirton road early in the spring. Some of the highway has been impassable at times this winter and last week it was found necessary to cinder the unimproved portion.

Complaints forwarded to the office of the state road commission brought the response that orders would be issued to proceed with the improvement at an early date.

ACTION DEFERRED ON OFFICER HERE

Large number of citizens attended the mass meeting in the high school building Tuesday evening when the question of employing an officer to patrol the city at night was discussed.

Solicitors who have been canvassing the community to secure pledges to meet the salary of an officer made a report and it was decided to take no definite action until an additional canvass was made.

No date was set for another meeting.

Men! Don't Come Home Fagged Out by Hard Work

DOCTORS say that in an enormous number of cases when men come home physically and mentally "all in," nervous and cranky, the real cause is not hard work, but thin, pale, watery blood, deficient in strength-giving iron. Once this iron is restored to the blood it is often astonishing how quickly these men gain new strength, nerve force and endurance.

But be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines and pills made by the action of powerful acids on ordinary mineral iron. Nuxated Iron is a natural organic iron, like the iron in your own blood, and like that in spinach and lentils. Does not injure teeth nor disturb the stomach. So remarkable are the effects of Nuxated Iron that thousands of weak, nervous, fagged out men and women have often increased their strength, energy, and erdurance in only two weeks' time.

Try Nuxated Iron just two weeks. Money back if not delighted. But make certain you get genuine guaranteed Nuxated Iron tablets with the letters N I on every tablet. At all good druggists.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"More Power Won't Hurt Niagara," Dr. Walcott Says; Dr. Wymer Contrasts Governments.

More than twice as much power as now used can be developed from Niagara Falls without spoliation of the scenic effect, according to a statement made by Dr. Charles D. Walcott head of the Smithsonian Institution, in a monograph dealing with the power possibilities and preservation of the great cataract. The monograph was prepared by Dr. Samuel S. Wyer, associate in mineral technology of the National Museum.

"Contrary to popular opinion," says Dr. Walcott, "there is nothing magical about water power. It is worth just what can be gotten out of it in competition with electric power generated from coal, and coal represents only a small part of the total power cost to the public. Every water power development must ultimately answer the question: 'Will or does it pay?' The Canadian side of Niagara Falls—carrying 94 per cent of the water is rapidly, by nature's own means, destroying itself, and mere non-use of the water is not preservation. Two and one-half times more power than is now developed can be developed and still maintain an adequate scenic effect."

Service in Two Countries.

Dr. Wyer devotes one section of his work to a comparison of American and Onterian electric service.

"The Niagara river is more than a mere boundary stream between two friendly nations," he says. "It is the diving line between two radically different methods of rendering electric service to the public. In Ontario the plants are owned privately but regulated by the government."

Dr. Wyer says these "fundamantally distinct" methods have a farreaching effect on the economic structure of the two nations.

"In Ontario," he says, "the governmentally owned system sells electric service to domestic customers at rates considreable below those prevailing in the United States, because governmentally-owned property is exempt from taxation. This means a gain to the electric consumer of about 10 per cent, with, however, a corresponding loss to the taxpayers, as compared with conditions in the United States; the domestic electric rates are below cost and the loss is made up in part by higher rates for power consumers then prevailing in the United States, which places Canadian industry at a disadvantage; part of the cost comes directly out of the Province treasury in the form of contributions and subsidies, and part of the cost has been delayed by not making provision for adequate sinking fund to retire the bonds as they mature, thus placing the burden on a future group of consumers or on the public generally, to be met out of general taxation of the entire province.

"In the United States the privately owned but governmentally controlled systems sell electric service to domestic consumers at rates higher than those prevailing in Ontario because, since the property is taxed, the tax comes from the consumer, and this alone makes a difference of about 10 per cent, over and above the average cost that would prevail if the properties were tax free, as in Ontario. In the United States th eelectric power utilities paid approximately $135,000,000 in local, State and Federal taxes in 1923.

Under Government Regulation.

"Under the scheme of governmental regulation in the United States, the rates correspond substantially to the cost of the service. The domestic consumer's cost per kilowatt hour is more than the industrial consumer's. This, of course means that the domestic rate per kilowatt hour is higher than the industrial, but it also results in giving the United States industrial consumers lower rates than the industrial consumers in Canada, thus giving United States manufacturers an advantage over Canadian manufacturers.

"Under the scheme of governmental regulations in the United States the capital invested is not retired, and frequently bonds are refunded. However, the income received from the public in any normal plant provides for all times maintaining the integrity of the property value. There are no contributions from the public treasury at present, or any obligations that must be met out of the public treasury in the future. That is, the United States governmentally regulated method is based on the principle of pay-as-you-go, without any deferred debt for the future."

Agricultural Expert Develops Improved Strain of Rye Plant

WASHINGTON—A new strain of rye, resistant to three of the worst grain-crop diseases, has been developed by Dr. E. B. Mains, of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, who told the American Phytopathological society of his work.

Some difficulty was experienced in obtaining a resistant strain that would breed true; but, after four years' work, the new variety not only is constant in its breeding but resists leaft rust, steam rust and powdery mildew, said D. Mains.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate through skin and flesh straight down to the ligaments and tendons of the joints—right where the agony starts—Then blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean that you can rub it on often and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflammed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that Joint-Ease is mostly dispensed, and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed. Jesse D. Holloway and Mathews Medicine Store sells lots of it.

'MEET THE WIFE' HERE TONIGHT

Farce Comedy Will be Presented at Ceramic Theatre.

Speaking of the farce comedy which comes to the Ceramic theatre tonight, the dramatic critic of the Portsmouth (O.) Sun, says:

"'Meet the Wife' is an invitation that never gave us much of a desire to step forward with the glad hand outstreached until last night when the introduction brought us into the presence of Augusta Boylston as "the Wife" in the comedy that delighted an enthusiastic audience at the high school auditorium.

"'Meet the Wife' is screamingly funny as to lines and situations, and Augusta Boylston plays the part of Gertrude Lennox with such appreciation of the various shade of humor that she adds immeasurably to what the author already had achieved. Gertrude Lennox was one of those hysterical women who chase celebrities, run women's clubs, boss their husbands and make their families wretched. As her daughter expressed it: 'She can choke you to death with her two hands and make you believe it is hurting her worse than it is you.' Gertrude's first husband escaped from her clutches during the San Francisco earthquake and, believing him dead, she married again. Then one eventful day, she discovered that her latest celebrity, Philip Lord, was her first husband—and the fun began.

"Miss Boylston's voice can do all kinds of tricks, from shrill hysteric shrieks to deep, sonorous notes and it is her voice that emphasizes the comedy. She is physically well built for the part, a stunning blond, wearing most gorgeous clothes; the typical successful club woman.

Donald Campbell, as Harvey Lennox, husband No. 2, is particularly good in his humorous resignation to a situation that he is hoping an earthquake may better. Clay Cody played the asinine Victor Staunton, an affected artist, with a deal of cleverness and Messenger Bellis played the rather thankless part of Husband No. 1, acceptably. Marvin Oreck seemed to us to be rather off the mark in his interpretation of the New York reporter. He talked far too loud and tried to act too young and guileless. Due to the illness of Kathryn Mulholland, cast as Doris Bellamy, the daughter of Mrs. Lennox and Husband No. 1, the part was played last night by the young woman who usually plays the part of maid and whose name did not appear on the program. Albert Petrost was an adequate butler and a comment on the prettiness of the maid elicited from the manager the information that she is Allys Dwyer, a new member of the cast who is to play the part of Doris Bellamy.

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

BUS LAW FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

County Auditor Hamilton Receives Check for $630.19.

The public utilities commission of Ohio has sent its check for $630.19 to County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, this being the first return to this county of the distribution of funds collected under the recently enacted motor bus and motor truck law.

Only six communities and the county shared in this distribution, and the smallest credit, which is 11 cents, goes to the credit of Washingtonville.

The distribution follows: Columbiana county, $240.55; Salem, $27.97; East Palestine, $250.32; Washingtonville, 11 cents; Columbiana, $14.38; Lisbon, $8.75; East Liverpool, $88.15.

These amounts have been credited to the different municipalities, and when the money is received by them, the amounts will be credited to the same account as the automobile license money.

Throughout the county applications are being made by truck owners for a permit for 1925 under this law. Applications are to be had in Lisbon, and they are forwarded to the public utilities commission from Lisbon.

Attorneys Assigned By Judge Moore to Defend Prisoners

Attorney George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, has been appointed by Judge James G. Moore to defend Harmon Cook, alias Homer Doyle, of Salem, but who claims he hails from Pittsburgh, Pa., and who was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of uttering and publishing a false and altered check. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty, and when he advised the court he was without funds the court then appointed counsel.

Attorneys Homer H. Hickling, of Salem, and F. W. Andrews, of Alliance, have been retained to defend Baraschiva Balan, a woman, Charles Balan and Sam Hoza, charged with resisting an officer in the performance of his duty.

It is likely that some of those who have entered pleas of not guilty, following their arraignment Wednesday, will have their "day in court" next week.

COUNTY OFFICES BEING REPAIRED

Renovating of the office of Probate Judge Lodge Riddle will be finished this week, and it will be ready for occupancy Monday next. Immediately following, the office of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk will be cleaned and improved.

The county commissioners will also make a change in their office on the main floor of the court house, and a large partition will be built in this room so that the commissioners can have private conferences with delegations when the latter present themselves.

Where large delegations request hearings on public road improvements these sessions will be held in either No. 1 or No. 2 court room, as has been the custom in the past.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Russell McDonald, of Columbiana, but a former resident of East Fairfied, and Miss Lora Allman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Allman, of Middleton. They are to be married by the Rev. Weist, of Columbiana.

A marriage license has been issued to Raymon D. Knopp, a farmer of Washingtonville, and Miss Thelma K. Bossert, a stenographer, also residing at Washingtonville. The couple were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church by the Rev. John Cameron.

Granted Right of Way.

DIVORCE ACTION FILED BY WOMAN

Claiming that her husband left his family in their home without fuel or food is a part of her plea for a divorce contained in the petition filed in common pleas court by Evelyn Dole, of Salem, against her husband, Lorenzo Dole, said to be residing at 257 East One Hundred and Eighteenth street, Cleveland.

The couple were married April 16, 1912. Mrs. Dole also recites that her husband has been arrested several times for non-support, and that he has at times called her vile names and also threatened to kill her.

Motion Overruled.

A motion filed by the plaintiff in the case of Edgar G. Martin, as trustee, against E. F. Cunningham, wherein judgment for the plaintiff was asked, has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore. Exceptions were filed by counsel for the plaintiff. The action was filed July 19, 1923, for the purpose of recovering a claim of $1,250.

Case Settled.

The case of Harry Reisling against the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company for $80 claimed due for work and labor, which was filed recently in common pleas court has been settled by agreement, and the action dismissed on the motion of the defendant at his costs.

Property Transfers.

The following real estate transfers have been recorded.

CONSTIPATION means DISEASE

These young rascals when they are well are the greatest institutions on earth. But when that insidious lurking monster—Constipation—ties up their bowels, then the world is dark. Coated tongue, loss of appetite, wakefulness, bad breath, pimples, weakness, dull mind are only a few indications that you are going to have a mighty sick boy if you do not see that his clogged bowels are opened up at once.

Dr. Caldwell's
SYRUP PEPSIN
The Family Laxative

—relieves constipation. It appeals to the manly little fellow, Father, mother, sister and baby like it too. And for 30 years it has pointed the way to health along Nature's road for all of them. A pleasant tasting combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics. 10,000,000 bottles used annually throughout the country prove its effectiveness.

As Easy To Take As Grandma's Jam

One dose is enough to remove the obstruction, and after that diminishing doses will allow Nature to again assert herself and resume her proper functions. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

Here's the Way to Heal Rupture

A Marvelous Self-Home Treatment That Anyone Can Use on Any Rupture, Large or Small

Costs Nothing to Try

Ruptured people all over the country are amazed at the almost miraculous results of a simple method for rupture that is being sent free to all who write for it. This remarkable Rupture System is one of the greatest blessings ever offered to ruptured men, women and children. It is being pronounced the most successful method ever discovered, and makes the use of trusses or supports unnecessary.

No matter how bad the rupture, how long you have had it, or how hard to hold; no matter how many kinds of trusses you have worn, let nothing prevent you from getting this FREE TREATMENT. Whether you think you are past help or have a rupture as large as your fists, this marvelous system will so control it and keep it up inside as to surprise you with its magic influence. It will so help you restore the parts where the rupture comes through that soon you will be as free to work at any occupation as though you had never been ruptured.

You can have a free trial of this wonderful strengthening preparation by merely sending your name and address to W. A. COLLINGS, Inc., 368B Collings Building, Watertown, N. Y. Send no money. The trial is free. Write now—today. It may save the wearing of a truss the rest of your life.

600,000 Joneses Are Asked to Buy Jones Mine Stock

Reno Promoter Writes to Them, and Already Has Received 250,000 Answers.

RENO, Nev.—"What's in a name?" That is what Harry Lee Jones, Reno mining man, is attempting to discover. He has organized a mining company, which carries his name and has for its stockholders only people by the name of Jones.

Many people scoff at the scheme and recall, disgustedly, Conan Doyle's story of "The Red-Headed League;" but that does not bother Harry Lee Jones. He has sent out a circular letter proclaiming the merits of his company to some 600,000 Joneses in the United States and has received answers from 250,000 of them.

The correspondence ensuing has brought to light the statements that the captain of the Mayflower was named Jones and that it was he who signed the first treaty ever made between the Indians and the Pilgrims. Many are related to the great naval officer, John Paul Jones; there is the son of the famous "Golden Rule" Jones, once Mayor of Detroit. Mother Jones, who has been interested in "mining" for some time; Bob Jones, the evangelist; Daniel Fisk Jones, well known Boston surgeon; Admiral H. P. Jones; and Senator A. A. Jones, of Arizona.

Many professors are interested, namely, Prof. C. A. Jones, of Massachusetts; Prof. J. Claude Jones, Nevada geologist; Prof. C. L. Jones, of the University of Wisconsin. A wealthy widow in Los Angeles and another in Oakland, are only two of the 64,000 members of the Jones family in California.

Part of the plan of Harry Lee Jones is the giving of 10 per cent of the net earnings to charity. Jones does not say whether the institutions thus endowed will have to be connected with the Jones family.

EAST END MEETING HERE WELL ATTENDED

Rev. Harry Kaye Speaks to Large Audience Last Night.

His sermon subject was "The Devil and Some People in East Liverpool," his text being found in the book of John 8:21-59.

A delegation consisting of the Girls' Intermediate class, attended. This evening a delegation from the Wellsville Church of Christ will attend in a body.

Rev. Kaye's sermon subject for this evening's service will be "The Revelation of Jesus."

In his sermon last night he spoke in part as follows:

"I believe there is a Devil, friends, and I believe I can produce facts that will prove my statement. The devil fell from heaven. At one time he was an angel of light. Lucifer got such an exalted opinion of himself that he raised such an amount of trouble that he was kicked out of heaven.

"God created you and I and is going to run his own business. When man commits a sin God calls him a sinner. Just because Lucifer couldn't mind his own business he was kicked out of heaven, and he thought he had a grievance when he had none whatsoever.

"There is a time coming when every one of us is going to give an account. In the first place the devil is a deceiver. He is tempting people to do wrong. After you fall you are chained down, there is one, only one, that can break those chains, that's the blessed Christ.

"God says that fellow was a murderer from the beginning of his life, some of these people that are lower, following where he may lead, is lower than he is. There are men and women going through this world, hanging on to their petty sins. I am preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ and not serving the devil. The devil is a person and is to be found in a lot of folks. There are a lot of two legged devils, that do not have horns, but are devils just the same. The devil sticks around for a long time, he puts more people in prison than any one, or anything else ever can do. The devil knows Jesus and doesn't want anything to do with him. When any church starts a revival in a community the old devil gets his imps out in line. He goes out and makes a great show and then tries to blame it on the church. I want to say to you at this time that the old devil works on the imagination, and if he can get you to imagine that you are going to be saved, and have never accepted Christ, don't blame God, blame the devil. The devil is a liar and uses his influence, causing people to lie, he is the father of lies, he tried it on Jesus Christ, but it didn't work. You ought to be disgusted with the father of liars, and search for Christ."

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

Jesse D. Holloway Offer To All Who Suffer Stomach Agony, Gas and Indigestion

Money Back if One Bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one dessert spoonful of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can banish indigestion or dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach or any abnormal condition that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

And how happy you will be when your stomach is as good as new for then dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dull eyes and other ailments caused by a disordered stomach will disappear and you will be your old happy, contented self again. Jesse D. Holloway and every regular pharmacist guarantees one bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin to show the way to stomach comfort.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

Dascome sat down beside her, his hand on the back of the divan, bent over her nestled back in the cushions. "You have much of the child in you—your thoughts lie deep and they mature slowly. You are guided largely by instinct, and a child's instincts are very accurate. My history, told by myself, would be too long a recital for one evening—it is subject matter for such widely divergent opinions. But I have a confession to make. May I?"

Karesia's smile answered his; she felt so satisfied and at ease with him; it had been so from the beginning. "Have you broken some of my best china?"

No. Do you remember the black-beared, black-haired, spectacled man who used to sit in the Cafe du Nord and watch la belle Karesia dance?" He touched his breast. "That was I."

Karesia's eyes widened to their utmost. "You! And every day a handful of roubles!" She flushed to crimson. "It kept us from starving! I had to dance or starve."

"I guessed it. I had to disguise myself, my life wasn't worth the toss of a rouble. I needed the joy watching you gave me, God knows! Afterward when I read 'A Dancer of Petrograd,' I knew who wrote it—the girl who danced and smiled, the skeleton of starvation clinging to her one arm and the grimy hand of the Red Terror always touching the other. It is the truest story of the transition from Kerensky to Lenine and Trotzky that has been written. Your grace of expression saved it from bald realism. It is a gem."

"Then you knew who I was—when you came to my house?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you tell me?"

"Partly because I love to save my pleasures. I have a world of things to tell you, la belle Karesia—later on. May you always care to listen!" Dascome was warmly flushed, his steady eyes absorbed her. Suddenly he was as personal as hitherto he had been impersonal; for the time being, he had slipped his leash. It was as if he meant to say, "Beneath my quiet exterior is a volcano, and you have stirred it into action."

It was a revelation to Karesia of the man's powers of self-control and concealment. She looked down at his strong hands, and she was swept by the wish that they would settle upon her and draw her to him. She felt the craving that knows no rest until it is satisfied. She looked into his eyes, her look said much; then she looked down.

But Dascome's hands did not move. When she looked at him again, his expression had changed completely. "I must go back now," he said. "Clarice is alone," and he rose in his usual resolute way.

Karesia had a feeling of hot rebellion; he had remembered before she did how things were. It was Rossiter who stood between them. On impulse, she rose and brought him Alexander Karesia's photograph; she hoped he would talk of Russia again, it brought him closer to her.

"I found this in the storehouse and brought it here because I wanted to ask you how you came by it. My mother was a Karesia—he was a distant relation of my mother's. He had such high hopes for Russia."

Dascome's expression did not alter. "Alexandor Karesia. Yes, I know. His was the brand of socialism that Lenine's is not. He was a splendid dreamer and a good man. He was my wife's first husband. She married him when she was very young—he died not long afterward."

It came back to Karesia now, the story of Alexander Karesia's marriage; he had married a wealthy American girl, a wild, ungovernable creature who had pretended to sympathize with his views; she had left him and it had broken his heart. But in her portrait she had looked so sweet, like a flower! How had she treated Dascome, Karesia wondered? Was it she who had "allenated" Clarice from him?

In her sympathy and interest, Karesia forgot her own restless unhappiness. "I remember now—my mother told me about his marriage. She was very fond of him, she kept his photograph always on her table. You know the costume I wore the evening you first came—I was lonely and had amused myself by putting it on—that was the costume my mother wore when she danced before the czar and czarina."

But the spell had been broken. His eyes were very steadfast again and his face grave and worn. "Your mother made a tour of this country, years ago, when I was a boy. I remember seeing photographs of her in Boston in that very costume. I remember I thought she was very lovely, the eyes and the brow. You look like her, very like her—it was strange, a vision, when I saw you in Russia. You were a vision when you opened the door to me here. Do you mind that I didn't tell you before?"

Karesia tried to smile. "I have a queer sort of feeling that whatever you do is right, so, of course, I don't mind."

Dascome flushed suddenly and the hand he gave her was burning. But all he said was, "Thank you again for helping me with Clarice. I have worried over her ever since she was a baby, and a kindness to her is a treble kindness to me. Don't come down—I'll let myself out."

When he had gone, Karesia walked the floor. "He's right not to come! He's right!" she said to herself.

She walked and thought herself into determination, then sat down to consider details. Presently she went to her desk and opened the package of cards which Rossiter had left. They were beautifully engraved and, in the top left-hand corner was a miniature reproduction of his patio. There were spaces for the guest's name and for the guest of honor. Karesia took one of the cards and wrote, "Miss Clarice Dascome," in one space; the space for the guest of honor she left blank. She addressed one of the envelopes and put the card in it. Then she went downstairs and out the back way to Takimoto's cottage. There was merriment in the Japanese menage, the notes of a samisen, a chattering in Japanese, and a woman's laugh. "At least they are happy," was Karesia's thought.

NEVADA FAILS TO TABOO GAS FOR MURDERERS

Western State Refuses to Act Despite "Barbarism Cry."

TONGMAN VICTIM

State Legislature Will Not Oppose Lethal Executions.

CARSON CITY, Nevada, Jan.—Lethal gassing will remain the means of execution in Nevada.

That death by this method is the most humane inflicted today seems to be the contention of the majority of the Nevada state senators and assemblymen. Nevada, pioneer in an untried method of imposing the age-old penalty of a "tooth for a tooth," executed a Chinese tong slayer with the dealy hydrocyanic acid gas in February last year.

Ever since other states have watched with interest to see if the law calling for death by gas would be repealed by the state legislature.

"Nevada, so far as I know, has no intention of striking out the law that made the world gasp last year," said John I. Peterson, state senator. "Although capital punishment in any form seems horrible, it is necessary; and it is my opinion that the lethal gas execution is the solution to the humaness of the problem."

Will Stick to Gas

Many other members of the Senate are of the same opinion. They denounce electrocution, hanging and shooting and say that if any bill intended to repeal the lethal gas law is introduced in the state legislature they will fight it.

From the medical profession, which was represented by several physicians at the execution last year, only one dissenting voice was heard.

One doctor charged that Gee Jon, the convicted slayer had died from "cold and exposure" and not from inhalation of the deadly fumes. This was later pointed out to be erroneous by Warden Denver S. Dickerson, who called attention to the three electric heaters in the death-cell and said that the temperature of the room was above 80 degrees Fahrenheit.

Nevada's lethal-gas means of capital punishment had its birth when an assemblyman from Elko county read a novel in which one of the characters committed suicide by the "almond scented gas route." The book described how painless the death was; and a bill to adopt this form of capital punishment was immediately introduced in the legislature and passed.

Used Hydrocyanogen

No certain gas was decided upon, and no provisions for its administration were made. When Gee Jon, the tongman, was convicted of murder it was found that the execution had to be by gas.

Sanford Dinsmore, State Food and Drug Commissioner, was called into consultation, and hydrocyanogen, a gas derived from hydrocyanic acid, was decided upon. The acid had been in use for several years as a spray for fruit trees, and the gas had been used to rid granaries of vermin.

Preparations were started immediately on a death-cell, the building chosen being a ramshackle affair in the prison yard. The interior was covered with plaster and the window edges sealed with parafin.

Nevada then snuffed out Gee Jon's life, amid the cries of "Barbarians!" From other states. The execution was such a success from the humane standpoint, according to medical authorities, that it seems the state will cling to the method and fight any attempts to repeal the law.

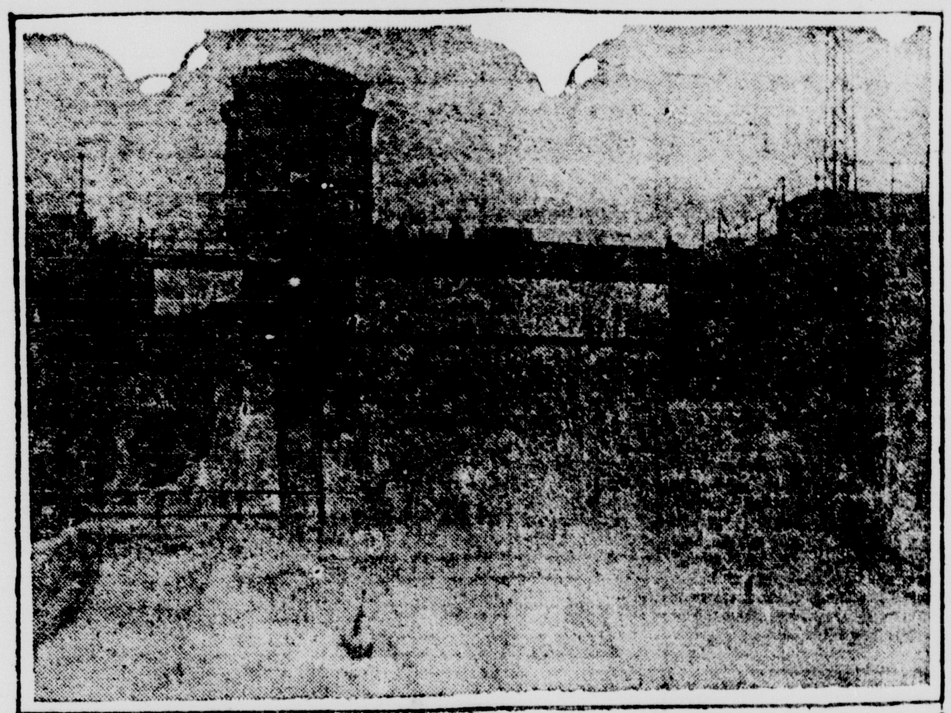
Radios and Autos Supplant Churches In Western State

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. Jan.—Charges that automobiles, radios, and other "luxuries" are suplanting the churches in rural districts througout Oklahoma will be made when the Methodist Episcopal convention meets here February 13 to discuss plans for creating more interest in the country churches, it is said.

Officials of the denomination declare that during the past few months many rural congregations have advised their pastors that they can no longer support a church. In these same communities, however, there is a radio in nearly every home and few residents do not own automobiles, according to the churchmen.

A remedy for this condition will be discussed at the conference. Similar conferences will be held in St. Louis February 10, and in Kansas City Fberuary 11.

Chicago Carries Drainage Fight to Congress



The injunction stopping the city from diverting more than 4,161 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan to dispose of its sewage, having been upheld by the U. S. supreme court, Chicago has carried its fight to keep the figure at 10,000 cubic feet a second to congress. City authorities declare the decision imperils the health of millions. For years, Mid-west states and Canada, alarmed by the lowering of the level of the great lakes, have been fighting the increased diversion of water by Chicago. The photo shows the gate at Lockport, Ill., which controls the diversion.

Gives advice to Expectant Mothers

"I HAD an awful time with my first baby," writes Mrs. Theo. Willey, 431 E. Ohio St., Indianapolis, Ind. "They had to give me chloroform and use instruments. They thought I would die. But before my second baby came I used 'Mother's Friend' and baby was born with only a few pains and before a doctor could arrive. I also used 'Mother's Friend' with my third baby. I was only sick a little while and she also was born before the doctor arrived. I cannot praise 'Mother's Friend' enough. I tell every one I see who is expecting to become a mother about 'Mother's Friend.'"

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT, IS FIERY, ITCHY OR ROUGH, USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

Gives Wife Adlerika For Stomach Trouble

A merchant whose wife had stomach trouble finally gave her Adlerika. It helped her at once. The pleasant and QUICK action of Adlerika is surprising. It helps any case gas on the stomach unless due to deep-seated causes. It is excellent as an intestinal evacuant and a wonderful remedy for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes. Japan is Flooded With Counterfeit American Money

The reason is that several counterfeit American bills have been circulated in the city recently. One $100 bill which an obliging tradesman changed for a customer who made a small purchase was found to be "phoney," and several bogus $20 bills have been discovered.

Detectives are keeping a close watch in the hope of capturing those responsible for circulation of the spurious currency.

District Attorney's Office Probes Baseball Scandal

Runyon Says

The Finns Are the Great Skaters. And Mr. Thunberg Knows He Is. They Wait 'Til They Are Grown Up A Twenty-five-year-old Is Child. Strain of Skating Is On the Legs.

By DAMON RUNYON.
(Copyright, 1925, by International Feature Service.)

YOU are reading much of Paavo Nurmi, wonderful runner from Finland.

That is a small country, but it produces great athletes, perhaps the greatest the world has ever seen in certain fields.

Their skaters are remarkable men. The writer learned of them from Joe Moore, slim, pleasant-looking young American amateur skater, who met the Finns on the ice in the Olympic contests at Chamonix, France, last year.

Joe Moore is a New York boy, a marvel on the ice. He is now 23 years old and has been skating since he was 14. At 15 he won the Metropolitan championship at the old St. Nicholas rink, where they once held boxing bouts.

Joe Moore for six years has held the world's indoor amateur championship, also he holds the Canadian National and Middle Atlantic championships. He finished first in three races in the Olympic contests, but didn't make the best time; therefore, under the strange scoring system of the Olympics, he didn't win.

Joe Moore says Thunberg, the Olympic champion, a Finlander, is a marvelous skater, also something of a character.

"I congratulated him on his victory," Moore told the writer. "I said to him, 'You are a great skater, Mr. Thunberg,' and he answered, 'Yes, I KNOW I AM!'

"All those Finnish skaters are like that—confident, dead-sure of themselves," said Moore. "I wouldn't say they are swell-headed, of boastful, but they know what they can do. And HOW THEY CAN DO IT!

"Nobody knows how far Thunberg can skate. I wouldn't be much surprised if he went a thousand miles without stopping. He's in a class by himself.

"We'll never be able to produce skaters like the Finns," the young man continued. "Their ability goes back to their ordinary routine of daily life. We'd have to live like them for five of six years to get their fundamentals.

"They nearly all live in the country, get up very early, go to bed early. They are methodical, systematic. They do a lot of walking, which develops their legs. Naturally, legs are a skater's most important equipment.

"Moreover the Finns have the opportunity for more regular skating than we have in this country. They have long periods of ice. Over here the season of outdoor ice is short, except in a few localities. There's little opportunity of outdoor skating around New York, for instance.

"The Finns don't take to racing until they are fully matured. One of their greatest skaters is Paul Oson, who is 25, and he enters only the sprints.

"I asked why he didn't race in the distance events, and they said, 'Oh, he's too young! He's only a baby!'

"Skuppnob, the man who won the 10,000 meters race in the Olympics, is 37, and has three children. He's a dairyman in Finland.

"They pay little attention to set training rules such as we observe," Moore went on. "They drink liquor when they feel like it, and do a lot of smoking.

"I was sitting at a table with Thurnberg, a glass of water in front of me, while he had a glass of champagne. That was when I congratulated him on his skating. He pointed at my glass of water, and said, 'You,' then touched his glass of champagne, and said to me,'

"He meant to convey, as I gathered, that in skating I compared to him as champagne compares to water. Yet I don't think he meant anything offensive by it. It was just his way.

"They skate entirely different from our system," said Moore. "We always get away sharp and very fast. They move off quite leisurely.

"It does no good to get the jump on them at the start. They come along steadily, picking up speed at every move. They use skates with eighteen-inch blades, while ours are fifteen and a half inches long—and we thought we had long blades!

"Their blades are narrower than ours, but I don't think their advantage is in their skates. It's in their natural ability. They are tremendous on the ice."

Those who live in regions where there is no ice skating may be interested in the statement that it is one of the most strenuous of sports.

On New Year's day, in the Middle-Atlantic championship at Newburgh, New York, young Moore skated intermittently from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Skating involves a terrific muscular and mental strain, yet skaters last longer than almost any other athletes. That is because the muscular strain is on the legs. There is no strain on the heart.

When young Moore trains for racing on the ice, he skates. That is practically his only training. Unlike a boxer, he does not mix in a lot of other exercises.

Skating in races is largely a matter of pace.

In this important respect, as Moore related, the Finns are more accurate and scientific than the Americans.

They wear watches on their wrists. Thus they know at all times just how fast they are going. The American skaters trust to their judgment of pace, to their instinct.

The reader will at once say, as the writer said to Moore, "Well, why don't you wear a watch, too?"

"Oh, I can judge my pace without it," he rpelied.

There are any number of skating titles, so many, in fact, the thing seems rather confusing.

Oscar Mathieson, of Norway, is called the world's professional champion. He is a remarkable skater. Larsen, of Norway, is another great skater.

In America, Art Staff, of Chicago, is champion. Then there are numerous record holders at different distances, including Richard Donovan, of St. Paul, holder of the mile speed record, made over a six-lap track.

May Be Able to Get Further Knowledge On O'Connell Deal

Will Find Out if Other Members of Club Know Anything About Alleged Bribe; Dolan's Testimony Will be Sought.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Regardless of lamentations to the contrary the local district attorney's office expects to strike pay dirt somewhere in its impending excavations in and around the Dolan-O'Connell scandal which rocked the baseball world last October. Many seem to think that no additional light will be thrown on the situation by an official inquiry, that District Attorney Joab Banton will find his hands tied just as secretly as were those of Judge Landis when the original probe was instituted. It is evident that the district attorney's office does not concur.

It knows what it can do with witnesses when they are placed under oath and asked questions that require more illuminating answers than the mere affirmative or negative, as the case may be.

If, as some people seem to feel, Frank Frisch, Ross Young and George Kelly have guilty knowledge of O'Connell's attempt to bribe Heine Sand, the district attorney's office will be suffciently inquisitive to discover just what these men know, if anything.

In this respect, local officials will find conditions for an inquiry far more favorable than did Landis. The judge could go so far and no further. He could not place his witnesses under oath and if all of them saw fit to give the "don't remember" reply to his questions, he could have done nothing about it, except to oust those concerned from baseball. But that would have left the case in a more opaque condition than it is.

Of course, if nothing new is uncovered, O'Connell will be the only victim. On his own admission, he can be sent to jail and plastered with a heavy fine. This is a highly undesirable outcome. Baseball doesn't want it, the fans do not want it and I think I take no undue liberty in answering for O'Connell himself. He doesn't want it.

The district attorney's office, cognizant of this popular attitude, does not plan to institute extradition proceedings. O'Connell, coming here on invitation, would be footloose and fancy free. were he extradited, he immediately would become liable to the actions of the grand jury.

He could be arrested while in New York in either case, but it is likely that a guarantee of immunity will be given him in order to gain the benefit of his testimony.

Just what Dolan will do is a question. If he is guilty, as charged by Landis, and can be made to admit it, the possibility is by no means remote that he would involve others who might have a connection with the attempted bribery. But Cozy is in Oshkosh and may see fit to stay there. He once talked loudly of instituting legal proceedings to obtain reinstatement but seemed to think better of it.

If he declines to appear, it is more than possible that this latest inquiry will have few important developments. Dolan is the focal point of the entire situation. Through him only, the guilt or innocence of other possible conspirators can be established for all time. According to New York law, no one, not even Dolan, can be convicted on the unsupported testimony of a self-confessed "fixer," such as O'Connell happens to be.

Will Dundee Explain Affair to Bretonnel?

Johnny Dundee ran out of a battle with Fred Bretonnel in Paris to rush home to claim the world's lightweight championship as Benny Leonard's retirement was reported.

Which brings two thoughts.

What assurance will the promoter have who matches Dundee as "champion," that Dundee will not run out on him?

And is Dundee is acclaimed champion, as he desires to be, how will he explain sneaking out of the Bretonnel affair?

Hitters Most Highly Paid

"Dazzy" Vance has been offered a contract by the Robins that calls for a salary of $10,000 a year. Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby, and a dozen or more hitters of lesser fame, are drawing larger salaries than that right now. Which indicates again the relative value of pitching and hitting in the eyes of the big league bosses.

STRIBLING ADDS TO KAYO RECORD

Fords Lose and Drop to Third Place

Trotter Five Moves up Notch in 'Y' Race.

Turning in a score of 41 to 34, the Trotters five of the "Y" industrial basketball league downed the Liverpool Motors last night on the "Y" court.

The winners generally outplayed their opponents in this clash, although their shooting was anything but perfect. The score probably would have been much larger had they succeeded in making good on half their tries.

In the second, the Chevrolet passers went into the lead when Watson shot one in from the field. When time was up for the half the Market street crew had piled up a five-point lead, the count being 19-14.

During the third period, both squads tried plenty of shots from the field with the Fords climbing to within two points of the enemy's score. The tally at the end of the quarter was 28-26.

But the Chevrolet quintet stepped on the gas in the concluding frame and drew away so rapidly that the Motors were unable to keep up. The Chevrolets speeded into second place as a result of their conquest.

Watson was the big gun in the Chevrolets' attack, finding the baskets for nine field goals and three fouls. McConville and Brooks starred at the guards.

Canne, Bromby and Cox were the chief performers for the Fords, with Canne leading in the scoring.

Liverpool Motors		Chevrolets
Bromby	F	Beeler
Vail	F	McVey
Brozka	C	Watson
Canne	G	McConville
Cox	G	Brooks

For 2¼ and 2½ miles by Paavo Nurmi at Newark last night brought the great Finn's total of new records established in this country to an even ten since beginning competition here about three weeks ago. Nurmi stopped the 2¼ mile distance in 10:42 and the longer route in 13:03. His remaining record performances in America follows:

1,500 meters, 3:56; one mile 3:13 3-5; 5,000 meters 14:44 3-5; mile and 3-4, 7:55 2-5; 3,000 meters 8:26 4-5; mile and 7-8, 8:29; 2,000 meters, 5:33.

'STOP LYNCH' IS MOUNT'S SLOGAN

ALLIANCE, Jan. 22.—"Stop Lynch" is the slogan of the Mount Union 'cage men as they prepare for the game on the home floor, Monday, Jan. 26, with Ohio Northern.

Coach Detrick's men are doped to win, but a good game is expected. Ohio Northern, though not exhibiting the brand of basket ball displayed last year, has a five that is not to be sneezed at, and Mount's men are still rather weak in passing.

This will make the last non-conference game on the Purple schedule, the following Saturday being dedicated to a scrap with Hiram on the enemy's floor.

Burkle, the heavy new tryout for guard, may start the game Monday, as he has shown up well in the other clashes.

Seeks Bigger Fields

His recent victory over the veteran "Ted" Lewis in England has spurred Tommy Milligan, British mauler, on to conquer more worlds. He is coming to the U. S. in search of bouts with welterweights here, including Mickey Walker, the Shade dodging champ.

Laughlin 6 Wins Volley Loop Title

Finish Season With 18 Consecutive Victories.

Standing out so far ahead of the opposition that their class was indicated in no uncertain manner, the Laughlin 6 crew of the "Y" industrial volley ball circuit last night turned in their eighteenth straight victory and carried off championship honors in the final games of the season.

The Laughlin 6 tossers won without opposition last night, being given three forfeit contests from the Laughlin 5 team.

Although quite a distance away from the leaders, the Smith-Phillips team finished second, a full game ahead of the Decorators. The Oaklanders won 10 games and lost 2.

The Adamant No. 2 team was at the foot of the ladder, with 12 defeats chalked up against them in as many games. This squad came into existence in the latter part of the season.

The final standing follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Laughlin, 6	18	0	1.000
Smith-Phillips	10	2	.833
Decorators	9	3	.750
Laughlin, 5	9	6	.600

Baseball Is Next In Line On Y Court

Plans are Announced for Indoor League.

"Y" industrial volleyball athletes who concluded their season's schedule with last night's games will turn their attention now to indoor baseball.

Plans for the organization of an industrial league of this nature were announced by industrial department executives today.

According to present arrangements the league will complete its organization moves and be ready to swing into action in probably two weeks.

ROAMERS DEFEAT GLENMORE QUINT

The East Liverpool Roamers defeated the Glenmore five, 14-11, in a warm contest Tuesday evening on the Glenmore court.

Bloor was the star for the Roamers, with four field goals to his credit while Foutts performed well for the losers.

Last Night's Fights

BUFFALO—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, defeated Joe Lohman, Toledo, six rounds; Sid Terris, New York, earned decision over Joe Hall, Buffalo, six rounds; Charlie O'Connell, Cleveland, got decision over Joe Jawson, Milwaukee, six rounds; Bobby Hamilton, Buffalo, got decision over Johnny MacGregor, Niagara Falls, six rounds. Benny Ross, Buffalo, and Phil Jackson, Buffalo, fought a six round draw.

W. V. U. PRIMING FOR MARIETTA

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 22—West Virginia University cagers are going to have a hard job on their hands tomorrow night when they play Marietta College on the "Ark" court here. The Mountaineers are reported to have advanced since their last appearance on the home floor and despite Marietta's showing against Bethany, the Bisons having had to hustle to win, followers of the Stadsvold crew feel that it stands a good chance of copping tomorrow's engagement.

Marietta may not be as strong as Allegheny but its men are experienced cagers with a record as impressive as that of the Pennsylvania Methodists. The Mountaineers are not taking tomorrow's game lightly and have carefully prepared for the invasion of the Ohio quint. Marietta will lineup with Captain Walker and Art Ward, forwards; Harris, center; Lockard and E. Ward, guards. The squad will arrive in Morgantown early tomorrow and rest before meeting the Mountaineers.

Coach Stadsvold will not make any change in the West Virginia lineup but intends to hold Ed. Morrison, Julian Murrin and Bill Heizer in reserve for emergency service. Strict enforcement of the personal foul rule makes it necessary for all teams to have at least eight "regulars" ready for duty. Murrin and Heizer have been getting into almost every game and Morrison is also in line for more work than a second string player expects.

CARNEGIE FIVES IDLE NEXT WEEK

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—There will be a lull in basketball at Carnegie Tech because of the mid-year exams, no games being scheduled for either the varsity or freshmen the coming week. Grove City makes its annual appearance here on February 6, while on the following night the Plebes are to play California Normal here.

Carnegie boasts of a good basketball team this season, one that will improve as the season advances, a tight, fast, scrappy little aggregation.

The freshmen are heavier and have also done very well of late. Last week the yearlings elected Al Sebastian of Youngstown, O., captain. Sebastian prepared at Rayen high school. This year he made his numerals on the freshman football team.

Hollocher Getting Set For Big Season

Charley Hollocher, once headed for a permanent place in baseball's hall of fame as shortstop with the Cubs, has announced that he expects to show his old time form with the team next season.

Hollocher was lost to the Cubs the latter part of last year due to illness. He had been ailing for months. He was not in good shape when he reported for the 1924 campaign. His illness was described as ranging from stomach trouble to a desire for more money.

He returned to his home in St. Louis before the season ended and since then has been taking good care of himself in the hope of getting back into good form. Hollocher said that he had become convinced the disease was mostly a nervous one and was treating it as such, substituting exercise, pure food and relaxation for seventeen different kinds of medicine.

Here's hoping that he has the right flea. Hollocher's return to form will again.

LITTLE RESIGNS MICHIGAN POST

ALL ARBOR, MICH., Jan. 22—George Little, football coach at the University of Michigan, and assistant athletic director to Fielding H. Yost, will leave these duties within a month or six weeks to assume the position of athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, it was learned here. Yost announced he has accepted Little's resignation.

Memory Still Poor.

Cozy Dolan's memory hasn't returned. Commissioner Landis has received no inkling from the former Giant coach that he has recalled any of the facts in connection with the futile attempt of Jimmy O'Connell to bribe Heinie Sands of the Phillies at Cozy's alleged suggestion.

It is now recalled that the state legislature of New York, in 1921, made such an act on the part of a ball player a crime. Under that law a baseball plyer who offers or accepts a bribe is guilty of a felony, punishable by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than five years and by a fine of not more than $10,000.

It might be that Dolan would become more ernest in his efforts to dust the cobwebs off his brain were he placed face to face with the possibilities of being found guilty of the offence of which he has been accused and going to the hoosegow for the same.

On the shores of Hull, England, the Anglo-American Society of Hull recently erected a stone monument in memory of the departure thence of the Pilgrim Fathers.

MIDLAND

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS BURIED HERE

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock for Jack Cristler, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cristler of Midland avenue, who was killed in the Crucible Steel plant here Saturday. Pallbearers were members of the Masonic lodge. Rev. Fohner, of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was made in the Bethlehem cemetery at Shippingport, Pa.

Home from Hospital.

Alex Zigas, of Penn avenue, who has been in the East Liverpool hospital for several weeks recovering from injuries sustained in a coasting accident, was removed to his home here yesterday. He is recovering rapidly.

Nicely Entertained.

Officers of Jessamine Chapter No. 234, Order of Eastern Star, were entertained in the home of Mrs. Robert Graham in Ohio avenue on Friday. The evening hours were spent socially and in fancywork. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Graham.

Mrs. Trimble Injured.

Mrs. Walter Trimble, mother of Mrs. Wayne Laughlin of Ohio avenue, while visiting with friends and relatives in Scottdale, fell on the icy pavement and sustained a fracture of her right arm. She will remain in Scottdale for several weeks.

Injured in Fall.

Kansas' "Wheat Girl"

President Coolidge will receive a bag of wheat from Miss Vada Watson, Kansas' "Wheat Girl," in Washington on Jan. 30, sixty-fourth birthday of the Sunflower state. Miss Watson was chosen in a contest conducted by twenty-three Kansas newspapers. Her home is in Hutchinson.

Midland Personals.

Word has been received here of the death of Frank Delehanty of Pittsburgh, former resident of this place.

Miss Margaret Bahen of Cleveland was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Dennis Bahen of Beaver avenue, for several days.

Bruce Fisher of Ohio avenue, who was injured in a coasting accident here several weeks ago, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Newcomer of Beaver avenue were business visitors in Pittsburgh recently.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pringle of Park place has returned home after an extended visit with relatives in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Harvey Moll of Ohio avenue was called to Bethlehem on Saturday on account of the death of her father, Robert Arnold.

Miss Clara Borchert of Canonsburg, who has been visiting relatives in Cleveland, stopped over for several days' visit with her brother, C. A. Borchert, and family of Penn avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heaton of Eighth street were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Conrad Bahen, and family of Beaver.

Mrs. Elizabeth True of Columbus, O., a former resident of this place, is visiting her son, Wesley True, and family of Ohio avenue.

Charles Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Green of Ohio avenue, underwent an operation in the East Liverpool hospital yesterday for appendicitis.

Edith, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Flynn of Ohio avenue, is recovering slowly from an attack of diphtheria.

E. A. Dublin of Beaver avenue, who was removed to his home last week from St. Francis hospital, Pittsburgh, is recovering slowly.

Now Is the Critical Time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will Help You Safely Through

Convoy, Ohio.—"During the Change of Life I was weak and run-down and could hardly do my work. By reading your advertisements I found out about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has straightened me right out and made me feel like a new woman. By the time I had taken eight bottles I was well and could do my housework on the farm without trouble. I recommended it to my daughter-in-law after her second baby was born and it did her a wonderful lot of good. I told her to try it and if it didn't help her I would pay for it, and before she had taken one bottle she said to me, 'You won't have to pay for it! It is helping me wonderfully!' And she took three bottles of it. You can use my testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. ELSIE ACKERMAN, Convoy, Ohio.

A Boon to Mothers

Mothers everywhere who realize the danger to delicate little stomachs of too much dosing appreciate the value of Vicks in treating croup and children's colds.

With Vicks there is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine—in the form of vapors which carry the medication directly to the nose throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

Colds go overnight, croup is generally relieved within 15 minutes.

LABOR SCORES SLEUTH PLAN

TRADES COUNCIL URGES FINE-SPLITTING TABOO AS SOLONS AWAIT MEET

Harry Cresswell, Anthony Wynn and J. C. Higgins Are Named Members of Committee to go to City Hall to Seek Repeal of Dry Detective Legislation.

APPROXIMATELY 1,000 CITIZENS SIGN PETITIONS PROTESTING RAID METHODS

Representative Manufacturers, Merchants and Professional Men Will Ask Council at Friday Evening's Session to Eradicate Ordinances Blamed for Inter-City Enforcement Officers' War.

Trades and Labor council today joined hands with representative citizens here in demanding repeal of the fine-splitting detective legislation.

Meeting last night, the central labor body voted to urge the city council at Friday night's session to rescind the emergency ordinance enacted on Jan. 10.

Councilman Thomas Farrall, a member of Trades and Labor council, urged condemnation of the measure. He declared the ordinance to be one of the "most dastardly pieces of legislation ever written" into the city statutes. No one spoke in favor of the bill, although several members assailed it. The vote on the motion to name a committee to appear before city council was not unanimous.

Names of approximately 1,000 voters, it was estimated, have been affixed to the citizens' petitions requesting repeal of the legislation. Two petitions, which have been turned in, are said to contain about 350 signatures.

Anonymous Letter Writer Turns Guns On City Officials

The Review-Tribune today received an anonymous communication on "private detective and police activities" in the inter-city prohibition enforcement officers' war.

If the writer desires publication of the letter, he should forward his name as evidence of good faith. His identity will not be revealed.

Unless this request is complied with before noon Friday, the communication, which makes uncomplimentary references to certain city officials, will be consigned to the waste paper basket.

May Change Meeting Place.

The papers will be collected Friday afternoon. A committee of representative manufacturers, merchants and professional men, will be selected to present the petitions.

Due to the interest which is being manifested in council's possible action on the request, a movement was started today to have the session of the solons transferred to the high school auditorium. The suggestion was made by Councilman N. P. Kerr, who declared that many persons who contemplated attending the meeting could not be accommodated if the session was held in city hall.

President of Council L. T. Capehart said that the request would be referred to the other members of the legislative body when they assembled Friday evening. If agreeable, he said, the meeting would be transferred to the high school building where a large crowd of citizens may be accommodated.

DISMISS JURY IN RUM TRIAL

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 22.—Judge Charles M. Egan today dismissed the jury in the Hudson county liquor cases who heard the evidence in the case of ten policemen and two civilians, when the jury reported that it was hopelessly divided.

The jury reported at 10 o'clock this morning. The judge, who had been delayed in reaching court, arrived shortly before the jurors filed into the room. They had been out since 3:07 yesterday afternoon and appeared to be tired.

"Gentlemen, have you reached a verdict," the judge said.

Henry A. Lauenstein, of Bayone, N. J., the foreman replied: "I am sorry to say, judge, we have not—we were unable to reach a verdict."

Conspiracy Charged.

Husband is Head Of House, Ruling In Whisky Trial

DAYTON, O., Jan. 22. —A husband is the head of his house and is responsible for what takes place therein, even if his wife commits a misdemeanor.

This, in effect, is the decision of Common Pleas Judge E. T. Snediker in the case of William Penn vs. the city of Dayton, who upheld the decision of municipal court, in which Penn was fined $350.

Penn was arrested by local police, charged with unlawful possession of whisky. The story told by police in the criminal division of municipal court when Penn was tried and found guilty was that his wife had the whisky under her dress when they raided the Penn home. They declared she was allowing the whisky to run out of an inverted bottle under her dress, in the bath room when they arrived. Penn was present at the time.

50 ATTEND MEET

Per Capita Assessment for Harding Memorial is Voted.

Tenth anniversary of the organization of the first Kiwanis club was celebrated by the East Liverpool club in connection with the weekly noonday luncheon in the Larkins annex, Market street, today. About 50 members and their guests attended.

Attorney Loren Souers, Canton Kiwanian, speaker of the day, traced the growth of the Kiwanis movement. Kiwanis International today boasts of a membership of more than 93,000, scattered in 1,300 cities in United States and Canada, the speaker claimed.

He also discussed the causes for the growth of the movement and the aims and ideals of the club. President George E. Lewis, who presided, read an anniversary message to the club members.

Evening Meeting Next Week.

The club voted 50 cents per capita to the proposed Harding memorial, which Kiwanis International will erect at Stanley Park, British Columbia, where the late President Harding made his last public speech just a few days before his death. The memorial movement was explained by C. C.

BRIDGE BANDIT GOES TO PRISON

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 22.—William, alias James Porter, 26, arrested at Steubenville, Ohio, as alleged leader in the toll house robbery and kidnapping of Toll Keeper Fred Brinkman, pleaded guilty in criminal court here today. He was sentenced to serve ten years in the West Virginia penitentiary.

LIQUOR CHARGE FILED AGAINST EAGLES' CLUB IS DISMISSED

Detective-Police Raiders Fail to Substantiate Allegation.

CROWD ON HAND

Mayor Brown Hears Case in Council Chamber.

Declaring there was insufficient evidence to warrant conviction, Mayor Charles Brown, last evening, dismissed the charge of illegal possessing intoxicating liquors against the Eagles' club, raided by police and Steubenville detectives last Friday night.

In returning a verdict of not guilty, the mayor announced his willingness to "be fair" in the matter and said that he would not consider "evidence that had been dug out of the ground." A large crowd of spectators, who taxed the capacity of the council chamber, where the trial was held, cheered the decision.

Solicitor Harry L. Brokaw prosecuted the case, while Attorney Bea L. Bennett represented the defendants. The prosecution called three witnesses—Patrolman Norman McFarland, Turnkey William Cline and Special Officer Edgarle Bloor, who took part in the raid. None of the Steubenville detectives was present.

Three Patrolmen Testify.

The three patrolmen testified of the visit to the club house. They found the front door open and went to the grill in the basement of the building. Harry Webster, Steubenville dry detective, pressed the buzzer button. The bell was answered, but the officers were not admitted, it was declared. Webster then proceeded to smash down the door, it was testified.

Webster stepped behind the counter and seized a pitcher which, according to police witnesses, had the scent of whiskey. With a piece of towel, he soaked up liquid which was found in the sink, placing it in a pint bottle which was brought to the city hall.

Turnkey Cline and Special Officer Bloor were emphatic in their testimony that the liquid in the bottle was whiskey. Patrolman McFarland,

Less Than 2,000 Sets of Automobile Tags Issued Here

Less than 2,000 sets of outomobile license plates have been issued in East Liverpool by Deputy Automobile Registrar James S. Hilbert.

Of this unmber, approximately 1,600 are for pleasure cars while the remaining 350 are for motor trucks. The plates are being issued at the rate of about 75 per day, although the sales showed a big increase Tuesday —the last day of grace for the 1924 plates.

Mayor Brown has instructed the police to make no arrests for a few days yet of automobile owners who have not obtained new license plates.

STATE DEMANDS LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR GIRL WHO KILLED HER MOTHER

Woman District Attorney Selected to Prosecute San Francisco "Daughter of Jazz," Insists Upon Speedy Trial.

By COPELAND C. BURG.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22—"Dorothy Ellingson must serve life."

This was the demand made today by the prosecution in the case of the "Daughter of Jazz" who sent a death bullet into her mother's head.

"This is a murder case, not a case of ordinary juvenile delinquency," declared Dr. Theresa Meikle, assistant District Attorney, selected to prosecute the girl who slew in a "red headed" rage.

"It will not be dealt with as an ordinary juvenile derelection.

"The people will oppose any continuance.

"The place for this case is in the criminal courts and the sooner it reaches there the better. We demand a speedy trial."

Prisoner Defies Police

Dorothy, weak, from her ordeal of yesterday when she appeared in police court and won her first fight in the courts by having her case transferred to the juvenile court, was scheduled to appear today before Juvenile Judge Murasky, where her fate may be definitely determined.

Judge Murasky was expected to either order the child defendant held for the superior court on murder charges or order her sentenced until she is 23 to the girls' home at Ventura, California.

The young matricide's condition early today was reported improved since last night when she suffered a near collapse, although her father and brother who visited the city prison, were denied admittance.

While she pushed back her breakfast tray untouched, drinking only a small cup of black coffee, Dorothy defied the police. She refused to appear against four members of the Jazzland orchestra, who are held on statutory charges in connection with the path the coral-haired girl blazed down San Francisco's night life trail.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Smiling and nooding recognition to friends, Herbert Copeland, Negro, went to his death on the gallows here today after confessing to numerous other murders aside from the killing of two capital policemen and a deputy sheriff.

Just before going to the scaffold, Copeland confessed, according to authorities, of murdering a woman in Galveston, Texas and a Negro police man in Chicago.

After four witnesses, representing the soldier organizations, were examined, Mr. Brokaw ordered a continuance to give the American Legion an opportunity to obtain statements.

The veterans were represented at the hearings by Attorneys W. S. Foulks and W. S. Stevenson. Attorney R. G. Thompson appeared for the City hospital board and the executive committee of the War Chest.

Unidentified Masked Fiend Attempts to Assault Ohio Woman

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Jan. 22.—Police of Junction City and Sheriff Harley McNabb and a force of deputies are scouring the woods near that village for an unidentified masked man who early today attempted to assault Mrs. William Taylor, Pennsylvania railroad employe, near Junction City.

Mrs. Taylor escaped from her assailant and ran exhausted to a neighbor's house, where she fainted.

POTTERS LAUD LATE CHIEF OF UNION LABOR

Memory of Gompers Honored at Open Meeting.

THREE SPEAKERS

Green's Message Read in Trades Council Hall.

The memory of the late Samuel Gompers, for many years president of the American Federation of Labor was honored by members of Trades and Labor Council in a memorial service, open to the public, in the labor council hall, Fifth and Washington streets, last evening.

The principal speaker was George Chadwick, second vice-president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who was one of the two delegates representing the Brotherhood at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor held in El Paso, Texas, last November. Mr. Chadwick discussed the life and work of the late chieftain, asserting that he had done more for the cause of organized labor and humanity than any person since Abraham Lincoln. He referred to his first meeting with Mr. Gompers at the Baltimore convention in 1912.

Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the Brotherhood, who followed Mr. Chadwick, compared Gompers with other great men of the modern times. He pointed to his splendid record as head of the organized labor movement.

A message from William Green, Coshocton, who succeded Mr. Gompers, as president of the Federation was read. Mr. Green paid a high tribute to his predecessor and asked for the co-operation of organized craftsmen during his term of office.

The meeting was presided over by J. C. Higgins, president of the council. The meeting was largely attended.

WILLIAM REDDICK NOT INDICTED

Through an error, the name of William Reddick, of the Lincoln highway, was used in connection with a charge of criminal assault before Judge James G. Moore, at Lisbon, yesterday. The man under indictment is Willard Reddick, Oak street potter, who is in no way related to William Reddick.

MAYOR BROWN CONFERS WITH EXECUTIVE OF SISTER CITY

Wellsville Official Says he "Demands Truth."

NO PACT MADE

Check for $1,008.35 Returned to Mrs. Percy Frost.

Peace overtures, designed to abolish inter-city prohibition enforcement hostilities which reached a tragic climax Saturday, met with failure, temporarily, at least, when a conference between Mayor James S. Barnes, of Wellsville, and Mayor Charles Brown, of East Liverpool, held yesterday afternoon in the office of the Wellsville executive, came to an end without an agreement.

The conference, it is said, was also attended by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, of East Liverpool, and Police Chief John Fultz, of Wellsville.

Mayor Brown Fosters Movement.

The movement for an understanding between the two cities on the question was fostered by Mayor Charles Brown, according to Mayor Barnes.

The Wellsville executive asserted that Mayor Brown expressed a desire to call off the inter-city raiding, smooth over the feeling of animosity said to exist now, and have each city handle its own law enforcement problems.

Mayor Barnes declared today that he is willing to return to a safe and sane enforcement program and would do it "in 10 minutes," on certain conditions.

The Wellsville official asserted he feels that he has a right to be cleared of any blame in the eyes of the public by a formal statement by Mayor Brown. He said that he "demands only the truth, "irrespective of whether it hurts me or any one else."

Rev. Benjamin Swan, Former Resident, Dies in Florida

Rev. Benjamin Swan, 59, former resident of East Liverpool, died in his home in Lake Alfred, Florida, yesterday, according to word received today by relatives.

He was the son of the late Rev. J. M. Swan, who was a former pastor of the Longs Run Presbyterian church, near Calcutta. Until lately he was pastor of a Presbyterian church at North Warren, Pa., but went to Florida last fall in hopes of improving the health of his wife.

Rev. Swan is survived by his wife, a son, Rev. Harry Swan, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Albany, N. Y., and a daughter, Miss Lillian Swan, who is engaged in home missionary work in West Virginia; also three sisters and three brothers as follows: Mrs. Major Newman and Mrs. M. D. Farrar, of this city, Mrs. J. T. Leyenberger, Wheeling; Rev. W. L. Swan, of Willoughby, O.; R. W. Swan of Nankin, Ohio, and James L. Swan, of Tampa, Florida.

MINERS' STRIKE DANGER AVERTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The danger of a general strike in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields has been averted, Commissioners of Conciliation Thomas Davis and James F. H. W. CULP, CHEMIST, SPEAKING IN LAYMAN'S LANGUAGE, EXPLAINS SATURDAY'S ECLIPSE OF SUN

Speaking in the language of the layman, but with the Knowledge of the scientist, Harvey W. Culp, chemist in the Babcock and Wilcox laboratory, East End, and a member of the American Association of Variable Star Observers, today discussed the total eclipse of the sun which will be visible in the Northern section of the United States on Saturday.

The Sun will rise in the east a little before 7:30 a. m., tomorrow, a nick on the one edge may be noticed at 8 o'clock, but the time to begin to watch is about 9 o'clock, Culp says.

"On Saturday there will be enacted for the people residing in a narrow belt of the country a drama of great interest and one seldom seen in the life time of an average man," said Culp. "To those of us who live in a much wider region on either side of this path a much less important and dramatic sideshow will be seen the total eclipse of the sun.

"Eclipses of the sun occur four times yearly on an average, but all of these are not visible in any one particular locality. Eclipses also differ in the interest they evince from Astronomers and laymen as well. Everyone recalls observing eclipse of the sun which, when viewed through a smoked glass, appeared to be minus a section of familiar disc. These are by far the most common eclipses and are comparatively irrelevant to astronomers. There are those, however, for a glimpse of which astronomers will travel half way around the earth. These are total, the sun being entirely obscured for a few minutes. To this latter class the present eclipse belongs.

Path of Totality.

"Totality occurs along a path about 100 miles wide extending from a point north of Duluth, Minn., across northern Michigan and the Great Lakes to Buffalo, thence eastward to the coast between New York city (above 72nd street) and the southern border of Rhode Island. New Haven, Conn., will be almost in the center of the path.

"Eclipses are caused by the moon's passing between the earth and the sun and so cutting off part or all of the light, giving us total or partial eclipse, respectively. In a total eclipse the path is narrow because the shadow of the moon is almost as long as the distance of the moon from the earth and it is known that a globe such as the moon or the earth casts a shadow that tapers to a point. Hence if the shadow were exactly as long as the moon's distance from the earth the tip of this shadow cone would just graze the surface of the earth. Because the moon travels around the earth in a flattened circular orbit which, of course, brings it much nearer to us at some times than at others, the distance is shortened enough to make the shadow fall some distance on the other side of the earth to give a path about 100 miles wide where the earth cuts it. In this path, the light of the sun is wiped out and it becomes as dark as a night when there is a full moon. Because the moon travels so fast, this period of darkness will last two minutes at most in the present case. The period is rarely very much longer than this.

When the sun is totally gone, a portion of its upper surface (or atmosphere) remains observable. This is frequently seen to be full of bright jets or clouds thousands of miles high which are really storms on the sun. Out beyond this outer atmosphere, which is called the Corona, are seen great streamers of light gases extending sometimes ten million miles from the sun.

"Of course, all of this will not be visible in East Liverpool because we lie outside of the path of totality. The sun will be seen in partial eclipse, becoming 80 to 90 per cent covered by the moon at most. It will be of interest, however, to watch the moon slowly encroach upon the sun and then recede again. All of this will occur about 9 o'clock in the morning.

"Most interesting of the many problems that scientists will endeavor to solve at this time is the research that is being sponsored by the American Astronomical society and Scientific American. It is a research in which every person having a radio of

Per Capita Assessment for Harding Memorial is Voted.

Tenth anniversary of the organization of the first Kiwanis club was celebrated by the East Liverpool club in connection with the weekly noonday luncheon in the Larkins annex, Market street, today. About 50 members and their guests attended.

Attorney Loren Souers, Canton Kiwanian, speaker of the day, traced the growth of the Kiwanis movement. Kiwanis International today boasts of a membership of more than 93,000, scattered in 1,300 cities in United States and Canada, the speaker claimed.

He also discussed the causes for the growth of the movement and the aims and ideals of the club. President George E. Lewis, who presided, read an anniversary message to the club members.

Evening Meeting Next Week.

The club voted 50 cents per capita to the proposed Harding memorial, which Kiwanis International will erect at Stanley Park, British Columbia, where the late President Harding made his last public speech just a few days before his death. The memorial movement was explained by C. C.

BRIDGE BANDIT GOES TO PRISON

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 22.—William, alias James Porter, 26, arrested at Steubenville, Ohio, as alleged leader in the toll house robbery and kidnapping of Toll Keeper Fred Brinkman, pleaded guilty in criminal court here today. He was sentenced to serve ten years in the West Virginia penitentiary.

A meeting of the Tri-State Poultry association will be held in the chamber of commerce room, Little building, tonight.

Election of officers and distribution of trophies to the winners in the 1924 chicken show, will feature the session. The membership committee will report. Plans for next year's show will be discussed.

All chicken fanciers are invited to attend.

LIQUOR CHARGE FILED AGAINST EAGLES' CLUB IS DISMISSED

Detective-Police Raiders Fail to Substantiate Allegation.

CROWD ON HAND

Mayor Brown Hears Case in Council Chamber.

Declaring there was insufficient evidence to warrant conviction, Mayor Charles Brown, last evening, dismissed the charge of illegal possessing intoxicating liquors against the Eagles' club, raided by police and Steubenville detectives last Friday night.

In returning a verdict of not guilty, the mayor announced his willingness to "be fair" in the matter and said that he would not consider "evidence that had been dug out of the ground." A large crowd of spectators, who taxed the capacity of the council chamber, where the trial was held, cheered the decision.

Solicitor Harry L. Brokaw prosecuted the case, while Attorney Ben L. Bennett represented the defendants. The prosecution called three witnesses—Patrolman Norman McFarland, Turnkey William Cline and Special Officer Edgarle Bloor, who took part in the raid. None of the Steubenville detectives was present.

Three Patrolmen Testify.

The three patrolmen testified of the visit to the club house. They found the front door open and went to the grill in the basement of the building. Harry Webster, Steubenville dry detective, pressed the buzzer button. The bell was answered, but the officers were not admitted, it was declared. Webster then proceeded to smash down the door, it was testified.

Webster stepped behind the counter and seized a pitcher which, according to police witnesses, had the scent of whiskey. With a piece of towel, he soaked up liquid which was found in the sink, placing it in a pint bottle which was brought to the city hall.

Turnkey Cline and Special Officer Bloor were emphatic in their testimony that the liquid in the bottle was whiskey. Patrolman McFarland,

Less Than 2,000 Sets of Automobile Tags Issued Here

Less than 2,000 sets of automobile license plates have been issued in East Liverpool by Deputy Automobile Registrar James S. Hilbert.

Of this number, approximately 1,600 are for pleasure cars while the remaining 350 are for motor trucks. The plates are being issued at the rate of about 75 per day, although the sales showed a big increase Tuesday—the last day of grace for the 1924 plates.

Mayor Brown has instructed the police to make no arrests for a few days yet of automobile owners who have not obtained new license plates.

STATE DEMANDS LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR GIRL WHO KILLED HER MOTHER

Woman District Attorney Selected to Prosecute San Francisco "Daughter of Jazz," Insists Upon Speedy Trial.

By COPELAND C. BURG.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22—"Dorothy Ellingson must serve life."

This was the demand made today by the prosecution in the case of the "Daughter of Jazz" who sent a death bullet into her mother's head.

"This is a murder case, not a case of ordinary juvenile delinquency," declared Dr. Theresa Meikle, assistant District Attorney, selected to prosecute the girl who slew in a "red headed" rage.

"It will not be dealt with as an ordinary juvenile derelection.

"The people will oppose any continuance.

"The place for this case is in the criminal courts and the sooner it reaches there the better. We demand a speedy trial."

Prisoner Defies Police

Dorothy, weak, from her ordeal of yesterday when she appeared in police court and won her first fight in the courts by having her case transferred to the juvenile court, was scheduled to appear today before Juvenile Judge Murasky, where her fate may be definitely determined.

Judge Murasky was expected to either order the child defendant held for the superior court on murder charges or order her sentenced until she is 23 to the girls' home at Ventura, California.

The young matricide's condition early today was reported improved since last night when she suffered a near collapse, although her father and brother who visited the city prison, were denied admittance.

While she pushed back her breakfast tray untouched, drinking only a small cup of black coffee, Dorothy defied the police. She refused to appear against four members of the Jazzland orchestra, who are held on statutory charges in connection with the path the coral-haired girl blazed down San Francisco's night life trail.

Slayer Nods to His Friends as he Goes to Death on Gallows

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Smiling and nooding recognition to friends, Herbert Copeland, Negro, went to his death on the gallows here today after confessing to numerous other murders aside from the killing of two capital policemen and a deputy sheriff.

Just before going to the scaffold, Copeland confessed, according to authorities, of murdering a woman in Galveston, Texas and a Negro police man in Chicago.

After four witnesses, representing the soldier organizations, were examined, Mr. Brokaw ordered a continuance to give the American Legion an opportunity to obtain statements.

The veterans were represented at the hearings by Attorneys W. S. Foulks and W. S. Stevenson. Attorney R. G. Thompson appeared for the City hospital board and the executive committee of the War Chest.

Unidentified Masked Fiend Attempts to Assault Ohio Woman

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Jan. 22.—Police of Junction City and Sheriff Harley McNabb and a force of deputies are scouring the woods near that village for an unidentified masked man who early today attempted to assault Mrs. William Taylor, Pennsylvania railroad employe, near Junction City.

Mrs. Taylor escaped from her assailant and ran exhausted to a neighbor's house, where she fainted.

POTTERS LAUD LATE CHIEF OF UNION LABOR

Memory of Gompers Honored at Open Meeting.

THREE SPEAKERS

Green's Message Read in Trades Council Hall.

The memory of the late Samuel Gompers, for many years president of the American Federation of Labor was honored by members of Trades and Labor Council in a memorial service, open to the public, in the labor council hall, Fifth and Washington streets, last evening.

The principal speaker was George Chadwick, second vice-president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, who was one of the two delegates representing the Brotherhood at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor held in El Paso, Texas, last November. Mr. Chadwick discussed the life and work of the late chieftain, asserting that he had done more for the cause of organized labor and humanity than any person since Abraham Lincoln. He referred to his first meeting with Mr. Gompers at the Baltimore convention in 1912.

Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the Brotherhood, who followed Mr. Chadwick, compared Gompers with other great men of the modern times. He pointed to his splendid record as head of the organized labor movement.

A message from William Green, Coshocton, who succeded Mr. Gompers, as president of the Federation was read. Mr. Green paid a high tribute to his predecessor and asked for the co-operation of organized craftsmen during his term of office.

The meeting was presided over by J. C. Higgins, president of the council. The meeting was largely attended.

WILLIAM REDDICK NOT INDICTED

Through an error, the name of William Reddick, of the Lincoln highway, was used in connection with a charge of criminal assault before Judge James G. Moore, at Lisbon, yesterday. The man under indictment is Willard Reddick, Oak street potter, who is in no way related to William Reddick.

Wellsville Official Says he "Demands Truth."

Peace overtures, designed to abolish inter-city prohibition enforcement hostilities which reached a tragic climax Saturday, met with failure, temporarily, at least, when a conference between Mayor James S. Barnes, of Wellsville, and Mayor Charles Brown, of East Liverpool, held yesterday afternoon in the office of the Wellsville executive, came to an end without an agreement.

The conference, it is said, was also attended by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, of East Liverpool, and Police Chief John Fultz, of Wellsville.

Mayor Brown Fosters Movement.

The movement for an understanding between the two cities on the question was fostered by Mayor Charles Brown, according to Mayor Barnes.

The Wellsville executive asserted that Mayor Brown expressed a desire to call off the inter-city raiding, smooth over the feeling of animosity said to exist now, and have each city handle its own law enforcement problems.

Mayor Barnes declared today that he is willing to return to a safe and sane enforcement program and would do it "in 10 minutes," on certain conditions.

The Wellsville official asserted he feels that he has a right to be cleared of any blame in the eyes of the public by a formal statement by Mayor Brown. He said that he "demands only the truth, "irrespective of whether it hurts me or any one else."

Rev. Benjamin Swan, Former Resident, Dies in Florida

Rev. Benjamin Swan, 59, former resident of East Liverpool, died in his home in Lake Alfred, Florida, yesterday, according to word received today by relatives.

He was the son of the late Rev. J. M. Swan, who was a former pastor of the Longs Run Presbyterian church, near Calcutta. Until lately he was pastor of a Presbyterian church at North Warren, Pa., but went to Florida last fall in hopes of improving the health of his wife.

Rev. Swan is survived by his wife, a son, Rev. Harry Swan, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Albany, N. Y., and a daughter, Miss Lillian Swan, who is engaged in home missionary work in West Virginia; also three sisters and three brothers as follows: Mrs. Major Newman and Mrs. M. D. Farrar, of this city, Mrs. J. T. Leyenberger, Wheeling; Rev. W. L. Swan, of Willoughby, O.; R. W. Swan of Nankin, Ohio, and James L. Swan, of Tampa, Florida.

MINERS' STRIKE DANGER AVERTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The danger of a general strike in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields has been averted, Commissioners of Conciliation Thomas Davis and James F. Dewey today advised Secretary of Labor Davis. They also advised him they would join with the anthracite conciliation board and a special commission appointed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in an attempt to settle the disputes between the miners and operators in the Pittston Fields, involving about 11,000 miners.

H. W. CULP, CHEMIST, SPEAKING IN LAYMAN'S LANGUAGE, EXPLAINS SATURDAY'S ECLIPSE OF SUN

Speaking in the language of the layman, but with the Knowledge of the scientist, Harvey W. Culp, chemist in the Babcock and Wilcox laboratory, East End, and a member of the American Association of Variable Star Observers, today discussed the total eclipse of the sun which will be visible in the Northern section of the United States on Saturday.

The Sun will rise in the east a little before 7:30 a. m., tomorrow, a nick on the one edge may be noticed at 8 o'clock, but the time to begin to watch is about 9 o'clock, Culp says.

"On Saturday there will be enacted for the people residing in a narrow belt of the country a drama of great interest and one seldom seen in the life time of an average man," said Culp. "To those of us who live in a much wider region on either side of this path a much less important and dramatic sideshow will be seen the total eclipse of the sun.

"Eclipses of the sun occur four times yearly on an average, but all of these are not visible in any one particular locality. Eclipses also differ in the interest they evince from Astronomers and laymen as well. Everyone recalls observing eclipse of the sun which, when viewed through a smoked glass, appeared to be minus a section of familiar disc. These are by far the most common eclipses and are comparatively irrelevant to astronomers. There are those, however, for a glimpse of which astronomers will travel half way around the earth. These are total, the sun being entirely obscured for a few minutes. To this latter class the present eclipse belongs.

Path of Totality.

"Totality occurs along a path about 100 miles wide extending from a point north of Duluth, Minn., across northern Michigan and the Great Lakes to Buffalo, thence eastward to the coast between New York city (above 72nd street) and the southern border of Rhode Island. New Haven, Conn., will be almost in the center of the path.

"Eclipses are caused by the moon's passing between the earth and the sun and so cutting off part or all of the light, giving us total or partial eclipse, respectively. In a total eclipse the path is narrow because the shadow of the moon is almost as long as the distance of the moon from the earth and it is known that a globe such as the moon or the earth casts a shadow that tapers to a point. Hence if the shadow were exactly as long as the moon's distance from the earth the tip of this shadow cone would just graze the surface of the earth. Because the moon travels around the earth in a flattened circular orbit which, of course, brings it much nearer to us at some times than at others, the distance is shortened enough to make the shadow fall some distance on the other side of the earth to give a path about 100 miles wide where the earth cuts it. In this path, the light of the sun is wiped out and it becomes as dark as a night when there is a full moon. Because the moon travels so fast, this period of darkness will last two minutes at most in the present case. The period is rarely very much longer than this.

When the sun is totally gone, a portion of its upper surface (or atmosphere) remains observable. This is frequently seen to be full of bright jets or clouds thousands of miles high which are really storms on the sun. Out beyond this outer atmosphere, which is called the Corona, are seen great streamers of light gases extending sometimes ten million miles from the sun.

"Of course, all of this will not be visible in East Liverpool because we lie outside of the path of totality. The sun will be seen in partial eclipse, becoming 80 to 90 per cent covered by the moon at most. It will be of interest, however, to watch the moon slowly encroach upon the sun and then recede again. All of this will occur about 9 o'clock in the morning.

"Most interesting of the many problems that scientists will endeavor to solve at this time is the research that is being sponsored by the American Astronomical society and Scientific American. It is a research in which every person having a radio of

Figures Show Expense Was About Two Per Cent.

Canvassers' Work Added $24,013,020 to Tax Duplicate.

Reappraisement of property, which added $24,013,020 to the tax duplicate, cost Columbiana county approximately $62,500, or a little more than two per cent, county Auditor C. E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, announced today.

The old valuation as shown by the tax duplicate was $108,629,060. The new valuation is $132,642,080.

The first application for funds to pay the cost of the reappraisement was made to the county commissioners on January 21, last, when $30,000 was set aside. An additional appropriation of $20,000 was made on June 23, last. A third appropriation of $10,00 was authorized Aug. 22, and Nov. 27 last there was another appropriation of $2,500.

Cost $6,250 a Year.

Stretching the cost of the appraisement over a period of 10 years, for example, it shall have cost the county at the rate of $6,250 per year to have obtained the new values.

It is possible that reductions will be made on valuations, following the filing of complaints. According to Mr. Hamilton, less than three percent of the 43,000 odd property owners in the county have filed objections.

No date for a meeting of the board of revision. All complaints first will be investigated by field agents. Their reports will be reviewed by the board.

No extension of time was granted by the County Commissioners at their last meeting for the payment of taxes, and the December paying term closed as of Jan. 20.

DEATH ROLL

Newton M. Birch.

Newton M. Birch, 28 years old, died this morning at his home, 411 Prospect street. Death followed a brief illness.

Deceased, who was employed at the Buckeye pottery, is survived by his wife, one daughter, Virginia; his father, E. E. Birch, and the following brothers and sisters: Earl, McKinley, Ray R., Albert, Kenneth, Emil, all of this city, and Mrs. Roy Vaughn of Alliance.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home, Rev. D. W. McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Walter William Johnson.

Walter William Johnson, 23 years oid, of Wellsville, died this morning in the East Liverpool city hospital, death being attributed to pneumonia.

He had been employed as a boiler maker at the shops prior to his illness.

The body will be sent tomorrow to Mt. Vernon for burial. Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 10 in the D. M. McLean funeral parlors.

H. W. Culp

any power at all can assist and in which they are urged to help.

"In the first place it is interesting for the scientist to try to discover whether the corona is electrical, atmospheric or atomic. More observation of halo which appears when all of the sun's disc is covered may reveal the source of the energy which the sun emits.

"The eclipse will help also to determine the exact time of the contacts of the rims of the sun and moon, and thus help to check the exceedingly accurate prognostications of astronomers which are sometimes rendered slightly inaccurate due to certain irregularities of the motion of the moon. These irregularities may receive partial explanation when the differences are checked.

"From the point of view of the Einstein theory the eclipse is interesting because the covering of the disc of the sun will permit the photographing and observation of the sky background of the sun. Einstein's theory says that the rays of light from the stars around the sun are attracted by its huge bulk. When the sun is shinning it is impossible to observe the background of the sun, and the rays of light from stars beyond the sun cannot be observed, and so the curve if there is any, cannot be studied.

"Another hypothesis which may be studied when the sun is darkened concerns the possible discovery of planets inside the orbit of Mercury.

Radio Co-operation.

"Four stations, WGY, Schnectady; WGR, Buffalo; WBZ, Springfield, Mass., and WOR, Newark, N. J., will broadcast a special program of slow dictation from 8:45 until 9 on the morning of the eclipse (the period in which the shadow will be speeding eastward over the country). Radio fans are urged to listen in' and note any difference in the manner in which the signals are received—that is, to note where the signals became weak or strong or where anything unusual in the transmission occurs. They are asked to note at what word in the dictation, which will be read slowly, the change was noted and to communicate their observations to Scientific American.

At the stations the words will be checked against a clock as they are read so that the exact time that any one of them was read will be known. Then if the observers note any change in the signals at a particular word the exact time of that change will be obtainable. The position of the moon's shadow will also be know definitely at every moment and thus the effect of the shadow upon radio waves passing through it can be determined. It is uncertain whether this, effect will be a strengthening or an interference of static."

Calling attention to plans for the radio feature, Mr. Culp said:

"Several persons in the East Liverpool district have already agreed to listen to this special broadcast and will report their findings. This does not bar others from doing the same and we would like many more to help in this great experiment. All desiring to cooperate should receive an assignment of a station and further instructions from me in care of the YMCA in East Liverpool. I will be glad to meet anyone desiring to do systematic listening at the Y on Friday evening. It is quite necessary that all reporting should receive uniform instructions for carrying on the work."

No Weather Forecast

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The government weather bureau added tensity today to the universal interest in the eclipse of the sun Saturday by declining to forecast whether or not, the sky would be clear for this great solar event. There will be, however, a "special eclipse forecast issued Friday."

But man, in his ingenuity, set about months ago to defeat unfavorable weather conditions. The giant dirigible, Los Angeles, now at Lakehurst, N. J., will travel the aerial highways and make scientific observations and take photographs of the phenomenon.

So, too, will 12 DeHavilland army observation aeroplanes under the direction of Major William N. Hensley, Jr., commandant at Mitchell Field, L. I. The DeHavilnland planes will soar three miles above the earth if necessary, it was said. They will be equipped with numerous instruments for scientific and astronomical deduction and with cameras as well.

From the ether, Major Hensley will send back to earth radio reports of the aeroplane eye view of the eclipse. This radio report will be relayed through station WJZ. The most favored localities to view the eclipse will be those in a pathway 70 miles wide which begins, roughly speaking, northwest of Duluth, Min., and stretches eastward to New York City, New Haven, Conn., Newport, R. I., and on into the Atlantic ocean.

New Haven Astronomer's Mecca.

New Haven, Conn., and its famous university, Yale, will be the mecca for astronomers and physicists, special trains will be run to New Haven for laymen and scientists of world wide fame already are there adjusting their sensitive instruments.

New Haven is the mecca because it will be directly in the full shadow of the eclipse and the scientists will have a maximum of two minutes in which to make their observations.

Harvard and Princeton universities, in cooperation, will attempt to fix the position of the moon at the time of the eclipse. The government has assigned a special aeroplane to make observations for Amherst college. There is in fact hardly a university or scientific body of any importance in the world but what will take some part in the event.

The scientists themselves do not know what to expect. New stars may be discovered; the Einstein theory of relativity may be definitely proven; the heat of the sun will be measured; photographs will be taken of the corona (the gaseous envelope surrounding the sun); magnetic currents will be studied and radio instruments will be closely watched for potential reactions.

Layman's Free Show.

The layman will have his own highly interesting free show. The most important manifestation for the layman will be the approach of the eclipse. The apparent shadow of night will come toward him out of the west at a speed of 60 miles a second. It will be an eerie sensation. There will be an awsome stillness. If the layman is in the country, he more than likely will hear roosters crow and dogs barking as at night.

The layman looking skyward must beware, the astronomers warn, of "sun blindness," smoked glasses should be worn. The layman will see the most marvelous of solar pyrotechnics, the corona. He will see "prominences," as the astronomers term them, shooting out from behind the moon. These "prominences" are flames or sun explosions, and they rise in the air anywhere from 20,000 to 100,000 miles, some astronomers say 500,000 miles.

Strange, and yet unexplained, "shadow bands," about two inches wide, may appear on the earth.

This will be the last opportunity for people now living to view an eclipse, for the next will be 220 years hence.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown during our recent bereavement; also the Rev. Difford and singers of St. Stephens church. Also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Strength in the stock market and the foreign exchange market were the principal features of interest in the financing district today. Reflecting the confident prediction of the chairman of Barclay's Bank in London that sterling would soon return to par, demand, sterling jumped 1¼ cents to $4.79¼ in early trading, equaling its best record since 1915. In the stock market, United States Steel common continued the burst of strength with which it closed Wednesday's session and jumped to 126⅝, a new high since 1917 and exactly ten points below the record high price set in that movement. Rumors were current that the directors at their meeting next Tuesday would increase the rate of "quarterly special" dividend from the 50 cent disbursement inaugurated last year.

Oil stocks led the market in activity in the first two hours, most of the representative independent and Standard Oil shares continuing the movement which has been in progress since the turn of the year. Advances of from 25 to 42 cents a barrel in the prices of Tonkawa crude oil were made by the Marland company, while the Ohio company was reported to have marked up Ohio crude ten cents; Indiana Refining company advanced Kentucky crude 15 cents and Plymouth Oil advanced 25 cents.

175 Persons Attend Wednesday Meet in First M. E. Church

About 175 attended the supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. After congregational singing, T. T. McCann led in prayer, following which Dr. Fowler gave a breif report of the Ministers' Evangelistic Institute held in Canton, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Prior of Pittsburgh, an evangelistic worker among the colored people of the south, rendered southern melodies.

The people were then directed to the auditorium where an hour's service of prayer and praise was enjoyed. In this service, Mr. Prior gave a splendid gospel message in address and song. He reported on the results and expressed the grateful appreciation of the work being done by the Methodist church among his people in the south.

Mr. Bush of Sebring, Ohio, a missionary of the Methodist church to South Africa, gave a 15-minute talk on the work in that country.

An expression of the people indicated a desire to have Mr. Prior come on some evening later with his wife and five children to give a full evening's program. The date will be announced later.

IRONDALE MAN'S HAND AMPUTATED

alleged leader of the "Bootlegging Ring"; Harry J. Stearns, councilman and chairman of the police committee of Weehawken; Captain Charles McNamee, of the Hudson County Boulevard police, two police lieutenants and seven patrolmen.

The jurors looked wan and haggard.

When the foreman told the judge that the jurors were "hopelessly disagreed," the judge said:

"Hopelessly? Don't you think that if you went out again for a short time you could arrive at a verdict?"

"No, your honor! The foreman replied. We have disagreed for fifteen hours and we cannot reach a verdict."

"Then, under the circumstances, and in view of your sincerity, I am compelled to discharge you from further service during the balance of the term of court," the judge said.

Majority For Conviction.

It was understood that the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction when dismissed. The first vote, it was said, was 8 to 4 for conviction. An hour later it switched to 9 to 3 and remained thus until they finally decided they were hopelessly deadlocked.

The defendants in the main seemed to accept the disagreement as they would have a verdict of acquittal. Every one of the ten police in uniform broke into smiles, as did Stearns.

Only Griffin, "mystery man" of the trial and characterized by state counsel as "king of the bootleggers," retained the calm that marked him throughout the trial. Not the slightest change of expression passed over his features when the disagreement was announced.

however, would not swear as to the contents of the bottle.

Turners' Case Not Called.

No witnesses were called by the defense. At the close of the testimony of the three members of the raiding party, Attorney Bennett made a motion that the case be dismissed for lack of evidence. With Mayor Brown's permission, he briefly reviewed the testimony. The mayor, without further formality, then dismissed the case.

The hearing was frequently interrupted by jeers and remarks from the crowd, which appeared friendly toward the defendants. The state witnesses' answers were hissed on one or two occasions.

Mayor Brown has set no date for the hearing of the Turners' Club, also charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. In asmuch as the mayor announced he would not consider evidence "dug up from the ground," it is doubtful if this case comes to trial. The raiders collected a quantity of earth, soaked with liquid which they claimed to be whiskey, when they cutout a section of the floor after raiding the Turners' club.

and those other boys," she said. "I refuse to testify against them. You can't drag me into court to make me harm them.

"I deserve whatever I get in this mess, but why drag in the innocent? I refuse to testify one word against any one accused of contributing to my delinquency."

Another attempt to have her testify will be made today. Dorothy's attorney, Alexander Mooslin, said he would battle today against any attempt to go ahead with the case and would demand a continuance. He said he would insist upon his legal right to prepare a proper defense for the child defendant along the lines of "mental illness."

Reserve police in large numbers were ordered on duty to prevent a recurrence of yesterday's near riot when a huge crowd, the largest ever attending a court hearing in San Francisco, surged about the hall of justice in an effort to view the red-headed girl who confessed she murdered her mother.

Pastor Carries Check to Widow.

In addition to this development, it was also announced today by Mayor Barnes that a check for $1,008.35 has been turned over to the widow of the late Percy Frost.

The check had been deposited with Mayor Barnes for the appearance of the owner on last Saturday morning, but it was not cashed.

"I am not disposed to inflict any hardship on the family of Percy Frost," said Mayor Barnes.

CROWD HEARS DR. LOCKHART

Another large crowd attended Wednesday night's revival services at the First Church of Christ. Evangelist William J. Lockhart spoke on the subject, "The New Birth."

The "Green" side in the Sunday school campaign sprung a surprise on the "REeds" by decorating the church auditorium in green prior to the Wednesday evening service. Prof. Harbinson, song leader, was in charge of the music.

The drive for a 1,000 attendance at the Bible school will be continued again next Sunday. The attendance last Sunday fell 11 short of this number.

Tonight Rev. Lockhart will discuss "The Prodigal Son." At the Friday night service he will be assisted by his son, "Billy" Lockhart. The service on Friday evening will be known as "Father and Son Night." The evangelist will preach to men only at 3 p. m. Sunday on "One Hundred Percent Americanism."

In his last night's discourse, Evangelist Lockhart said, in part:

"There are two sides to the plan of salvation—man's side and God's side. There are the things that men must do to be saved and there are the things God will do. The secret things belong unto the Lord, our God, but the things that are revealed belong unto us and our children that we may do all the words of this law."

"You can not understand how God creates new life. You only understand the processes through which we must put the seed or the egg in order that God may do the balance.

"Put the egg in the incubator with the germ of life in it and keep the temperature at 102 or 103 and turn the egg once a day and give it moisture and on the morning of the 21st day you will see a miracle. A new life has been created. You will hear a 'Peep, peep,' and a little fluffy chicken will fall down in the nursery below. Can you understand how God gave the new life? No philosopher does. All you know is what you must do and God does the balance.

"So in the spiritual birth. Allow the germ of faith to be planted in your soul. Cultivate it until Jesus Christ is allowed to take possession of your life. Turn from the things that are wrong, confess the Lord and be baptised and Jesus Christ has promised the forgiveness of sins and the Gift of the Holy Spirit. Now do not concern yourself about God's part. Do your part and he will give you the new life.

"There is a birth of the water and a birth of the spirit. The birth of the spirit is God's side. You do your part and God does His. You may not understand how any more than you do how the grains grow or the chick is created or the child is born, and the 'secret things belong to God, the things that are revealed belong to us."

APPRAISEMENT OF PROPERTY COST $62,500

Figures Show Expense Was About Two Per Cent.

43,000 NAMES

Canvassers' Work Added $24,013,020 to Tax Duplicate.

Reappraisement of property, which added $24,013,020 to the tax duplicate, cost Columbiana county approximately $62,500, or a little more than two per cent, county Auditor C. E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, announced today.

The old valuation as shown by the tax duplicate was $198,629,060. The new valuation is $132,642,080.

The first application for funds to pay the cost of the reappraisement was made to the county commissioners on January 21, last, when $30,000 was set aside. An additional appropriation of $20,000 was made on June 23, last. A third appropriation of $10,00 was authorized Aug. 22, and Nov. 27 last there was another appropriation of $2,500.

Cost $6,250 a Year.

Stretching the cost of the appraisement over a period of 10 years, for example, it shall have cost the county at the rate of $6,250 per year to have obtained the new values.

It is possible that reductions will be made on valuations, following the filing of complaints. According to Mr. Hamilton, less than three percent of the 43,000 odd property owners in the county have filed objections.

No date for a meeting of the board of revision. All complaints first will be investigated by field agents. Their reports will be reviewed by the board.

No extension of time was granted by the County Commissioners at their last meeting for the payment of taxes, and the December paying term closed as of Jan. 20.

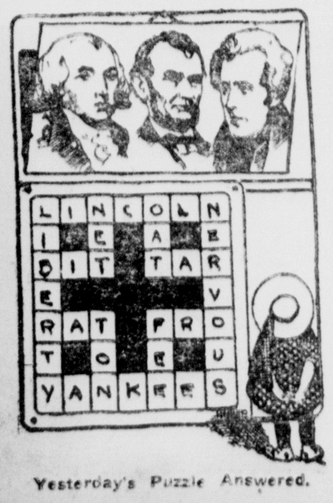
CROSS WORD PUZZLE ANSWER



Yesterday's Puzzle Answered.

DEATH ROLL

Newton M. Birch.

Newton M. Birch, 28 years old, died this morning at his home, 411 Prospect street. Death followed a brief illness.

Deceased, who was employed at the Buckeye pottery, is survived by his wife, one daughter, Virginia; his father, E. E. Birch, and the following brothers and sisters: Earl, McKinley, Ray R., Albert, Kenneth, Emil, all of this city, and Mrs. Roy Vaughn of Alliance.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home, Rev. D. W. McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Walter William Johnson.

Walter William Johnson, 23 years old, of Wellsville, died this morning in the East Liverpool city hospital, death being attributed to pneumonia.

He had been employed as a boiler maker at the shops prior to his illness.

The body will be sent tomorrow to Mt. Vernon for burial. Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 10 in the D. M. McLean funeral parlors.

H. W. Culp

any power at all can assist and in which they are urged to help.

"In the first place it is interesting for the scientist to try to discover whether the corona is electrical, atmospheric or atomic. More observation of halo which appears when all of the sun's disc is covered may reveal the source of the energy which the sun emits.

"The eclipse will help also to determine the exact time of the contacts of the rims of the sun and moon, and thus help to check the exceedingly accurate prognostications of astronomers which are sometimes rendered slightly inaccurate due to certain irregularities of the motion of the moon. These irregularities may receive partial explanation when the differences are checked.

"From the point of view of the Einstein theory the eclipse is interesting because the covering of the disc of the sun will permit the photographing and observation of the sky background of the sun. Einstein's theory says that the rays of light from the stars around the sun are attracted by its huge bulk. When the sun is shinning it is impossible to observe the background of the sun, and the rays of light from stars beyond the sun cannot be observed, and so the curve if there is any, cannot be studied.

"Another hypothesis which may be studied when the sun is darkened concerns the possible discovery of planets inside the orbit of Mercury.

Radio Co-operation.

"Four stations, WGY, Schnectady; WGR, Buffalo; WBZ, Springfield, Mass., and WOR, Newark, N. J., will broadcast a special program of slow dictation from 8:45 until 9 on the morning of the eclipse (the period in which the shadow will be speeding eastward over the country). Radio fans are urged to listen in' and note any difference in the manner in which the signals are received—that is, to note where the signals became weak or strong or where anything unusual in the transmission occurs. They are asked to note at what word in the dictation, which will be read slowly, the change was noted and to communicate their observations to Scientific American.

At the stations the words will be checked against a clock as they are read so that the exact time that any one of them was read will be known. Then if the observers note any change in the signals at a particular word the exact time of that change will be obtainable. The position of the moon's shadow will also be know definitely at every moment and thus the effect of the shadow upon radio waves passing through it can be determined. It is uncertain whether this effect will be a strengthening or an interference of static."

Calling attention to plans for the radio feature, Mr. Culp said:

"Several persons in the East Liverpool district have already agreed to listen to this special broadcast and will report their findings. This does not bar others from doing the same and we would like many more to help in this great experiment. All desiring to cooperate should receive an assignment of a station and further instructions from me in care of the YMCA in East Liverpool. I will be glad to meet anyone desiring to do systematic listening at the Y on Friday evening. It is quite necessary that all reporting should receive uniform instructions for carrying on the work."

No Weather Forecast

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The government weather bureau added tensity today to the universal interest in the eclipse of the sun Saturday by declining to forecast whether or not, the sky would be clear for this great solar event. There will be, however, a "special eclipse forecast issued Friday."

But man, in his ingenuity, set about months ago to defeat unfavorable weather conditions. The giant dirigible, Los Angeles, now at Lakehurst, N. J., will travel the aerial highways and make scientific observations and take photographs of the phenomenon.

So, too, will 12 DeHavilland army observation aeroplanes under the direction of Major William N. Hensley, Jr., commandant at Mitchell Field, L. I. The DeHaviuland planes will soar three miles above the earth if necessary, it was said. They will be equipped with numerous instruments for scientific and astronomical detection and with cameras as well.

From the ether, Major Hensley will send back to earth radio reports of the aeroplane eye view of the eclipse. This radio report will be relayed through station WJZ. The most favored localities to view the eclipse will be those in a pathway 70 miles wide which begins, roughly speaking, northwest of Duluth, Min., and stretches eastward to New York City, New Haven, Conn., Newport, R. I., and on into the Atlantic ocean.

New Haven Astronomer's Mecca.

New Haven, Conn., and its famous university, Yale, will be the mecca for astronomers and physicists, special trains will be run to New Haven for laymen and scientists of world wide fame already are there adjusting their sensitive instruments.

New Haven is the mecca because it will be directly in the full shadow of the eclipse and the scientists will have a maximum of two minutes in which to make their observations.

Harvard and Princeton universities, in cooperation, will attempt to fix the position of the moon at the time of the eclipse. The government has assigned a special aeroplane to make observations for Amherst college. There is in fact hardly a university or scientific body of any importance in the world but what will take some part in the event.

The scientists themselves do not know what to expect. New stars may be discovered; the Einstein theory of relativity may be definitely proven; the heat of the sun will be measured; photographs will be taken of the corona (the gaseous envelope surrounding the sun); magnetic currents will be studied and radio instruments will be closely watched for potential reactions.

Layman's Free Show.

The layman will have his own highly interesting free show. The most important manifestation for the layman will be the approach of the eclipse. The apparent shadow of night will come toward him out of the west at a speed of 60 miles a second. It will be an eerie sensation. There will be an awsome stillness. If the layman is in the country, he more than likely will hear roosters crow and dogs barking as at night.

The layman looking skyward must beware, the astronomers warn, of "sun blindness," smoked glasses should be worn. The layman will see the most marvelous of solar pyrotechnics, the corona. He will see "prominences," as the astronomers term them, shooting out from behind the moon. These "prominences" are flames or sun explosions, and they rise in the air anywhere from 20,000 to 100,000 miles, some astronomers say 500,000 miles.

Strange, and yet unexplained, "shadow bands," about two inches wide, may appear on the earth.

This will be the last opportunity for people now living to view an eclipse, for the next will be 220 years hence.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Strength in the stock market and the foreign exchange market were the principal features of interest in the financing district today. Reflecting the confident prediction of the chairman of Barclay's Bank in London that sterling would soon return to par, demand, sterling jumped 1⅛ cents to $4.79¾ in early trading, equalling its best record since 1915. In the stock market, United States Steel common continued the burst of strength with which it closed Wednesday's session and jumped to 126⅝, a new high since 1917 and exactly ten points below the record high price set in that movement. Rumors were current that the directors at their meeting next Tuesday would increase the rate of "quarterly special" dividend from the 50 cent disbursement inaugurated last year.

Oil stocks led the market in activity in the first two hours, most of the representative independent and Standard Oil shares continuing the movement which has been in progress since the turn of the year. Advances of from 25 to 42 cents a barrel in the prices of Tonkawa crude oil were made by the Marland company, while the Ohio company was reported to have marked up Ohio crude ten cents; Indiana Refining company advanced Kentucky crude 15 cents and Plymouth Oil advanced 25 cents.

175 Persons Attend Wednesday Meet in First M. E. Church

About 175 attended the supper in the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. After congregational singing, T. T. McCann led in prayer, following which Dr. Fowler gave a breif report of the Ministers' Evangelistic Institute held in Canton, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Prior of Pittsburgh, an evangelistic worker among the colored people of the south, rendered southern melodies.

The people were then directed to the auditorium where an hour's service of prayer and praise was enjoyed. In this service, Mr. Prior gave a splendid gospel message in address and song. He reported on the results and expressed the grateful appreciation of the work being done by the Methodist church among his people in the south.

Mr. Bush of Sebring, Ohio, a missionary of the Methodist church to South Africa, gave a 15-minute talk on the work in that country.

An expression of the people indicated a desire to have Mr. Prior come on some evening later with his wife and five children to give a full evening's program. The date will be announced later.

IRONDALE MAN'S HAND AMPUTATED

Charles Morgan, Irondale, this afternoon underwent an operation for the removal of a hand at the city hospital following injuries he sustained at the plant of the East Ohio sewer pipe plant near Irondale.

Morgan, it is reported, had his hand caught in machinery and it was crushed. Dr. Rice of Irondale, rendered medical aid.

The injured were brought to a local hospital.

alleged leader of the "Bootlegging Ring"; Harry J. Stearns, councilman and chairman of the police committee of Weehawken; Captain Charles McNamee, of the Hudson County Boulevard police, two police lieutenants and seven patrolmen.

The jurors looked wan and haggard.

When the foreman told the judge that the jurors were "hopelessly disagreed," the judge said:

"Hopelessly? Don't you think that if you went out again for a short time you could arrive at a verdict?"

"No, your honor! The foreman replied. We have disagreed for fifteen hours and we cannot reach a verdict."

"Then, under the circumstances, and in view of your sincerity, I am compelled to discharge you from further service during the balance of the term of court," the judge said.

Majority For Conviction.

It was understood that the jury stood 9 to 3 for conviction when dismissed. The first vote, it was said, was 8 to 4 for conviction. An hour later it switched to 9 to 3 and remained thus until they finally decided they were hopelessly deadlocked.

The defendants in the main seemed to accept the disagreement as they would have a verdict of acquittal. Every one of the ten police in uniform broke into smiles, as did Stearns.

Only Griffin, "mystery man" of the trial and characterized by state counsel as "king of the bootleggers," retained the calm that marked him throughout the trial. Not the slightest change of expression passed over his features when the disagreement was announced.

Turners' Case Not Called.

No witnesses were called by the defense. At the close of the testimony of the three members of the raiding party, Attorney Bennett made a motion that the case be dismissed for lack of evidence. In addition to this development, it was also announced today by Mayor Barnes that a check for $1,008.35 has been turned over to the widow of the late Percy Frost.

The check had been deposited with Mayor Barnes for the appearance of the owner on last Saturday morning, but it was not cashed.

HIGHS FACING HARD CONTESTS

Columbiana Here Friday; Play Carrollton Saturday.

Taking on Columbiana high, listed as one of the leading contenders for the county scholastic basketball championship, and Carrollton high, in successive nights, the local school quintet is facing a difficult week-end assignment on the court.

The Columbiana passers are carded to play the Orange and Black tomorrow night on the local high school court.

On the following night, Coach Zimmerman and his squad will be in action at Carrollton.

Columbiana recently defeated Salem high by the count of 36 to 35, and prior to that Salem had won from Lisbon.

The local crew is in excellent shape for the two games. They will wind up their week's workouts this evening.

Coach Zimmerman, according to present arrangements, will start his regular lineup in the clash tomorrow night. Dickey and Weekly will probably go to the forward positions, with Shea at center and Scholl and Pignatore on the guards.

AID SOCIETY RAISES FUNDS

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Christian church held a quilting party yesterday afternoon in the church annex, Main street.

The society, through its own efforts, has obtained sufficient funds to make a substantial payment into the church remodeling fund.

In connection with yesterday's quilting party, luncheon was served by Mrs. Walter Weldon and her aides, honoring Mrs. John Crawford and Mrs. Alec White, whose birthdays were observed recently.

The society has a big work schedule ahead, it was announced, and efforts will be made to enroll more members.

WILL ATTEND KAYE SERVICES

A delegation of members of the congregation of the First Christian church is planning to attend services tonight in the Second Church of Christ in the East End, East Liverpool.

A series of evangelistic services, in charge of Rev. Harry G. Kaye, of New Castle, Pa., is under way in the East Liverpool church.

If weather permits, approximately 100 members of the local church will attend the services, according to announcement by Rev. Thomas Shearer, pastor. In this event, a special street car which will leave Wooster's stop at 6:50, will convey the church members to East End.

In the event that weather conditions are unfavorable, the trip will be made in the regular cars.

COAL MERGER PLAN REPORTED

Coal mines of Jefferson county would be included in the merger of all big coal interests in southern Ohio which, it is reported, is contemplated by companies in the field.

The companies interested employ about 12,000 men. The principal advantage of a merger, from the standpoint of the operators, would be reduced overhead, coal men said.

Most of the mines in the district, which include Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont counties, are owned and controlled by Cleveland operators.

REVIVALS HERE DRAW CROWDS

Crowds which have packed the Second Presbyterian church to capacity for over a week, during the revival services under charge of Dr. Lawther, of Niles, bid fair to make this series of meeting the greatest in the history of the church, according to announcement by Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor.

Special selections by the Sunday school orchestra last night added to the effectiveness of the program which featured Dr. Lawther's sermon on the subject, "The Mis-spent Life."

Dr. Lawther, in his address, pointed out the effects of a mis-spent life on a man and his family, especially his children, and "from the divine side," Dr. Lawther said," God's hand of wrath must rest everlastingly on every sinner, home and loved ones, until he repents of his sin."

Tonight, Dr. Lawther will speak on the theme, "The Greatest Question of Life."

High school students will be guests of the evening, although the meeting will be open to all.

On Tuesday evening a capacity audience of women heard Dr. Lawther on a special sermon for the night. Men were in the majority last night. A crowd of young people, in similar proportion, is anticipated tonight, with a sermon especially prepared for them.

RADIO SERVICE AT M. P. CHURCH

The First Methodist Protestant church, Tenth and Main streets, will conduct "radio services" on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. R. Ernest Games, pastor, announced today.

The radio service will take the place of the customary morning program, and iwll enable members of the congregation, as well as citizens in general, to whom an invitation is extended, to hear Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., L. L. D., presiednt of the general conference of the Methodist Protestant church.

Necessary arrangements have been completed by church officials whereby all who desire may listen in on the specially prepared program, which will be broadcast from the Rhode Island Avenue Methodist Protestant church in Washington, D. C., at 11 o'clock, eastern standard time.

There will be special music in addition to Rev. Lewis' sermon.

O. N. O. CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEET

Mrs. Leonard Stroble was hostess to members of the O. N. O. club last evening at her home in Princeton avenue, East Liverpool.

A brief business session was followed by a social hour. Five hundred music and fancywork were diversions. The home was appropriately decorated.

At the close of the affair the hostess served a two-course luncheon. Mrs. Fred Lowery, who recently celebrated her birthday, was honored by the club members who presented her with a pocketbook. Mrs. Albert Deemer, of this city, was a guest.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Plan Chicken Supper

Plans have been perfected for the chicken supper which will be given by members of the Missionary society of the First United Presbyterian church on Friday evening, January 30. The supper, it was announced, will be given for the public.

Kidney Sufferers

Physicians have long known a remarkably effective remedy for weak bladder and overworked kidneys—a wonderful oil imported from Holland which heals and tones up the irritated organs and banishes frequent calls, tired feeling, backaches, rheumatic pains, etc., often within 24 hours. This remarkable oil has at last been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. It costs only 50c, and relief is guaranteed or money back. Ask these druggists. Herche's Drug Store, C. G. Anderson, J. C. Carnahan, Gamble's Drug Store.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Tells you there is danger ahead. A healthy bladder does not act at night.

J. H. Dorton, W. Graham, Va., says: "I had to get up seven or eight times at night for forty years. I thought it was my age. After taking Lithiated Buchu a short time, I am alright." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at all leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway's. adv.

Makes Electric Fountain.

Michael N. Vetree, of Melrose, Mass., has a novelty in the shape of an electric fountain in his garden. Being an electrician and general mechanic, he did all the work on it, using 2,000 working hours. It costs 15 cents an hour for the current while the fountain is in full play. There are 52 jets in the ornament.

Giant Tree Felled.

BUCYRUS — A giant sycamore tree was felled in the Normal Hill district of Crawford county. The tree was estimated to be 800 years old. It was 40 inches in diameter through the base, yielded logs 48 feet long and 3,000 feet of lumber.

FREE BOOKLET ON ETIQUETTE.

So many inquiries have been received by our Washington Bureau for information on Correct Form and Good Manners that the Bureau has compiled a booklet on "Everyday Etiquette."

This tells in a simple direct way how to meet the everyday problems of social conduct, giving the proper established form.

It tells about weddings, street etiquette, correct form for restaurant, hotel and theater, table etiquette, funerals christenings, dress, telephoning, and miscellaneous other matters.

If you are in doubt about the proper thing to do and say at any time send for this booklet. IT IS FREE. Enclose a two cent stamp to cover return postage.

Kidney Sufferers

Physicians have long known a remarkably effective remedy for weak bladder and overworked kidneys—a wonderful oil imported from Holland which heals and tones up the irritated organs and banishes frequent calls, tired feeling, backaches, rheumatic pains, etc., often within 24 hours. This remarkable oil has at last been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. It costs only 50c, and relief is guaranteed or money back. Ask these druggists. Herche's Drug Store, C. G. Anderson, J. C. Carnahan, Gamble's Drug Store.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Tells you there is danger ahead. A healthy bladder does not act at night.

J. H. Dorton, W. Graham, Va., says: "I had to get up seven or eight times at night for forty years. I thought it was my age. After taking Lithiated Buchu a short time, I am alright." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at all leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway's. adv.

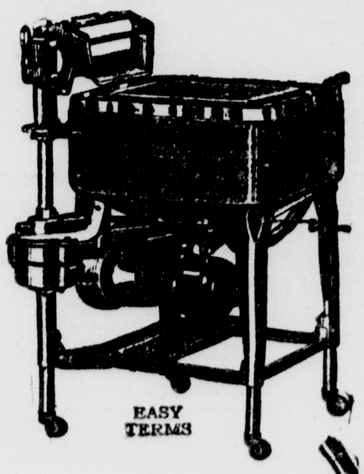
This Test has written washer history



It has been made by thousands and thousands of women. What they found amazed them.

They didn't realize there could be such a difference between washers.

Less than 600 days after this discovery was first made, the Maytag Gyrafoam Washer leaped into undisputed world leadership. There it stands today—unchallenged.

This is the test: wash with the Maytag—then do the same with any or all other washers. After that no doubt will remain as to which is the washer for you. The Maytag will be brought to your home any day you say. No obligation. Phone without delay.

Maytag Gyrafoam Washer WITH CAST ALUMINUM TUB

9 Outstanding Maytag Features

1—Washes faster. The Gyrafoam Principle creates a more highly energized, turbulent and continuously effective water action. No idle water.

2—Washes cleaner. The Gyrafoam Principle mixes the soap evenly through the water, and forces the super-cleansing, soapier washing solution through the meshes of the clothes. No idle suds.

6—Easily adjusted to your height, and height of tubs.

8—Tub cleans itself in 30 seconds.

The Thrift Decalog

Thrift Week should not be allowed to pass from memory without holding fast to this admirable set of thrift commandments given out by the National Thrift committee. It is worth learning by heart:

1—Work and earn.
2—Make a budget.
3—Record expenditures.
4—Carry life insurance.
5—Have a bank account.
6—Own your own home.
7—Make a will.
8—Pay bills promptly.
9—Invest in safe securities.
10—Share with others.

Some of these, perhaps, may be ignored by persons who are naturally thrifty and strong-minded. Anyone who instinctively weighs the merit of every purchase and saves his small change in preference to spending it may not need a formal budget or a detailed record of expenditures. It is even possible to imagine men so careful of the future that they will provide adequately for their families, against the chance of their own death, without life insurance policies.

But such providential strong-mindedness is rare. Nearly all of us, in order to get ahead and make the future secure for ourselves and those whose fortunes are bound up with ours, have to systematize the thing, establish more or less automatic machinery for it and place ourselves in positions where we are normally or legally bound to make definite, regular savings and investments.

Traffic in Pistols

Governor Silzer, of New Jersey, is trying to obtain passage of a bill in the state legislature drastically regulating the manufacture and sale of firearms.

Speaking of the pending measure, Police Commissioner Enwright, of New York city, says:

"Governor Silzer will do a great service not only to the state of New Jersey but to the state of New York and the country at large if he succeeds in this matter. New Jersey has been for years a market where desperate criminals operating in this city have obtained their pistols. Thousands of them have admitted they obtained their guns across the Hudson river."

A similar situation has existed in every other state which has honestly tried to disarm its own criminals. Always they have obtained them from other states less scrupulous about regulating firearms.

Clearly, the evil can never be corrected until there is uniform state legislation on the subject. And such legislation to be made fully effective will have to be supplemented by federal legislation along some such lines as those of the Copeland bill in the United States senate, to check the interstate traffic in firearms, especially the shipment of pistols by mail order houses.

Guns and Planes

President Coolidge sets his foot down firmly against the proposal to raise the elevation of guns of a lot of American battleships and thus increase their effective range. He says he takes this position in order to avoid doing anything to renew naval rivalry.

That may be just as well, in spite of jingo demands from many quarters for strengthening the American navy regardless of expense and diplomatic considerations. What statesmen in Great Britain or Japan may say about the technical right of this country in the matter may not be of great importance, but it is important to prevent, if possible, a general naval race like that of former years.

Besides, in the opinion of many good judges, naval guns are not going to cut much figure in future warfare. It may be no accident that, along with the announcement of the president's position on battleship guns, there appeared a statement from Washington that this country is now prepared to turn out war planes in larger numbers than any other country. If there is to be any more armament rivalry, it will probably be in the air.

Does war pay? Well, having won the German war at a cost of upwards $50,000,000,000, the United States is going to get $25,000,000 a year from Germany for several years.

Every time Italy feels like suppressing Dictator Mussolini he roars so tremendously that Italy forgets her grievances and applauds him for roaring.

To an honest man there are few pleasures so great as paying an honest debt.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE NITROGEN OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Atmospheric nitrogen fixation is the solution of the problem of supplying the universal demand for nitrogen which is so essential as the mainstay of the world's food supply and as a basic material for explosives. Germany now has a commanding lead in production, but in the next decade the United States will make great progress in the new industry. Also there will be important reductions in cost.

Such are some of the conclusions reached by Dr. J. M. Braham, of the United States fixed nitrogen laboratory, as a result of a survey of developments in the nitrogen problem which he made for the American Chemical society. All the leading nations have organized intensive research in this field, which has undergone an enormous expansion since the outbreak of the World war.

"The problem of meeting the rapidly increasing demand for nitrogen in combined form is now engaging the attention of all the important and progressive countries," says a statement, based on Dr. Braham's report, which has just been made public by the chemical society.

"The reason for this is that nitrogen is not only the heart of explosives, and hence of prime military importance, but it is also the key element in the fertilization of crops and consequently of utmost importance in meeting the food requirements of the world.

"A consideration of the principal sources of combined nitrogen suitable for both agricultural and military uses—namely, ammonia from coke and gas manufacture, Chilean nitrates and the products of atmospheric nitrogen fixation—leads to the conclusion that the latter must be largely relied upon to meet the constantly growing demands. While this method of supplying fixed nitrogen may not be the ultimate solution of the nitrogen problem it will in all probability be the main contributor of fixed nitrogen for several decades."

FIXATION NOT TWENTY YEARS OLD

This general conclusion, it is stated, has been reached by workers in this field both in the United States and abroad, and as a consequence nitrogen fixation processes are now and have been for several years the subject of intensive study and development in many countries, notably in Germany, France, Italy, England, Norway, Japan and the United States. The outstanding accomplishments in the nitrogen problem as in the nitrogen fixation processes and in the new materials which are being made available to agriculture by those processes.

It was less than 20 years ago when nitrogen fixation was first made possible on a commercial scale, yet at the present time air fixation processes produce almost half a million metric tons of nitrogen every year. This quantity is the equivalent in nitrogen of about 3,300,000 tons of Chilean nitrates and is nearly half of the world's output of inorganic nitrogen.

The part nitrogen fixation has played from 1913 to 1922 in meeting the world's nitrogen needs is striking, says the report. It is seen that in 1922 Germany produced about 75 per cent of the total nitrogen fixed, and met the greater part of her nitrogen requirements in that manner. The fixation in this country, on the other hand, was very small. The situation at present is essentially the same as in 1922.

In the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen there are three processes now in operation on a large scale. They are commonly known as the arc, the cyanamide and the direct synthetic ammonia processes. A fourth process is now in operation on a small scale in this country, producing sodium cyanide and hydrocyanic acid. Although ammonia can be produced readily from cyanide it does not at this time appear probable that this process will be able to compete with the direct synthetic ammonia process in the manufacture of ammonia.

By the arc process nitrogen becomes chemically combined with oxygen by passing air through an electric arc. It was put into operation in Norway in 1905, and was the first air fixation process to be developed commercially. The present annual rate of fixation by this process is stated at about 36,000 metric tons of nitrogen, and while there are arc process plants in six different countries, over 95 per cent of the total is produced in the two plants in Norway.

THE CYANAMIDE PROCESS

In the cyanamide process nitrogen is fixed by combination with finely powdered calcium carbide at relatively high temperature. It was developed in Germany shortly after the arc process was put into operation in Norway. It requires less than one-fourth the electric power of the arc process per ton of nitrogen fixed, and hence it has been more widely employed.

In 1913 there were cyanamide plants in operation in nine different countries, with a combined capacity of approximately 34,000 metric tons of nitrogen. Owing to the great demand for nitrogen during the war there was a tremendous increase in the production of cyanamide, and by 1918 there were in operation or under construction 36 plants, with an aggregate capacity of nearly 325,000 tons of nitrogen.

One of the plants under construction was the United States nitrate plant No. 2, at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, with a capacity of 40,000 tons of nitrogen per year, making it the largest cyanamide plant in the world. A number of the war-time cyanamide plants have been scrapped, and other have remained idle, as in the case of the one at Muscle Shoals. The present annual rate of fixation by this process is about 140,000 metric tons. This is a little more than four times the production for 1913, but represents less than half the capacity of existing plants.

"The outstanding developments in nitrogen fixation at present," says the announcement relative to Dr. Braham's survey, "are in the synthetic ammonia process, and it is in this direction that a reduction in the cost of fixed nitrogen can be confidently expected. This process, which consists in forming ammonia directly from the elements under conditions of high pressure and relatively high temperature in the presence of a catalyst, was first operated on a commercial scale in 1913 in Germany.

"The urgent need for nitrogen by Germany during the World war led to the construction of two huge fixation plants, one at Oppau, with a capacity of 100,000 metric tons of nitrogen per year, and one at Morseburg, with a 200,000-ton capacity. The annual out put of these two plants is nearly equivalent in nitrogen to that produced in Chile at the present time."

This process was not used on a commercial scale outside of Germany during the war, but experiments were begun in a number of other countries toward the close of the war period. Three synthetic ammonia plants are now in operation in the United States and 11 in other countries, with a combined capacity of about 320,000 tons. Several plants are under construction.

"It appears probable," says the report, "that ammonia can be produced in this country in a large installation at five to six cents per pound. This is much below the present market level for by-product ammonia."

DINNER STORIES

The boy hurried home to his father with an announcement:

"Me and Poe Peck had a fight today."

The father nodded gravely.

"Mr. Peck had already called to see me about it."

The little boy's face brightened.

"Gee, pop! I hope you made out 's well's I did!"

Two clubmen were discussing the relative merits of their wives, when one of them remarked:

"My wife looks after me, I can assure you. Why, she takes off my boots for me in the evening."

"Ah! When you come home from the club?" suggested the other.

"No—when I want to go there."

"First time you ever milked a cow, eh?" asked uncle one morning. "Well, you do it 100 per cent better than most city folks do."

"It seems to come natural, somehow," explained the city youth. "I have had a good deal of practice with a fountain pen."

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By DAVID M. CHURCH.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Let all golfers gather round and listen to this message of joy.

An English scientist has invented a golf ball that will neither slice nor hook, no matter what cut is given it by the driver.

This achievement is the result of a long series of experiments, which have shown that there is a startling difference between the smooth ball and the deeply dimpled ball. The smooth ball is inclined to slice, while the dimpled ball is inclined to pull.

This contrast led to the inference by the scientist that a ball with a particular depth of dimple would neither slice nor pull. A ball with a very shallow dimple was manufactured, and this has been found to fly straight, no matter what spin is given it by the driver.

Let no golfer imagine, however, that his troubles are over, for there is a fly in the ointment. This new ball, which always takes the straight road, has a drawback that is nearly fatal—it has a tendency erthward. It will not soar; it has long since been discovered that the length of a drive depends a great deal on the soaring tendencies of the well-hit ball.

Professionals, however, state that the non-slicing, non-hooking ball, may be the best ball for some golfers. If the ground is hard and fast it may get a run and travel nearly as far as the ball that soars.

It is probable that the future golfer will eventually play three different balls—one which he will use when he finds himself hooking, one which he is slicing and one which will go straight, but will not soar.

This new invention has not yet been marketed.

British golf authorities are unmoved by the news from the United States that the United States Golf association intends to introduce a ball differing in size and weight from the present standard.

The present official ball is 1.62 ounces in weight, with a diameter of 1.62 inches. It is understood that the United States Golf association purposes to endorse a ball 1.68 inches in diameter and slightly lower in weight.

The British golf authorities held a secret session and considered this matter, but refused to fall in line with the United States Golf association. Evidently, they are a little peeved because, they state, they were not consulted by the United States Golf association on the matter, and their advice was not asked. They fear that the change will make a considerable difference in international play, and will hamper international tournaments and matches. However, since there are far more American golfers who come to England to compete than there are English golfers who go to the United States, the British golf authorities are convinced that any hardship will bear chiefly on the Americans.

English golf ball manufacturers are somewhat aroused over the proposed change, however, for it would necessitate their manufacturing two entirely different balls—one for use in the United States and one for use in the England. Inasmuch as nearly a million dollars' worth of golf balls are exported from England to the United States each year, any change in the size would mean an increase in the cost of English golf balls in the United States.

English golfers are having a hard winter. Rain has fallen in such quantities that many of the best courses in the vicinity of London have been closed while others are so heavy that there is but little satisfaction in playing them. Strangely enough, one of the best winter courses in London has recently been given over to the public. This is the Prince's club, at Mitcham, formerly an exclusive club enjoyed by England's premier statesman. Sir Harry Mallaby Dealy came into possession of the club and has made it into a public course. Its subsurface is sponge-like, and rain disappears through the turf almost as quickly as it falls; and one is amazed to find that his ball still gets a run on this course when other courses in the vicinity are closed or barely playable.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 22.—We went out to "Tall Timbers," Mike's country place, named appropriately by his friend Irvin Cobb, this morning. And I had a romp with my namesake, a Chesapeake hunting dog. His running mate is named Cobb. But they call him "Ivory."

Fine animals, but Ajax has won my heart. He is a five-year-old Belgian police dog who stays at the Houston home. Ajax tried to dispute the right of way with an automobile two months ago and has a limp, but it has not stilled his joyous spirit.

Every once in a while, for no reason at all, Ajax begins a circle of neighboring estates barking as though he had treed a panther. It is a deep throated ferocious bark, but it only means that Ajax wants to tell the world he is still alive and kicking.

It is a treat to see Ajax at play with a two months old water spaniel puppy. The puppy cuffs him around, nips at his ears and otherwise bullies him, but Ajax permits him like the gentleman he is. Now and then he picks the puppy up tenderly and shakes him.

Then he backs away, eyes him quizzically as much as to say: "Take that, you little fat rascal, and don't get fresh with your elders." Upon rare occasions Ajax is permitted to drowze in front of the open hearth, but when his master says quietly, "You've been here long enough!" Ajax walks out obediently but crestfallen.

During one sleepless night I was impressed more than ever with the fidelity of the dog by a habit of Ajax's. We were on a sleeping porch. Three times Ajax came quietly into the room, went to his master's bed and in the moonlight I could see him departing with a slowly wagging tail as though to say, "All's well!"

As I write Ajax is stretched alongside my chair. Now and then there is a faint growl and a twitching of his body—the dream of the chase. How devoted our dogs are. How tragic it is to lose them!

There is a famous dog in Houston of 25 years ago. He was a fox terrier named Sport. He was the member of a hunting expedition and after the hunt his picture appeared on first pages all over the country. The hunters treed a panther, but his master was a young boy who had been taken along. Sport sensed danger, and while cowboys were winding up their lariats to rope the varmint Sport dashed up the tree to a limb below—made a jump for the panther's belly and they fell to the ravine, the panther's sharp claws tearing him to shreds. Sport was miraculously saved by a great surgeon and lived to old age in the comfort that was his due.

Tonight we are going down to Eagle Lake in Louisiana to shoot ducks. That is other members of the party are to do the shooting. I know as little about hunting as a flea does about geometry. I once shot a rabbit and saw it crawl away in the brush mortally wounded to die. The thought of it still gives me a twinge. Herein, I suppose, I am a real tenderfoot.

Bassett Blakely phoned this afternoon to ask me to join him at the Houston club. I asked him what the program was. "Just a crowd down here," he said, "and we'll sit around, talk big and lie." I will be much more accomplished at this than at hunting.

Houston has a very superior traffic system. Not only do they flash lights at street corners for the motorists, but they ring bells to warn pedestrians. Most of our cities do not give pedestrians a thought—except to furnish ambulances.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

TROTZKY'S GOODBYE?

If reports are accurate Trotzky has fallen from power. He is said to acquiesce meekly in the decision of his political enemies, stripping him of his dignites as head of the Russan army.

If that's true there s something the matter with Trotzky's mental fighting apparatus. He had his chance when he had the Red army under his orders and Lenin, dying, left the whole of Russia to any man able to seize the power.

Trotzky seems to lack the power of a Danton, Robespierre or Marat. Those men knew how to fight for what they thought was theirs, and how to die cheerfully.

HE SOLD HIS POTATOES

Robert Reidt, who lives on Long Island, and is a Seventh Day Adventist, has sold his winter potatoes, his household furniture and all his property. He believes that the world is to end on February 6.

Mrs. Rowen, prophet, fixed that date. About February 7 Mr. Reidt will wish he had his winter potatoes back.

What this eccentric gentleman does, as an individual, was done formerly on a big scale. At the beginning of the year 1000 many got rid of their property, put on white robes and walked to the top of some hill, ready to be taken up to heaven.

You can imagine how they felt when they marched down again, and found others occupying their houses.

THE SUN'S RADIUM

Many experiments and observations will be made on Saturday when the sun light is shut out for a little while. One group of scientists will look for coronium, a new element, existing in the sun's corona. The outer rim of the corona will be visible, and give the physicists a good chance.

The corona is visible only during an eclipse.

Other scientists will study the earth's magnetic currents, as effected by the eclipse. Every ship's captain will notice that the eclipse has an effect on the compass. Science doesn't know why.

Possibly some scientist will get from the eclipse the most important information of all, which has to do with the amount of radium in the sun.

The sun's length of life and the lives of this and other planets depend on the sun's radio-active force. If the sun were merely burning up, ah was once supposed, the life of human beings here might be cut down to a few million years, whereas it will probably go on for several hundred million years, aided by radium energy in the sun.

THE GUNS STAY DOWN

It seems finally decided that the guns of our battleships must not be elevated. To elevate them would increase their range, making them more valuable in war. But Europe doesn't want us to be too strong.

Experts say our guns, in range, are inferior to British guns, and we have the legal right to change that. But we yield to European pressure.

That's part of past history.

Now the head of the navy might give the country information on a statement published by English papers. The British have arranged their ships so that they can take in water ballast on one side or the other, and thus by making the ship tip over, raise the guns to the desired elevation and increase their range without actually changing the mechanical adjustment of the guns.

That seems to be highly ingenious, but, of course, we can't do it in this country, because probably somebody in Europe would object.

Judge Runyon, of the federal court, says he would like to have some of the real big bootleggers punished instead of the little men that are constantly brought into court. Too much time, he thinks, is wasted on minor offenders.

He is right, but punishing big men is not the usual United States plan. In this country if you get caught it seems more dangerous to steal an overcoat than it does to steal a government oil reserve.

A great surety company advertises $100,000 reward for the return of a million dollars' worth of bonds stolen. It says it will pay 10 per cent of the value of an bond stolen, whether it is obliged to make good insurance on such bond.

That's interesting news to bond bandits and hold-up men. It stabilizes their industry. It guarantees them $100,000 of good, safe cash on a million dollar bond robbery. But what about the laws regarding compounding felony.

In connection with that Paris agreement, giving us a little of the reparations money to pay for our foolishness in keeping soldiers in Germany after the war, the United States is sewed up and tied up and mixed up more or less in the whole European complications.

You are assured by statesmen that negotiated the business, in violation of the people's will expressed twice at the polls, that we are not legally bound, only morally bound.

"There are certain moral obligations, perhaps." That's what they tell you. And moral obligation will make an excellent peg on which to hang Europe's refusal to pay the billions she owes us later.

Make a memorandum of that.

The Thrift Decalog

Thrift Week should not be allowed to pass from memory without holding fast to this admirable set of thrift commandments given out by the National Thrift committee. It is worth learning by heart:

1—Work and earn.
2—Make a budget.
3—Record expenditures.
4—Carry life insurance.
5—Have a bank account.
6—Own your own home.
7—Make a will.
8—Pay bills promptly.
9—Invest in safe securities.
10—Share with others.

Some of these, perhaps, may be ignored by persons who are naturally thrifty and strong-minded. Anyone who instinctively weighs the merit of every purchase and saves his small change in preference to spending it may not need a formal budget or a detailed record of expenditures. It is even possible to imagine men so careful of the future that they will provide adequately for their families, against the chance of their own death, without life insurance policies.

But such providential strong-mindedness is rare. Nearly all of us, in order to get ahead and make the future secure for ourselves and those whose fortunes are bound up with ours, have to systematize the thing, establish more or less automatic machinery for it and place ourselves in positions where we are normally or legally bound to make definite, regular savings and investments.

Traffic in Pistols

Governor Silzer, of New Jersey, is trying to obtain passage of a bill in the state legislature drastically regulating the manufacture and sale of firearms.

Speaking of the pending measure, Police Commissioner Enwright, of New York city, says:

"Governor Silzer will do a great service not only to the state of New Jersey but to the state of New York and the country at large if he succeeds in this matter. New Jersey has been for years a market where desperate criminals operating in this city have obtained their pistols. Thousands of them have admitted they obtained their guns across the Hudson river."

A similar situation has existed in every other state which has honestly tried to disarm its own criminals. Always they have obtained them from other states less scrupulous about regulating firearms.

Clearly, the evil can never be corrected until there is uniform state legislation on the subject. And such legislation to be made fully effective will have to be supplemented by federal legislation along some such lines as those of the Copeland bill in the United States senate, to check the interstate traffic in firearms, especially the shipment of pistols by mail order houses.

Guns and Planes

President Coolidge sets his foot down firmly against the proposal to raise the elevation of guns of a lot of American battleships and thus increase their effective range. He says he takes this position in order to avoid doing anything to renew naval rivalry.

That may be just as well, in spite of jingo demands from many quarters for strengthening the American navy regardless of expense and diplomatic considerations. What statesmen in Great Britain or Japan may say about the technical right of this country in the matter may not be of great importance, but it is important to prevent, if possible, a general naval race like that of former years.

Besides, in the opinion of many good judges, naval guns are not going to cut much figure in future warfare. It may be no accident that, along with the announcement of the president's position on battleship guns, there appeared a statement from Washington that this country is now prepared to turn out war planes in larger numbers than any other country. If there is to be any more armament rivalry, it will probably be in the air.

Does war pay? Well, having won the German war at a cost of upwards $50,000,000,000, the United States is going to get $25,000,000 a year from Germany for several years.

Every time Italy feels like suppressing Dictator Mussolini he roars so tremendously that Italy forgets her grievances and applauds him for roaring.

To an honest man there are few pleasures so great as paying an honest debt.

THE NITROGEN OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Atmospheric nitrogen fixation is the solution of the problem of supplying the universal demand for nitrogen which is so essential as the mainstay of the world's food supply and as a basic material for explosives. Germany now has a commanding lead in production, but in the next decade the United States will make great progress in the new industry. Also there will be important reductions in cost.

Such are some of the conclusions reached by Dr. J. M. Braham, of the United States fixed nitrogen laboratory, as a result of a survey of developments in the nitrogen problem which he made for the American Chemical society. All the leading nations have organized intensive research in this field, which has undergone an enormous expansion since the outbreak of the World war.

"The problem of meeting the rapidly increasing demand for nitrogen in combined form is now engaging the attention of all the important and progressive countries," says a statement, based on Dr. Braham's report, which has just been made public by the chemical society.

"The reason for this is that nitrogen is not only the heart of explosives, and hence of prime military importance, but it is also the key element in the fertilization of crops and consequently of utmost importance in meeting the food requirements of the world.

"A consideration of the principal sources of combined nitrogen suitable for both agricultural and military uses—namely, ammonia from coke and gas manufacture, Chilean nitrates and the products of atmospheric nitrogen fixation—leads to the conclusion that the latter must be largely relied upon to meet the constantly growing demands. While this method of supplying fixed nitrogen may not be the ultimate solution of the nitrogen problem it will in all probability be the main contributor of fixed nitrogen for several decades."

FIXATION NOT TWENTY YEARS OLD

This general conclusion, it is stated, has been reached by workers in this field both in the United States and abroad, and as a consequence nitrogen fixation processes are now and have been for several years the subject of intensive study and development in many countries, notably in Germany, France, Italy, England, Norway, Japan and the United States. The outstanding accomplishments in the nitrogen problem as in the nitrogen fixation processes and in the new materials which are being made available to agriculture by those processes.

It was less than 20 years ago when nitrogen fixation was first made possible on a commercial scale, yet at the present time air fixation processes produce almost half a million metric tons of nitrogen every year. This quantity is the equivalent in nitrogen of about 3,300,000 tons of Chilean nitrates and is nearly half of the world's output of inorganic nitrogen.

The part nitrogen fixation has played from 1913 to 1922 in meeting the world's nitrogen needs is striking, says the report. It is seen that in 1922 Germany produced about 75 per cent of the total nitrogen fixed, and met the greater part of her nitrogen requirements in that manner. The fixation in this country, on the other hand, was very small. The situation at present is essentially the same as in 1922.

In the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen there are three processes now in operation on a large scale. They are commonly known as the arc, the cyanamide and the direct synthetic ammonia processes. A fourth process is now in operation on a small scale in this country, producing sodium cyanide and hydrocyanic acid. Although ammonia can be produced readily from cyanide it does not at this time appear probable that this process will be able to compete with the direct synthetic ammonia process in the manufacture of ammonia.

By the arc process nitrogen becomes chemically combined with oxygen by passing air through an electric arc. It was put into operation in Norway in 1905, and was the first air fixation process to be developed commercially. The present annual rate of fixation by this process is stated at about 36,000 metric tons of nitrogen, and while there are arc process plants in six different countries, over 95 per cent of the total is produced in the two plants in Norway.

THE CYANAMIDE PROCESS

In the cyanamide process nitrogen is fixed by combination with finely powdered calcium carbide at relatively high temperature. It was developed in Germany shortly after the arc process was put into operation in Norway. It requires less than one-fourth the electric power of the arc process per ton of nitrogen fixed, and hence it has been more widely employed.

In 1913 there were cyanamide plants in operation in nine different countries, with a combined capacity of approximately 34,000 metric tons of nitrogen. Owing to the great demand for nitrogen during the war there was a tremendous increase in the production of cyanamide, and by 1918 there were in operation or under construction 36 plants, with an aggregate capacity of nearly 325,000 tons of nitrogen.

One of the plants under construction was the United States nitrate plant No. 2, at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, with a capacity of 40,000 tons of nitrogen per year, making it the largest cyanamide plant in the world. A number of the war-time cyanamide plants have been scrapped, and other have remained idle, as in the case of the one at Muscle Shoals. The present annual rate of fixation by this process is about 140,000 metric tons. This is a little more than four times the production for 1913, but represents less than half the capacity of existing plants.

"The outstanding developments in nitrogen fixation at present," says the announcement relative to Dr. Braham's survey, "are in the synthetic ammonia process, and it is in this direction that a reduction in the cost of fixed nitrogen can be confidently expected. This process, which consists in forming ammonia directly from the elements under conditions of high pressure and relatively high temperature in the presence of a catalyst, was first operated on a commercial scale in 1913 in Germany.

"The urgent need for nitrogen by Germany during the World war led to the construction of two huge fixation plants, one at Oppau, with a capacity of 100,000 metric tons of nitrogen per year, and one at Morseburg, with a 200,000-ton capacity. The annual out put of these two plants is nearly equivalent in nitrogen to that produced in Chile at the present time."

This process was not used on a commercial scale outside of Germany during the war, but experiments were begun in a number of other countries toward the close of the war period. Three synthetic ammonia plants are now in operation in the United States and 11 in other countries, with a combined capacity of about 320,000 tons. Several plants are under construction.

"It appears probable," says the report, "that ammonia can be produced in this country in a large installation for five to six cents per pound. This is much below the present market level for by-product ammonia."

DINNER STORIES

The boy hurried home to his father with an announcement:

"Me and Poe Peck had a fight today."

The father nodded gravely.

"Mr. Peck had already called to see me about it."

The little boy's face brightened.

"Gee, pop! I hope you made out as well as I did!"

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By DAVID M. CHURCH.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Let all golfers gather round and listen to this message of joy.

An English scientist has invented a golf ball that will neither slice nor hook, no matter what cut is given it by the driver.

This achievement is the result of a long series of experiments, which have shown that there is a startling difference between the smooth ball and the deeply dimpled ball. The smooth ball is inclined to slice, while the dimpled ball is inclined to pull.

This contrast led to the inference by the scientist that a ball with a particular depth of dimple would neither slice nor pull. A ball with a very shallow dimple was manufactured, and this has been found to fly straight, no matter what spin is given it by the driver.

Let no golfer imagine, however, that his troubles are over, for there is a fly in the ointment. This new ball, which always takes the straight road, has a drawback that is nearly fatal—it has a tendency erthward. It will not soar; it has long since been discovered that the length of a drive depends a great deal on the soaring tendencies of the well-hit ball.

Professionals, however, state that the non-slicing, non-hooking ball, may be the best ball for some golfers. If the ground is hard and fast it may get a run and travel nearly as far as the ball that soars.

It is probable that the future golfer will eventually play three different balls—one which he will use when he finds himself hooking, one which he is slicing and one which will go straight, but will not soar.

This new invention has not yet been marketed.

British golf authorities are unmoved by the news from the United States that the United States Golf association intends to introduce a ball differing in size and weight from the present standard.

The present official ball is 1.62 ounces in weight, with a diameter of 1.62 inches. It is understood that the United States Golf association purposes to endorse a ball 1.68 inches in diameter and slightly lower in weight.

The British golf authorities held a secret session and considered this matter, but refused to fall in line with the United States Golf association. Evidently, they are a little peeved because, they state, they were not consulted by the United States Golf association on the matter, and their advice was not asked. They fear that the change will make a considerable difference in international play, and will hamper international tournaments and matches. However, since there are far more American golfers who come to England to compete than there are English golfers who go to the United States, the British golf authorities are convinced that any hardship will bear chiefly on the Americans.

English golf ball manufacturers are somewhat aroused over the proposed change, however, for it would necessitate their manufacturing two entirely different balls—one for use in the United States and one for use in the England. Inasmuch as nearly a million dollars' worth of golf balls are exported from England to the United States each year, any change in the size would mean an increase in the cost of English golf balls in the United States.

English golfers are having a hard winter. Rain has fallen in such quantities that many of the best courses in the vicinity of London have been closed while others are so heavy that there is but little satisfaction in playing them. Strangely enough, one of the best winter courses in London has recently been given over to the public. This is the Prince's club, at Mitcham, formerly an exclusive club enjoyed by England's premier statesman. Sir Harry Mallaby Dealy came into possession of the club and has made it into a public course. Its subsurface is sponge-like, and rain disappears through the turf almost as quickly as it falls; and one is amazed to find that his ball still gets a run on this course when other courses in the vicinity are closed or barely playable.

"My wife looks after me, I can assure you. Why, she takes off my boots for me in the evening."

"Ah! When you come home from the club?" suggested the other.

"No—when I want to go there."

"First time you ever milked a cow, eh?" asked uncle one morning. "Well, you do it 100 per cent better than most city folks do."

"It seems to come natural, somehow," explained the city youth. "I have had a good deal of practice with a fountain pen."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 22.—We went out to "Tall Timbers," Mike's country place, named appropriately by his friend Irvin Cobb, this morning. And I had a romp with my namesake, a Chesapeake hunting dog. His running mate is named Cobb. But they call him "Ivory."

Fine animals, but Ajax has won my heart. He is a five-year-old Belgian police dog who stays at the Houston home. Ajax tried to dispute the right of way with an automobile two months ago and has a limp, but it has not stilled his joyous spirit.

Every once in a while, for no reason at all, Ajax begins a circle of neighboring estates barking as though he had treed a panther. It is a deep throated ferocious bark, but it only means that Ajax wants to tell the world he is still alive and kicking.

It is a treat to see Ajax at play with a two months old water spaniel puppy. The puppy cuffs him around, nips at his ears and otherwise bullies him, but Ajax permits him like the gentleman he is. Now and then he picks the puppy up tenderly and shakes him.

Then he backs away, eyes him quizzically as much as to say: "Take that, you little fat rascal, and don't get fresh with your elders." Upon rare occasions Ajax is permitted to drowze in front of the open hearth, but when his master says quietly, "You've been here long enough!" Ajax walks out obediently but crestfallen.

During one sleepless night I was impressed more than ever with the fidelity of the dog by a habit of Ajax's. We were on a sleeping porch. Three times Ajax came quietly into the room, went to his master's bed and in the moonlight I could see him departing with a slowly wagging tail as though to say, "All's well!"

As I write Ajax is stretched alongside my chair. Now and then there is a faint growl and a twitching of his body—the dream of the chase. How devoted our dogs are. How tragic it is to lose them!

There is a famous dog in Houston of 25 years ago. He was a fox terrier named Sport. He was the member of a hunting expedition and after the hunt his picture appeared on first pages all over the country. The hunters treed a panther, but his master was a young boy who had been taken along. Sport sensed danger, and while cowboys were winding up their lariats to rope the varmint Sport dashed up the tree to a limb below—made a jump for the panther's belly and they fell to the ravine, the panther's sharp claws tearing him to shreds. Sport was miraculously saved by a great surgeon and lived to old age in the comfort that was his due.

Tonight we are going down to Eagle Lake in Louisiana to shoot ducks. That is other members of the party are to do the shooting. I know as little about hunting as a flea does about geometry. I once shot a rabbit and saw it crawl away in the brush mortally wounded to die. The thought of it still gives me a twinge. Herein, I suppose, I am a real tenderfoot.

Bassett Blakely phoned this afternoon to ask me to join him at the Houston club. I asked him what the program was. "Just a crowd down here," he said, "and we'll sit around, talk big and lie." I will be much more accomplished at this than at hunting.

Houston has a very superior traffic system. Not only do they flash lights at street corners for the motorists, but they ring bells to warn pedestrians. Most of our cities do not give pedestrians a thought—except to furnish ambulances.

TROTZKY'S GOODBYE?

If reports are accurate Trotzky has fallen from power. He is said to acquiesce meekly in the decision of his political enemies, stripping him of his dignites as head of the Russan army.

If that's true there is something the matter with Trotzky's mental fighting apparatus. He had his chance when he had the Red army under his orders and Lenin, dying, left the whole of Russia to any man able to seize the power.

Trotzky seems to lack the power of a Danton, Robespierre or Marat. Those men knew how to fight for what they thought was theirs, and how to die cheerfully.

HE SOLD HIS POTATOES

Robert Reidt, who lives on Long Island, and is a Seventh Day Adventist, has sold his winter potatoes, his household furniture and all his property. He believes that the world is to end on February 6.

Mrs. Rowen, prophet, fixed that date. About February 7 Mr. Reidt will wish he had his winter potatoes back.

What this eccentric gentleman does, as an individual, was done formerly on a big scale. At the beginning of the year 1000 many got rid of their property, put on white robes and walked to the top of some hill, ready to be taken up to heaven.

You can imagine how they felt when they marched down again, and found others occupying their houses.

THE SUN'S RADIUM

Many experiments and observations will be made on Saturday when the sun light is shut out for a little while. One group of scientists will look for coronium, a new element, existing in the sun's corona. The outer rim of the corona will be visible, and give the physicists a good change.

The corona is visible only during an eclipse.

Other scientists will study the earth's magnetic currents, as effected by the eclipse. Every ship's captain will notice that the eclipse has an effect on the compass. Science doesn't know why.

Possibly some scientist will get from the eclipse the most important information of all, which has to do with the amount of radium in the sun.

The sun's length of life and the lives of this and other planets depend on the sun's radio-active force. If the sun were merely burning up, ah was once supposed, the life of human beings here might be cut down to a few million years, whereas it will probably go on for several hundred million years, aided by radium energy in the sun.

THE GUNS STAY DOWN

It seems finally decided that the guns of our battleships must not be elevated. To elevate them would increase their range, making them more valuable in war. But Europe doesn't want us to be too strong.

Experts say our guns, in range, are inferior to British guns, and we have the legal right to change that. But we yield to European pressure.

That's part of past history.

Now the head of the navy might give the country information on a statement published by English papers. The British have arranged their ships so that they can take in water ballast on one side or the other, and thus by making the ship tip over, raise the guns to the desired elevation and increase their range without actually changing the mechanical adjustment of the guns.

That seems to be highly ingenious, but, of course, we can't do it in this country, because probably somebody in Europe would object.

Judge Runyon, of the federal court, says he would like to have some of the real big bootleggers punished instead of the little men that are constantly brought into court. Too much time, he thinks, is wasted on minor offenders.

He is right, but punishing big men is not the usual United States plan. In this country if you get caught it seems more dangerous to steal an overcoat than it does to steal a government oil reserve.

A great surety company advertises $100,000 reward for the return of a million dollars' worth of bonds stolen. It says it will pay 10 per cent of the value of an bond stolen, whether it is obliged to make good insurance on such bond.

That's interesting news to bond bandits and hold-up men. It stabilizes their industry. It guarantees them $100,000 of good, safe cash on a million dollar bond robbery. But what about the laws regarding compounding felony.

In connection with that Paris agreement, giving us a little of the reparations money to pay for our foolishness in keeping soldiers in Germany after the war, the United States is sewed up and tied up and mixed up more or less in the whole European complications.

You are assured by statesmen that negotiated the business, in violation of the people's will expressed twice at the polls, that we are not legally bound only morally bound.

"There are certain moral obligations, perhaps." That's what they tell you. And moral obligation will make an excellent peg on which to hang Europe's refusal to pay the billions she owes us later.

Make a memorandum of that.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Rothwell Guest At W. C. T. U. Meeting In M. E. Church Here

At the Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal parlors, Mrs. Kittie Rothwell, of East Palestine, a guest, gave a report on the national convention held in Chicago. Mrs. Rothwell is county president. The following program was featured:

Song—"Coronation."
Responsivle reading—146th Psalm.
Song—"Unfurl the Temperance Banner. The flag was saluted.
Reading—18th Amendment.
Responsive reading—Facts relating to the Volstead Law.
Reading—"T. M. T. Bomb" by Richard P. Hobson—Mrs. M. J. Moore.
Responsive reading—"Value of Prohibition."
Reading—"Lincoln's Appeal for Law"—Mrs. Collins.
Thank offering.
Song—"Work for Enforcement.
Responsive reading—Written by Roy A. Hays.
Song—"America."

Mrs. Harold Benty Surprised.

Surprising Mrs. Harold Benty, a recent bride, who will be remembered as Miss Pansy Watson, a group of friends met at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Watson of Seventh street, where an evening of music and games was enjoyed. The guests included members of the Sunday school class taught by Miss Sara Hargreaves. A dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Benty, assisted by her sister, Miss Hannah Watson, and Miss Helen Pyles. Covers were arranged for Misses Sara Hargreaves, Edna Vondran, Maud Gardner, Audrey Bowery, Helen Ankrim, Helen Pyles, Bernice Williams, Mildred Walker, Dorothy Dawson, Hannah Watson, Mrs. Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Harold Benty.

The honor guest was presented with salad forks.

Miss Jean Hassel Hostess

In her home on Lisbon street Tuesday evening, Miss Jean Hassel delightfully entertained the members of the Busy Half Dozen club. The social hours were spent with games, dancing, radio and candy making. A four-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother. Covers were arranged for Misses Geraldine Manor, Margaret Williams, Threcea King, Mary Ester Smith, Ruth Anthony and Jean Hassel.

Miss Margaret Anthony was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks in the home of Miss Ruth Anthony of West Ninth street.

Danceland Academy Party

A series of Saturday evening dancing parties will be held in Danceland Academy, Fifth street, under the direction of William Curran and his dancing Academy. Beginning with January 24, through the courtesy of the Elks' dance committee, Billy Moore and his West Virginians will have charge of the musical program. Dancing will continue from 8 until 11:55. Billy Moore was one of the original Famous Players. They will play Friday evening for the Elks' club.

There will be no dance at Danceland Monday evening, due to the fact that the original Everett Merrill orchestra has been booked to play in the Olympic theatre at Steubenville, O., next week.

Country Club Bridge Party.

Seven tables of bridge were in progress at the weekly card party given in the East Liverpool Country club yesterday afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Bough and Mrs. J. C. Kelly. Candy was served during the social hours. The trophy for the highest score was awarded Mrs. Herbert A. Smith.

Next Wednesday's hostesses will be Mrs. Homer J. Taylor and Mrs. F. B. Lawrence.

Friday evening the semi-monthly card party will be held, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Betz and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Rinehart on the committee.

Birthday Anniversary Observed.

Celebrating the seventh birthday anniversary of little Miss Hilda Barnhouse of Bradshaw avenue, a number of little folks delightfully surprised her Wednesday evening. The social hours were spent with juvenile games and music, after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Charles Barnhouse, assisted by Mrs. R. D. Perrin. Covers were arranged for Vivian Kinsey, Grace Barnhouse, Jean Bradfield, Virginia Derrington, Dorothy Sayre, Jean Shaw, Dorothy Baxter, June Heddleston, Hilda Barnhouse, George Althers, Herman Kinsey, Richard Hall, Dana Laughlin, John Bradfield and Bernard Barnhouse. A large birthday cake with lighted candles formed the center piece for the table.

The honor guest received numerous presents.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The forty-eighth anniversary of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, was observed yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. Fourteen of the charter members of the society are living. Two of them, Mrs. Flora Pomeroy and Mrs. John W. Hall, were present at the meeting.

Following the roll call from 1877, Dr. D. W. MacLeod made an address. At his suggestion a committee will be appointed to arrange for observance of the fiftieth anniversary.

Mrs. John Young read a paper on China, which had been prepared by Mrs. Martha Connell. Dr. MacLeod urged interest in the foreign element and suggested financial aid for the Italian mission at Steubenville.

The election of officers, which was to have taken place yesterday, was postponed until the February meeting.

Club Meeting Postponed.

On account of the death of Newton Birch of Prospect street, the meeting of the Revelliers' club, which was to have been held in the home of Mrs. Carl Irvin of St. Clair avenue tonight, has been indefinitely postponed.

Jolly Fellows' Club Dance.

Fox trot—Prince of Wales.
Fox trot—Us Girls Must Have Fun.
Two step—Me and My Boy Friend.
Fox trot—Too Tired.
Fox trot—Blue Eyed Sally.
Waltz—West of the Great Divide.
Fox trot—My Best Girl.
Fox trot—Take Me.
Fox trot—Mandy and Me.
Two step—Lots O'Mamma.
Fox trot—Words.
Fox trot—Railroad Man.
Fox trot—How Do You Do.
Two step—Why Don't You Tell Me.
Fox trot—Copenhagen.
Fox trot—Noodle Soup Blues.

D. of A. Anniversary Meeting.

Pride of Valley Council No. 4, Daughters of America, will observe its thirty-third anniversary Monday evening. Following a short business session, a program arranged by Mrs. Albert Dawson, Mrs. Louise Hetzel and Edward Hargreaves will be given. Refreshments will be served.

P. H. C. Officers Installed.

The following officers were installed last evening at a meeting of Stratton Circle No. 40, Protected Home Circle, which was held in the Trades and Labor council hall, Washington street: past president, Lyda Smith; president, Katheryn Prescott; vice president, Arnold Flesch; treasurer, George McWilhelm; accountant, Elmer Carey; secretary, Wade S. Glass; guardian, Mary Goppert; chaplain, Mary Logan; guide, Thomas Neilson; companion, Maud Flesch; sentinel, Clell Kennedy; watchman, Stephan Johannes; pianist, Leon Hickman; trustees, Arnold Flesch, Mary Goppert and Margaret Smith.

During the business session, it was decided to hold a euchre party next Wednesday evening. The public will be invited.

Informal social hours followed the business session, during which refreshments were served.

K. of C. Card Party

Ladies of the Knights of Columbus will entertain tonight with a euchre, five hundred and bridge party in the K. of C. lodgerooms and parlors. Caterer Hoadley Morrow will serve the luncheon.

The committee of hostesses includes Mesdames S. J. Hamilton, Henry Joseph and Frank G. Jones. Their aides are: Mesdames Andrew Hester, William Hardie, George H. White, Conister and Burgess and Misses Margaret Baxter, Anna Hoffman, Margaret Duffy, Ethel Flesch, Elizabeth White, Jane Harker, Ruth and Grace Sullivan.

Mrs. J. D. Kaho Hostess.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Orchard Grove avenue Methodist Episcopal church was entertained Tuesday evening at the personage on Orchard Grove avenue, with Mrs. J. D. Kaho as hostess. The topic was on "Education for Service." The program was as follows:

Devotionals—11 Timothy 2 and 15. Luke 25-27.—Mrs. Lee Cooper.

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Get a bottle of "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair appears after this delightful, refreshing dressing.

Reading—"Lincoln's Appeal for Law"—Mrs. Collins.
Thank offering.
Song—"Work for Enforcement.
Responsive reading—Written by Roy A. Hays.
Song—"America."

Mrs. Harold Benty Surprised.

Surprising Mrs. Harold Benty, a recent bride, who will be remembered as Miss Pansy Watson, a group of friends met at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Watson of Seventh street, where an evening of music and games was enjoyed. The guests included members of the Sunday school class taught by Miss Sara Hargreaves. A dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Benty, assisted by her sister, Miss Hannah Watson, and Miss Helen Pyles. Covers were arranged for Misses Sara Hargreaves, Edna Vondran, Maud Gardner, Audrey Bowery, Helen Ankrim, Helen Pyles, Bernice Williams, Mildred Walker, Dorothy Dawson, Hannah Watson, Mrs. Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Harold Benty.

The honor guest was presented with salad forks.

Miss Jean Hassel Hostess

In her home on Lisbon street Tuesday evening, Miss Jean Hassel delightfully entertained the members of the Busy Half Dozen club. The social hours were spent with games, dancing, radio and candy making. A four-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother. Covers were arranged for Misses Geraldine Manor, Margaret Williams, Threcea King, Mary Ester Smith, Ruth Anthony and Jean Hassel.

Miss Margaret Anthony was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks in the home of Miss Ruth Anthony of West Ninth street.

Danceland Academy Party

A series of Saturday evening dancing parties will be held in Danceland Academy, Fifth street, under the direction of William Curran and his dancing Academy. Beginning with January 24, through the courtesy of the Elks' dance committee, Billy Moore and his West Virginians will have charge of the musical program. Dancing will continue from 8 until 11:55. Billy Moore was one of the original Famous Players. They will play Friday evening for the Elks' club.

There will be no dance at Danceland Monday evening, due to the fact that the original Everett Merrill orchestra has been booked to play in the Olympic theatre at Steubenville, O., next week.

Country Club Bridge Party.

Seven tables of bridge were in progress at the weekly card party given in the East Liverpool Country club yesterday afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Bough and Mrs. J. C. Kelly. Candy was served during the social hours. The trophy for the highest score was awarded Mrs. Herbert A. Smith.

Next Wednesday's hostesses will be Mrs. Homer J. Taylor and Mrs. F. B. Lawrence.

Friday evening the semi-monthly card party will be held, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Betz and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Rinehart on the committee.

Birthday Anniversary Observed.

Celebrating the seventh birthday anniversary of little Miss Hilda Barnhouse of Bradshaw avenue, a number of little folks delightfully surprised her Wednesday evening. The social hours were spent with juvenile games and music, after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Charles Barnhouse, assisted by Mrs. R. D. Perrin. Covers were arranged for Vivian Kinsey, Grace Barnhouse, Jean Bradfield, Virginia Derrington, Dorothy Sayre, Jean Shaw, Dorothy Baxter, June Heddleston, Hilda Barnhouse, George Althers, Herman Kinsey, Richard Hall, Dana Laughlin, John Bradfield and Bernard Barnhouse. A large birthday cake with lighted candles formed the center piece for the table.

The honor guest received numerous presents.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The forty-eighth anniversary of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, was observed yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. Fourteen of the charter members of the society are living. Two of them, Mrs. Flora Pomeroy and Mrs. John W. Hall, were present at the meeting.

Following the roll call from 1877, Dr. D. W. MacLeod made an address. At his suggestion a committee will be appointed to arrange for observance of the fiftieth anniversary.

Mrs. John Young read a paper on China, which had been prepared by Mrs. Martha Connell. Dr. MacLeod urged interest in the foreign element and suggested financial aid for the Italian mission at Steubenville.

The election of officers, which was to have taken place yesterday, was postponed until the February meeting.

Club Meeting Postponed.

On account of the death of Newton Birch of Prospect street, the meeting of the Revelliers' club, which was to have been held in the home of Mrs. Carl Irvin of St. Clair avenue tonight, has been indefinitely postponed.

Jolly Fellows' Club Dance.

The Jolly Fellows' club will entertain with their semi-weekly dancing party tonight in the Eagles' ball room, Broadway. Norman E. Stillwell and his Symphony orchestra will feature the following program:

CHANGE SOUGHT IN LIQUOR LAWS

Woman Legislator Wants Penalties Made More Stringent.

More stringent enforcement of prohibition laws would be provided under a bill introduced by Dr. Harriet B. Jones of Marshall county in the house of delegates yesterday. Her bill would add several sections to the present law, one of them providing that it shall be illegal to suspend, defer or remit the sentence imposed for violation of prohibition laws, while another makes a second offense a felony with a sentence of from one to five years as the penalty. Another section defines intoxication and fixes penalties for first and second offenses, with a mandatory jail sentence of from 10 to 30 days in cases of second offenses. Her bill would also require a charge of venue for a prohibition officer on charges of offenses against the person or property of any person he arrested for violation of prohibition laws, if he or his attorney files an affidavit that a fair trial cannot be obtained in the court in which the charge is brought.

Another bill introduced by Dr. Jones would submit to the people a home rule amendment to the constitution which, among other things, would permit cities to adopt or amend their own charters without going to the legislature, as is now required. The procedure set out in the proposed amendment would call for election of a charter commission, by vote of two-thirds of a city's legislative body, on petition of 10 per cent of the qualified voters. It would also require the commission's charter to be submitted to a vote of the people within a year, and for adoption of the charter by a majority vote.

Easy Way to Break Severest Cough

No matter how long you have had a persistent, weakening cough—no matter how many remedies you have tried without success—you can usually get relief instantly, and often relieve the entire cough condition in 24 hours, by a very simple method.

The method is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief seems almost magical, and the quickness with which the whole cough condition disappears is often simply amazing. There is nothing better for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, hoarseness, and almost every throat irritation. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for

ROBBER SUSPECT HELD TO COURT

George Lewis, negro, one of two men alleged to have held up the proprietors and robbed the Windsor Provision company butcher shop, was bound over to the Brooke County grand jury under bond of $5,000 last night.

The negro suspect was arraigned before Squire A. B. Collett of Wellsburg, and entered a plea of not guilty. Fifteen witnesses testified at the hearing, most of whom identified Lewis as the man seen near the scene of the hold-up.

Amos Craighead, negro, who was arrested with Lewis in Follansbee, is being held until information is obtained that may point to him is an accomplice in the holdup. Lewis' explanation of his whereabouts prior to and following the holdup has been entirely satisfactory, authorities say.

Craighead denied having any connection with the robbery, asserting that he met Lewis a few days ago. They later went to Morgantown and then to Follansbee he said.

ANOTHER MAGIC CARPET

AUTO CLUBS BACK LICENSE MEASURE

Officials of automobile clubs in all parts of the state will make a determined effort to have the legislature enact the bill proposing a change in the method of distributing auto licenses.

The measure provides that local agencies be established for distribution instead of having all applications sent into the offices of the road commission at Charleston.

Girls' Game Booked

Chester high school girls' basketball team will meet the Irondale girls in the preliminary to the Chester-West Liberty Normal contest here tomorrow night on the Rock Springs park floor. The teams met several weeks ago at Irondale when the local girls were defeated by a score of 6 to 5. This is expected to prove one of the most interesting girls games played here this season.

Man of Wealth Mostly Concerned About Overhead Expenses in His Garage.

NEW YORK, Jan. — America must have its luxury and insistently demands its comfort. Yet the man who is willing to spend anywhere from $1,500 to $15,000 for luxury and comfort is at the same time concerned about his "overhead" expense.

Such was the reaction of a lay man after a visit to the National Automobile Show now on here. An automobile "layman" is anybody who has had a minimum of three cars.

While it may sound paradoxical, automobiles are to be cheaper and more expensive than ever this year. But the cost of maintenance, the "overhead," will beradically less than in former years. Cars won't use so much gas, there will be less oil consumption, tires will last longer and the surfacing of cars has been almost revolutionized.

There is a steady and determined trend toward closed cars. In American homes the "We are going to have a closed car next" has become almost a household word, in many homes the final and last word. So the women are going to have their way again, with the aid of the automanufacturers. Prices have been reduced to a point wher it is, in several instances, as cheap to buy a closed car as a "hurricane box."

Never before has there been such regal elegance in the construction and fitting of closed cars. Those on display are a distinct departure from the significant mournfulness of a hearse, for the sombre black has given way to moreb rilliant colors. Some cars have the luxurious appearance of French enamelled jewel cases.

"Economy of operation" is the big message of the auto show this year. The demonstrator alnogside the most expensive car emphasizes the "cost of upkeep" as though it were a vital point in the sales ragument.

What is of cheering interest to the man of modest means is that he need no longer drive a car which puts him within a few months in the class of the "shabby genteel." The new finishes are impervious to hot and cold water, gasoline, oil and grease. A few defiant demonstrators even pour strong acid on the finish of their cars and ask a less daring competitor to "laugh that off."

Gladstone was in Parliament at twenty-two and at twenty-four was lord of the treasury.

CHANGE SOUGHT IN LIQUOR LAWS

Woman Legislator Wants Penalties Made More Stringent.

More stringent enforcement of prohibition laws would be provided under a bill introduced by Dr. Harriet B. Jones of Marshall county in the house of delegates yesterday. Her bill would add several sections to the present law, one of them providing that it shall be illegal to suspend, defer or remit the sentence imposed for violation of prohibition laws, while another makes a second offense a felony with a sentence of from one to five years as the penalty. Another section defines intoxication and fixes penalties for first and second offenses, with a mandatory jail sentence of from 10 to 30 days in cases of second offenses. Her bill would also require a charge of venue for a prohibition officer on charges of offenses against the person or property of any person he arrested for violation of prohibition laws, if he or his attorney files an affidavit that a fair trial cannot be obtained in the court in which the charge is brought.

Another bill introduced by Dr. Jones would submit to the people a home rule amendment to the constitution which, among other things, would permit cities to adopt or amend their own charters without going to the legislature, as is now required. The procedure set out in the proposed amendment would call for election of a charter commission, by vote of two-thirds of a city's legislative body, on petition of 10 per cent of the qualified voters. It would also require the commission's charter to be submitted to a vote of the people within a year, and for adoption of the charter by a majority vote.

Easy Way to Break Severest Cough

No matter how long you have had a persistent, weakening cough—no matter how many remedies you have tried without success—you can usually get relief instantly, and often relieve the entire cough condition in 24 hours, by a very simple method.

The method is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief seems almost magical, and the quickness with which the whole cough condition disappears is often simply amazing. There is nothing better for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, hoarseness, and almost every throat irritation. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. ROBBER SUSPECT HELD TO COURT

George Lewis, negro, one of two men alleged to have held up the proprietors and robbed the Windsor Provision company butcher shop, was bound over to the Brooke County grand jury under bond of $5,000 last night.

The negro suspect was arraigned before Squire A. B. Collett of Wellsburg, and entered a plea of not guilty. Fifteen witnesses testified at the hearing, most of whom identified Lewis as the man seen near the scene of the hold-up.

Amos Craighead, negro, who was arrested with Lewis in Follansbee, is being held until information is obtained that may point to him is an accomplice in the holdup. Lewis' explanation of his whereabouts prior to and following the holdup has been entirely satisfactory, authorities say.

Craighead denied having any connection with the robbery, asserting that he met Lewis a few days ago. They later went to Morgantown and then to Follansbee he said.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD MEET HERE

Pride of Chester lodge, No. 245, I. O. O. F., will entertain a large number of lodge members from all sections of the Ohio Valley at a meeting tomorrow night in the I. O. O. F. K. of P. hall, Fifth street and Carolina avenue.

TO RESUME WORK ON RIVER ROAD

Announcement has been made that work will be resumed on the unfinished stretch of the New Cumberland-Weirton road early in the spring. Some of the highway has been impassable at times this winter and last week it was found necessary to cinder the unimproved portion.

Complaints forwarded to the office of the state road commission brought the response that orders would be issued to proceed with the improvement at an early date.

ACTION DEFERRED ON OFFICER HERE

Large number of citizens attended the mass meeting in the high school building Tuesday evening when the question of employing an officer to patrol the city at night was discussed.

Solicitors who have been canvassing the community to secure pledges to meet the salary of an officer made a report and it was decided to take no definite action until an additional canvass was made.

No date was set for another meeting.

Men! Don't Come Home Fagged Out by Hard Work

DOCTORS say that in an enormous number of cases when men come home physically and mentally "all in," nervous and cranky, the real cause is not hard work, but thin, pale, watery blood, deficient in strength-giving iron. Once this iron is restored to the blood it is often astonishing how quickly these men gain new strength, nerve force and endurance.

But be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines and pills made by the action of powerful acids on ordinary mineral iron. Nuxated Iron is a natural organic iron, like the iron in your own blood, and like that in spinach and lentils. Does not injure teeth nor disturb the stomach. So remarkable are the effects of Nuxated Iron that thousands of weak, nervous, fagged out men and women have often increased their strength, energy, and endurance in only two weeks' time.

Try Nuxated Iron just two weeks. Money back if not delighted. But make certain you get genuine guaranteed Nuxated Iron tablets with the letters N I on every tablet. At all good druggists.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"More Power Won't Hurt Niagara," Dr. Walcott Says; Dr. Wymer Contrasts Governments.

More than twice as much power as now used can be developed from Niagara Falls without spoliation of the scenic effect, according to a statement made by Dr. Charles D. Walcott-head of the Smithsonian Institution, in a monograph dealing with the power possibilities and preservation of the great cataract. The monograph was prepared by Dr. Samuel S. Wyer, associate in mineral technology of the National Museum.

"Contrary to popular opinion," says Dr. Walcott, "there is nothing magical about water power. It is worth just what can be gotten out of it in competition with electric power generated from coal, and coal represents only a small part of the total power cost to the public. Every water power development must ultimately answer the question: 'Will or does it pay?' The Canadian side of Niagara Falls—carrying 94 per cent of the water is rapidly, by nature's own means, destroying itself, and mere non-use of the water is not preservation. Two and one-half times more power than is now developed can be developed and still maintain an adequate scenic effect."

Service in Two Countries.

Dr. Wyer devotes one section of his work to a comparison of American and Onterian electric service.

"The Niagara river is more than a mere boundary stream between two friendly nations," he says. "It is the diving line between two radically different methods of rendering electric service to the public. In Ontario the plants are owned privately but regulated by the government."

Dr. Wyer says these "fundamantally distinct" methods have a farreaching effect on the economic structure of the two nations.

"In Ontario," he says, "the governmentally owned system sells electric service to domestic customers at rates considreable below those prevailing in the United States, because governmentally-owned property is exempt from taxation. This means a gain to the electric consumer of about 10 per cent, with, however, a corresponding loss to the taxpayers, as compared with conditions in the United States; the domestic electric rates are below cost and the loss is made up in part by higher rates for power consumers then prevailing in the United States, which places Canadian industry at a disadvantage; part of the cost comes directly out of the Province treasury in the form of contributions and subsidies, and part of the cost has been delayed by not making provision for adequate sinking fund to retire the bonds as they mature, thus placing the burden on a future group of consumers or on the public generally, to be met out of general taxation of the entire province.

"In the United States the privately owned but governmentally controlled systems sell electric service to domestic consumers at rates higher than those prevailing in Ontario because, since the property is taxed, the tax comes from the consumer, and this alone makes a difference of about 10 per cent, over and above the average cost that would prevail if the properties were tax free, as in Ontario. In the United States th eelectric power utilities paid approximately $135,000,000 in local, State and Federal taxes in 1923.

Under Government Regulation.

"Under the scheme of governmental regulation in the United States, the rates correspond substantially to the cost of the service. The domestic consumer's cost per kilowatt hour is more than the industrial consumer's. This, of course means that the domestic rate per kilowatt hour is higher than the industrial, but it also results in giving the United States industrial consumers lower rates than the industrial consumers in Canada, thus giving United States manufacturers an advantage over Canadian manufacturers.

"Under the scheme of governmental regulations in the United States the capital invested is not retired, and frequently bonds are refunded. However, the income received from the public in any normal plant provides for all times maintaining the integrity of the property value. There are no contributions from the public treasury at present, or any obligations that must be met out of the public treasury in the future. That is, the United States governmentally regulated method is based on the principle of pay-as-you-go, without any deferred debt for the future."

WASHINGTON.—A new strain of rye, resistant to three of the worst grain-crop diseases, has been developed by Dr. E. B. Mains, of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, who told the American Phytopathological society of his work.

Some difficulty was experienced in obtaining a resistant strain that would breed true; but, after four years' work, the new variety not only is constant in its breeding but resists leaft rust, steam rust and powdery mildew, said D. Mains.

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even chronic rheumatic swellings in knee, foot, ankles, arch, hips, elbow, shoulder or finger joints yield to the mighty powerful influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and Jesse D. Holloway, Mathews Medicine Store and every live druggist has it.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate through skin and flesh straight down to the ligaments and tendons of the joints—right where the agony starts—Then blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean that you can rub it on often and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflammed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that Joint-Ease is mostly dispensed, and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed. Jesse D. Holloway and Mathews Medicine Store sells lots of it.

'MEET THE WIFE' HERE TONIGHT

Farce Comedy Will be Presented at Ceramic Theatre.

Speaking of the farce comedy which comes to the Ceramic theatre tonight, the dramatic critic of the Portsmouth (O.) Sun, says:

"'Meet the Wife' is an invitation that never gave us much of a desire to step forward with the glad hand outstreached until last night when the introduction brought us into the presence of Augusta Boylston as "the Wife" in the comedy that delighted an enthusiastic audience at the high school auditorium.

"'Meet the Wife' is screamingly funny as to lines and situations, and Augusta Boylston plays the part of Gertrude Lennox with such appreciation of the various shade of humor that she adds immeasurably to what the author already had achieved. Gertrude Lennox was one of those hysterical women who chase celebrities, run women's clubs, boss their husbands and make their families wretched. As her daughter expressed it: 'She can choke you to death with her two hands and make you believe it is hurting her worse than it is you.' Gertrude's first husband escaped from her clutches during the San Francisco earthquake and, believing him dead, she married again. Then one eventful day, she discovered that her latest celebrity, Philip Lord, was her first husband—and the fun began.

"Miss Boylston's voice can do all kinds of tricks, from shrill hysteric shrieks to deep, sonorous notes and it is her voice that emphasizes the comedy. She is physically well built for the part, a stunning blond, wearing most gorgeous clothes; the typical successful club woman.

Donald Campbell, as Harvey Lennox, husband No. 2, is particularly good in his humorous resignation to a situation that he is hoping an earthquake may better. Clay Cody played the asinine Victor Staunton, an affected artist, with a deal of cleverness and Messenger Bellis played the rather thankless part of Husband No. 1, acceptably. Marvin Oreck seemed to us to be rather off the mark in his interpretation of the New York reporter. He talked far too loud and tried to act too young and guileless. Due to the illness of Kathryn Mulholland, cast as Doris Bellamy, the daughter of Mrs. Lennox and Husband No. 1, the part was played last night by the young woman who usually plays the part of maid and whose name did not appear on the program. Albert Petrost was an adequate butler and a comment on the prettiness of the maid elicited from the manager the information that she is Allys Dwyer, a new member of the cast who is to play the part of Doris Bellamy.

Outbreak of Mumps.

TO RESUME WORK ON RIVER ROAD

Announcement has been made that work will be resumed on the unfinished stretch of the New Cumberland-Weirton road early in the spring. Some of the highway has been impassable at times this winter and last week it was found necessary to cinder the unimproved portion.

Complaints forwarded to the office of the state road commission brought the response that orders would be issued to proceed with the improvement at an early date.

ACTION DEFERRED ON OFFICER HERE

Large number of citizens attended the mass meeting in the high school building Tuesday evening when the question of employing an officer to patrol the city at night was discussed.

Solicitors who have been canvassing the community to secure pledges to meet the salary of an officer made a report and it was decided to take no definite action until an additional canvass was made.

No date was set for another meeting.

Men! Don't Come Home Fagged Out by Hard Work

DOCTORS say that in an enormous number of cases when men come home physically and mentally "all in," nervous and cranky, the real cause is not hard work, but thin, pale, watery blood, deficient in strength-giving iron. Once this iron is restored to the blood it is often astonishing how quickly these men gain new strength, nerve force and endurance.

But be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines and pills made by the action of powerful acids on ordinary mineral iron. Nuxated Iron is a natural organic iron, like the iron in your own blood, and like that in spinach and lentils. Does not injure teeth nor disturb the stomach. So remarkable are the effects of Nuxated Iron that thousands of weak, nervous, fagged out men and women have often increased their strength, energy, and endurance in only two weeks' time.

Try Nuxated Iron just two weeks. Money back if not delighted. But make certain you get genuine guaranteed Nuxated Iron tablets with the letters N I on every tablet. At all good druggists.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"More Power Won't Hurt Niagara," Dr. Walcott Says; Dr. Wyer Contrasts Governments.

More than twice as much power as now used can be developed from Niagara Falls without spoliation of the scenic effect, according to a statement made by Dr. Charles D. Walcott, head of the Smithsonian Institution, in a monograph dealing with the power possibilities and preservation of the great cataract. The monograph was prepared by Dr. Samuel S. Wyer, associate in mineral technology of the National Museum.

"Contrary to popular opinion," says Dr. Walcott, "there is nothing magical about water power. It is worth just what can be gotten out of it in competition with electric power generated from coal, and coal represents only a small part of the total power cost to the public. Every water power development must ultimately answer the question: 'Will or does it pay?' The Canadian side of Niagara Falls—carrying 94 per cent of the water is rapidly, by nature's own means, destroying itself, and mere non-use of the water is not preservation. Two and one-half times more power than is now developed can be developed and still maintain an adequate scenic effect."

Service in Two Countries.

Dr. Wyer devotes one section of his work to a comparison of American and Onterian electric service.

"The Niagara river is more than a mere boundary stream between two friendly nations," he says, "it is the diving line between two radically different methods of rendering electric service to the public. In Ontario the plants are owned privately but regulated by the government."

Dr. Wyer says these "fundamantally distinct" methods have a farreaching effect on the economic structure of the two nations.

"In Ontario," he says, "the governmentally owned system sells electric service to domestic customers at rates considreable below those prevailing in the United States, because governmentally-owned property is exempt from taxation. This means a gain to the electric consumer of about 10 per cent, with, however, a corresponding loss to the taxpayers, as compared with conditions in the United States; the domestic electric rates are below cost and the loss is made up in part by higher rates for power consumers then prevailing in the United States, which places Canadian industry at a disadvantage; part of the cost comes directly out of the Province treasury in the form of contributions and subsidies, and part of the cost has been delayed by not making provision for adequate sinking fund to retire the bonds as they mature, thus placing the burden on a future group of consumers or on the public generally, to be met out of general taxation of the entire province.

"In the United States the privately owned but governmentally controlled systems sell electric service to domestic consumers at rates higher than those prevailing in Ontario because, since the property is taxed, the tax comes from the consumer, and this alone makes a difference of about 10 per cent, over and above the average cost that would prevail if the properties were tax free, as in Ontario. In the United States th eelectric power utilities paid approximately $135,000,000 in local, State and Federal taxes in 1923.

Under Government Regulation.

"Under the scheme of governmental regulation in the United States, the rates correspond substantially to the cost of the service. The domestic consumer's cost per kilowatt hour is more than the industrial consumer's. This, of course means that the domestic rate per kilowatt hour is higher than the industrial, but it also results in giving the United States industrial consumers lower rates than the industrial consumers in Canada, thus giving United States manufacturers an advantage over Canadian manufacturers.

"Under the scheme of governmental regulations in the United States the capital invested is not retired, and frequently bonds are refunded. However, the income received from the public in any normal plant provides for all times maintaining the integrity of the property value. There are no contributions from the public treasury at present, or any obligations that must be met out of the public treasury in the future. That is, the United States governmentally regulated method is based on the principle of pay-as-you-go, without any deferred debt for the future."

WASHINGTON.—A new strain of rye, resistant to three of the worst grain-crop diseases, has been developed by Dr. E. B. Mains, of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, who told the American Phytopathological society of his work.

Some difficulty was experienced in obtaining a resistant strain that would breed true; but, after four years' work, the new variety not only is constant in its breeding but resists leaft rust, steam rust and powdery mildew, said D. Mains.

CHOICEST INDIA, CEYLON and JAVA TEAS

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even chronic rheumatic swellings in knee, foot, ankles, arch, hips, elbow, shoulder or finger joints yield to the mighty powerful influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and Jesse D. Holloway, Mathews Medicine Store and every live druggist has it.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so-called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate through skin and flesh straight down to the ligaments and tendons of the joints—right where the agony starts—Then blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean that you can rub it on often and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflammed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that Joint-Ease is mostly dispensed, and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed. Jesse D. Holloway and Mathews Medicine Store sells lots of it.

'MEET THE WIFE' HERE TONIGHT

Farce Comedy Will be Presented at Ceramic Theatre.

Speaking of the farce comedy which comes to the Ceramic theatre tonight, the dramatic critic of the Portsmouth (O.) Sun, says:

"'Meet the Wife' is an invitation that never gave us much of a desire to step forward with the glad hand outstreached until last night when the introduction brought us into the presence of Augusta Boylston as "the Wife" in the comedy that delighted an enthusiastic audience at the high school auditorium.

"'Meet the Wife' is screamingly funny as to lines and situations, and Augusta Boylston plays the part of Gertrude Lennox with such appreciation of the various shade of humor that she adds immeasurably to what the author already had achieved. Gertrude Lennox was one of those hysterical women who chase celebrities, run women's clubs, boss their husbands and make their families wretched. As her daughter expressed it: 'She can choke you to death with her two hands and make you believe it is hurting her worse than it is you.' Gertrude's first husband escaped from her clutches during the San Francisco earthquake and, believing him dead, she married again. Then one eventful day, she discovered that her latest celebrity, Philip Lord, was her first husband—and the fun began.

"Miss Boylston's voice can do all kinds of tricks, from shrill hysteric shrieks to deep, sonorous notes and it is her voice that emphasizes the comedy. She is physically well built for the part, a stunning blond, wearing most gorgeous clothes; the typical successful club woman.

Donald Campbell, as Harvey Lennox, husband No. 2, is particularly good in his humorous resignation to a situation that he is hoping an earthquake may better. Clay Cody played the asinine Victor Staunton, an affected artist, with a deal of cleverness and Messenger Bellis played the rather thankless part of Husband No. 1, acceptably. Marvin Orock seemed to us to be rather off the mark in his interpretation of the New York reporter. He talked far too loud and tried to act too young and guileless. Due to the illness of Kathryn Mulholland, cast as Doris Bellamy, the daughter of Mrs. Lennox and Husband No. 1, the part was played last night by the young woman who usually plays the part of maid and whose name did not appear on the program. Albert Petrost was an adequate butler and a comment on the prettiness of the maid elicited from the manager the information that she is Allys Dwyer, a new member of the cast who is to play the part of Doris Bellamy.

BUS LAW FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

County Auditor Hamilton Receives Check for $630.19.

The public utilities commission of Ohio has sent its check for $630.19 to County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, this being the first return to this county of the distribution of funds collected under the recently enacted motor bus and motor truck law.

Only six communities and the county shared in this distribution, and the smallest credit, which is 11 cents, goes to the credit of Washingtonville.

The distribution follows: Columbiana county, $240.55; Salem, $27.97; East Palestine, $250.32; Washingtonville, 11 cents; Columbiana, $14.38; Lisbon, $8.75; East Liverpool, $88.15.

These amounts have been credited to the different municipalities, and when the money is received by them, the amounts will be credited to the same account as the automobile license money.

Throughout the county applications are being made by truck owners for a permit for 1925 under this law. Applications are to be had in Lisbon, and they are forwarded to the public utilities commission from Lisbon.

Attorneys Assigned By Judge Moore to Defend Prisoners

Attorney George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, has been appointed by Judge James G. Moore to defend Harmon Cook, alias Homer Doyle, of Salem, but who claims he hails from Pittsburgh, Pa., and who was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of uttering and publishing a false and altered check. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty, and when he advised the court he was without funds the court then appointed counsel.

Attorneys Homer H. Hickling, of Salem, and F. W. Andrews, of Alliance, have been retained to defend Baraschiva Balan, a woman, Charlos Balan and Sam Hoza, charged with resisting an officer in the performance of his duty.

It is likely that some of those who have entered pleas of not guilty, following their arraignment Wednesday, will have their "day in court" next week.

COUNTY OFFICES BEING REPAIRED

Renovating of the office of Probate Judge Lodge Riddle will be finished this week, and it will be ready for occupancy Monday next. Immediately following, the office of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk will be cleaned and improved.

The county commissioners will also make a change in their office on the main floor of the court house, and a large partition will be built in this room so that the commissioners can have private conferences with delegations when the latter present themselves.

Where large delegations request hearings on public road improvements these sessions will be held in either No. 1 or No. 2 court room, as has been the custom in the past.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Russell McDonald, of Columbiana, but a former resident of East Fairfied, and Miss Lora Allman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Allman, of Middleton. They are to be married by the Rev. Weist, of Columbiana.

A marriage license has been issued to Raymon D. Knopp, a farmer of Washingtonville, and Miss Thelma K. Bossert, a stenographer, also residing at Washingtonville. The couple were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church by the Rev. John Cameron.

Granted Right of Way.

DIVORCE ACTION FILED BY WOMAN

Claiming that her husband left his family in their home without fuel or food is a part of her plea for a divorce contained in the petition filed in common pleas court by Evelyn Dole, of Salem, against her husband, Lorenzo Dole, said to be residing at 257 East One Hundred and Eighteenth street, Cleveland.

The couple were married April 16, 1912. Mrs. Dole also recites that her husband has been arrested several times for non-support, and that he has at times called her vile names and also threatened to kill her.

Motion Overruled.

A motion filed by the plaintiff in the case of Edgar G. Martin, as trustee, against E. F. Cunningham, wherein judgment for the plaintiff was asked, has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore. Exceptions were filed by counsel for the plaintiff. The action was filed July 19, 1923, for the purpose of recovering a claim of $1,250.

Case Settled.

The case of Harry Reising against the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company for $80 claimed due for work and labor, which was filed recently in common pleas court has been settled by agreement, and the action dismissed on the motion of the defendant at his costs.

Property Transfers.

Vernon E. Stanley, et ux, to Joseph Freedy, lot 52 in Stanley's allotment, Knox township.

Same to Marie Freedy, et al., lot 55, same tract.

E. H. Riggs to Cora S. Riggs, lot 72 Third street, Wellsville; $1.

D. M. Stouffer to George J. Woods, et al, lots 825-6 in Leetonia; $5.

Leetonia

About eight o'clock Monday night fire was discovered on the roof of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pepperny, West Main street. The prompt response of the fire department averted what might have proved a serious blaze. Chemicals were used to extinguish the flames which were started by sparks from a burning chimney in the house.

Following the ritualistic ceremonies of the Leetonia chapter Eastern Star meeting Monday evening, eight of the members gave an entertaining little playlet, entitled, "The Wrong Baby," which caused a good deal of amusement. The social hour closed with a delicious lunch served by the committee.

You just KNOW he's well

Your boy, too, can have this refreshing, exhilarating, all-alive look of health

You just know he's NOT well

There is no reason for him to look or feel this way

CONSTIPATION means DISEASE

These young rascals when they are well are the greatest institutions on earth. But when that insidious lurking monster—Constipation—ties up their bowels, then the world is dark. Coated tongue, loss of appetite, wakefulness, bad breath, pimples, weakness, dull mind are only a few indications that you are going to have a mighty sick boy if you do not see that his clogged bowels are opened up at once.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—relieves constipation. It appeals to the manly little fellow. Father, mother, sister and baby like it too. And for 30 years it has pointed the way to health along Nature's road for all of them. A pleasant tasting combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics. 10,000,000 bottles used annually through out the country prove its effectiveness.

As Easy To Take As Grandma's Jam

One dose is enough to remove the obstruction, and after that diminishing doses will allow Nature to again assert herself and resume her proper functions. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

BUS LAW FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

County Auditor Hamilton Receives Check for $630.19.

The public utilities commission of Ohio has sent its check for $630.19 to County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, this being the first return to this county of the distribution of funds collected under the recently enacted motor bus and motor truck law.

Only six communities and the county shared in this distribution, and the smallest credit, which is 11 cents, goes to the credit of Washingtonville.

The distribution follows: Columbiana county, $240.55; Salem, $27.97; East Palestine, $250.32; Washingtonville, 11 cents; Columbiana, $14.38; Lisbon, $8.75; East Liverpool, $88.15.

These amounts have been credited to the different municipalities, and when the money is received by them, the amounts will be credited to the same account as the automobile license money.

Throughout the county applications are being made by truck owners for a permit for 1925 under this law. Applications are to be had in Lisbon, and they are forwarded to the public utilities commission from Lisbon.

Attorneys Assigned By Judge Moore to Defend Prisoners

Attorney George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, has been appointed by Judge James G. Moore to defend Harmon Cook, alias Homer Doyle, of Salem, but who claims he hails from Pittsburgh, Pa., and who was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of uttering and publishing a false and altered check. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty, and when he advised the court he was without funds the court then appointed counsel.

Attorneys Homer H. Hickling, of Salem, and F. W. Andrews, of Alliance, have been retained to defend Baraschiva Balan, a woman, Charlos Balan and Sam Hoza, charged with resisting an officer in the performance of his duty.

It is likely that some of those who have entered pleas of not guilty, following their arraignment Wednesday, will have their "day in court" next week.

COUNTY OFFICES BEING REPAIRED

Renovating of the office of Probate Judge Lodge Riddle will be finished this week, and it will be ready for occupancy Monday next. Immediately following, the office of County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk will be cleaned and improved.

The county commissioners will also make a change in their office on the main floor of the court house, and a large partition will be built in this room so that the commissioners can have private conferences with delegations when the latter present themselves.

Where large delegations request hearings on public road improvements these sessions will be held in either No. 1 or No. 2 court room, as has been the custom in the past.

DIVORCE ACTION FILED BY WOMAN

Claiming that her husband left his family in their home without fuel or food is a part of her plea for a divorce contained in the petition filed in common pleas court by Evelyn Dole, of Salem, against her husband, Lorenzo Dole, said to be residing at 257 East One Hundred and Eighteenth street, Cleveland.

The couple were married April 16, 1912. Mrs. Dole also recites that her husband has been arrested several times for non-support, and that he has at times called her vile names and also threatened to kill her.

Motion Overruled.

A motion filed by the plaintiff in the case of Edgar G. Martin, as trustee, against E. F. Cunningham, wherein judgment for the plaintiff was asked, has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore. Exceptions were filed by counsel for the plaintiff. The action was filed July 19, 1923, for the purpose of recovering a claim of $1,250.

Case Settled.

The case of Harry Reisling against the Canton-East Liverpool Coach company for $80 claimed due for work and labor, which was filed recently in common pleas court has been settled by agreement, and the action dismissed on the motion of the defendant at his costs.

Property Transfers.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

You just KNOW he's well

Your boy, too, can have this refreshing, exhilarating, all-alive look of health

You just know he's NOT well

There is no reason for him to look or feel this way

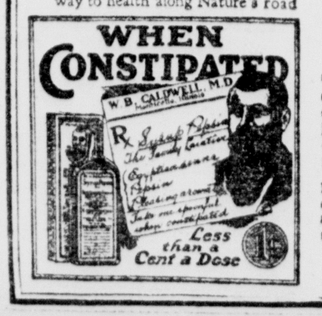
CONSTIPATION means DISEASE

These young rascals when they are well are the greatest institutions on earth. But when that insidious lurking monster—Constipation—ties up their bowels, then the world is dark. Coated tongue, loss of appetite, wakefulness, bad breath, pimples, weakness, dull mind are only a few indications that you are going to have a mighty sick boy if you do not see that his clogged bowels are opened up at once.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—relieves constipation. It appeals to the manly little fellow. Father, mother, sister and baby like it too. And for 30 years it has pointed the way to health along Nature's road for all of them. A pleasant tasting combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics. 10,000,000 bottles used annually throughout the country prove its effectiveness.



As Easy To Take As Grandma's Jam

One dose is enough to remove the obstruction, and after that diminishing doses will allow Nature to again assert herself and resume her proper functions. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

Here's the Way to Heal Rupture

A Marvelous Self-Home Treatment That Anyone Can Use on Any Rupture, Large or Small

Costs Nothing to Try

Ruptured people all over the country are amazed at the almost miraculous results of a simple method for rupture that is being sent free to all who write for it. This remarkable Rupture System is one of the greatest blessings ever offered to ruptured men, women and children. It is being pronounced the most successful method ever discovered, and makes the use of trusses or supports unnecessary.

No matter how bad the rupture, how long you have had it, or how hard to hold; no matter how many kinds of trusses you have worn, let nothing prevent you from getting this FREE TREATMENT. Whether you think you are past help or have a rupture as large as your fists, this marvelous system will so control it and keep it up inside as to surprise you with its magic influence. It will so help you restore the parts where the rupture comes through that soon you will be as free to work at any occupation as though you had never been ruptured.

You can have a free trial of this wonderful strengthening preparation by merely sending your name and address to W. A. COLLINGS, Inc., 368B Collings Building, Watertown, N. Y. Send no money. The trial is free. Write now—today. It may save the wearing of a truss the rest of your life.

600,000 Joneses Are Asked to Buy Jones Mine Stock

Reno Promoter Writes to Them, and Already Has Received 250,000 Answers.

RENO, Nev.—"What's in a name?" That is what Harry Lee Jones, Reno mining man, is attempting to discover. He has organized a mining company, which carries his name and has for its stockholders only people by the name of Jones.

Many people scoff at the scheme and recall, disgustedly, Conan Doyle's story of "The Red-Headed League;" but that does not bother Harry Lee Jones. He has sent out a circular letter proclaiming the merits of his company to some 600,000 Joneses in the United States and has received answers from 250,000 of them.

The correspondence ensuing has brought to light the statements that the captain of the Mayflower was named Jones and that it was he who signed the first treaty ever made between the Indians and the Pilgrims. Many are related to the great naval officer, John Paul Jones; there is the son of the famous "Golden Rule" Jones, once Mayor of Detroit. Mother Jones, who has been interested in "mining" for some time; Bob Jones, the evangelist; Daniel Fisk Jones, well known Boston surgeon; Admiral H. P. Jones; and Senator A. A. Jones, of Arizona.

Many professors are interested, namely, Prof. C. A. Jones, of Massachusetts; Prof. J. Claude Jones, Nevada geologist; Prof. C. L. Jones, of the University of Wisconsin. A wealthy widow in Los Angeles and another in Oakland, are only two of the 64,000 members of the Jones family in California.

Part of the plan of Harry Lee Jones is the giving of 10 per cent of the net earnings to charity. Jones does not say whether the institutions thus endowed will have to be connected with the Jones family.

EAST END MEETING HERE WELL ATTENDED

Rev. Harry Kaye Speaks to Large Audience Last Night.

His sermon subject was "The Devil and Some People in East Liverpool," his text being found in the book of John 8:21-59.

A delegation consisting of the Girls' Intermediate class, attended. This evening a delegation from the Wellsville Church of Christ will attend in a body.

Rev. Kaye's sermon subject for this evening's service will be "The Revelation of Jesus."

In his sermon last night he spoke in part as follows:

"I believe there is a Devil, friends, and I believe I can produce facts that will prove my statement. The devil fell from heaven. At one time he was an angel of light. Lucifer got such an exalted opinion of himself that he raised such an amount of trouble that he was kicked out of heaven.

"God created you and I and is going to run his own business. When man commits a sin God calls him a sinner. Just because Lucifer couldn't mind his own business he was kicked out of heaven, and he thought he had a grievance when he had none whatsoever.

"There is a time coming when every one of us is going to give an account. In the first place the devil is a deceiver. He is tempting people to do wrong. After you fall you are chained down, there is one, only one, that can break those chains, that's the blessed Christ.

"God says that fellow was a murderer from the beginning of his life, some of these people that are lower, following where he may lead, is lower than he is. There are men and women going through this world, hanging on to their petty sins. I am preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ and not serving the devil. The devil is a person and is to be found in a lot of folks. There are a lot of two legged devils, that do not have horns, but are devils just the same. The devil sticks around for a long time, he puts more people in prison than any one, or anything else ever can do. The devil knows Jesus and doesn't want anything to do with him. When any church starts a revival in a community the old devil gets his imps out in line. He goes out and makes a great show and then tries to blame it on the church. I want to say to you at this time that the old devil works on the imagination, and if he can get you to imagine that you are going to be saved, and have never accepted Christ, don't blame God, blame the devil. The devil is a liar and uses his influence, causing people to lie, he is the father of lies, he tried it on Jesus Christ, but it didn't work. You ought to be disgusted with the father of liars, and search for Christ."

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks a Cold Right Up

Herewith is solution to puzzle No. 81

Copyright, 1925, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

WIT AND HUMOR FROM FRANCE

Useless laws diminish the authority of necessary ones.

Men are the reason for women disliking one another.

Great artists have no country.

What use is statecraft without power?

A further presentation of the proverbs of France is today's installment (No. 16) of this series of summaries of the axoims of the various peoples:

Without bread and without wine love will come to nothing.

A man of wit would be often much embarassed if there were no fools.

Liars need good memories.

Woman is stronger by reason of her feelings than by reason of her strength.

A woman is to her husband what her husband has made her.

He has everything who is content with nothing.

Confidence brings more to conversation than does wit.

It is absolute necessity for a man of genius to play to stupidity.

He who has imagination without learning has wings, but no feet.

He does the crime who profits by it.

Men do not understand one another. There are fewer madmen than we think.

Men make laws, but women make morals.

Great thoughts come from the heart.

People without fortune must be perfect.

Things are wholly worth what we make them worth.

We drink without being thirsty, and make love at any time; that is the only distinction between us and the other animals.

It is to my faults that I owe my virtues.

It is a double pleasure to deceive the deceiver.

When the foe fears us, we must dare everything.

He who complains most is not the most hurt.

More proverbs of France make up today's installment of this series of presentations of the axioms of the various peoples.

We must have reasons for speech, but we need none for silence.

It is not the robe that makes the monk.

Love is the reign of women.

The eagle in one house is in the next a fool.

Marriage puts every one in his place.

The art of pleasing is the art of deceiving.

The first half of life is spent in longing for the second, and the second half in regretting the first.

Prosperity makes few friends.

Reason on love, and you will lose your reason.

Excessive justice is often excessive wrong.

Prayer is a cry of hope.

Quarrels would not last long if the wrongs were all on one side.

Offended self-esteem never forgives.

Authority brooks no partner.

Wisdom is on the lips of those about to die.

Virtue would not go so far did not vanity bear her company.

He who lives without folly is not so wise as he thinks.

Cowardice is the mother of cruelty.

The slave has but one master; the ambitious man as many as there are people likely to be useful to him.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Jesse D. Holloway Offer To All Who Suffer Stomach Agony, Gas and Indigestion

Money Back if One Bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one dessert spoonful of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can banish indigestion or dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach or any abnormal condition that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

And how happy you will be when your stomach is as good as new for then dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dull eyes and other ailments caused by a disordered stomach will disappear and you will be your old happy, contented self again. Jesse D. Holloway and every regular pharmacist guarantees one bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin to show the way to stomach comfort.

Over 6,000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—ask yourself why?

Bus Driver Blinded By Ball of Fire on Hood During Storm

LONDON, Jan.—While Wm. Thomas, of Bristol, was driving his omnibus through a violent storm, what he described as a "ball of purple fire" fell on the hood of the omnibus and partly blinded him, but he succeeded in stopping the vehicle.

A Marvelous Self-Home Treatment That Anyone Can Use on Any Rupture, Large or Small

Costs Nothing to Try

Ruptured people all over the country are amazed at the almost miraculous results of a simple method for rupture that is being sent free to all who write for it. This remarkable Rupture System is one of the greatest blessings ever offered to ruptured men, women and children. It is being pronounced the most successful method ever discovered, and makes the use of trusses or supports unnecessary.

No matter how bad the rupture, how long you have had it, or how hard to hold; no matter how many kinds of trusses you have worn, let nothing prevent you from getting this FREE TREATMENT. Whether you think you are past help or have a rupture as large as your fists, this marvelous system will so control it and keep it up inside as to surprise you with its magic influence. It will so help you restore the parts where the rupture comes through that soon you will be as free to work at any occupation as though you had never been ruptured.

You can have a free trial of this wonderful strengthening preparation by merely sending your name and address to W. A. COLLINGS, Inc., 368B Collings Building, Watertown, N. Y. Send no money. The trial is free. Write now—today. It may save the wearing of a truss the rest of your life.

600,000 Joneses Are Asked to Buy Jones Mine Stock

Reno Promoter Writes to Them, and Already Has Received 250,000 Answers.

RENO, Nev.—"What's in a name?" That is what Harry Lee Jones, Reno mining man, is attempting to discover. He has organized a mining company, which carries his name and has for its stockholders only people by the name of Jones.

Many people scoff at the scheme and recall, disgustedly, Conan Doyle's story of "The Red-Headed League;" but that does not bother Harry Lee Jones. He has sent out a circular letter proclaiming the merits of his company to some 600,000 Joneses in the United States and has received answers from 250,000 of them.

The correspondence ensuing has brought to light the statements that the captain of the Mayflower was named Jones and that it was he who signed the first treaty ever made between the Indians and the Pilgrims. Many are related to the great naval officer, John Paul Jones; there is the son of the famous "Golden Rule" Jones, once Mayor of Detroit. Mother Jones, who has been interested in "mining" for some time; Bob Jones, the evangelist; Daniel Fisk Jones, well known Boston surgeon; Admiral H. P. Jones; and Senator A. A. Jones, of Arizona.

Many professors are interested, namely, Prof. C. A. Jones, of Massachusetts; Prof. J. Claude Jones, Nevada geologist; Prof. C. L. Jones, of the University of Wisconsin. A wealthy widow in Los Angeles and another in Oakland, are only two of the 64,000 members of the Jones family in California.

Part of the plan of Harry Lee Jones is the giving of 10 per cent of the net earnings to charity. Jones does not say whether the institutions thus endowed will have to be connected with the Jones family.

EAST END MEETING HERE WELL ATTENDED

Rev. Harry Kaye Speaks to Large Audience Last Night.

His sermon subject was "The Devil and Some People in East Liverpool," his text being found in the book of John 8:21-59.

A delegation consisting of the Girls' Intermediate class, attended. This evening a delegation from the Wellsville Church of Christ will attend in a body.

Rev. Kaye's sermon subject for this evening's service will be "The Revelation of Jesus."

In his sermon last night he spoke in part as follows:

"I believe there is a Devil, friends, and I believe I can produce facts that will prove my statement. The devil fell from heaven. At one time he was an angel of light. Lucifer got such an exalted opinion of himself that he raised such an amount of trouble that he was kicked out of heaven.

"God created you and I and is going to run his own business. When man commits a sin God calls him a sinner. Just because Lucifer couldn't mind his own business he was kicked out of heaven, and he thought he had a grievance when he had none whatsoever.

"There is a time coming when every one of us is going to give an account. In the first place the devil is a deceiver. He is tempting people to do wrong. After you fall you are chained down, there is one, only one, that can break those chains, that's the blessed Christ.

"God says that fellow was a murderer from the beginning of his life, some of these people that are lower, following where he may lead, is lower than he is. There are men and women going through this world, hanging on to their petty sins. I am preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ and not serving the devil. The devil is a person and is to be found in a lot of folks. There are a lot of two legged devils, that do not have horns, but are devils just the same. The devil sticks around for a long time, he puts more people in prison than any one, or anything else ever can do. The devil knows Jesus and doesn't want anything to do with him. When any church starts a revival in a community the old devil gets his imps out in line. He goes out and makes a great show and then tries to blame it on the church. I want to say to you at this time that the old devil works on the imagination, and if he can get you to imagine that you are going to be saved, and have never accepted Christ, don't blame God, blame the devil. The devil is a liar and uses his influence, causing people to lie, he is the father of lies, he tried it on Jesus Christ, but it didn't work. You ought to be disgusted with the father of liars, and search for Christ."

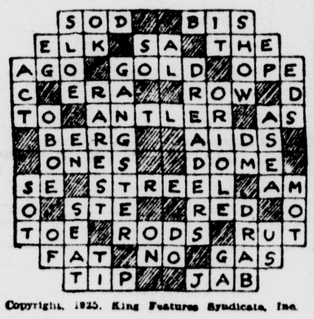
Herewith is solution to puzzle No. 81



Copyright, 1925, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

WIT AND HUMOR FROM FRANCE

Useless laws diminish the authority of necessary ones.

Men are the reason for women disliking one another.

Great artists have no country.

What use is statecraft without power?

A further presentation of the proverbs of France is today's installment (No. 16) of this series of summaries of the axioms of the various peoples:

Without bread and without wine love will come to nothing.

A man of wit would be often much embarassed if there were no fools.

Liars need good memories.

Woman is stronger by reason of her feelings than by reason of her strength.

A woman is to her husband what her husband has made her.

He has everything who is content with nothing.

Confidence brings more to conversation than does wit.

It is absolute necessity for a man of genius to play to stupidity.

He who has imagination without learning has wings, but no feet.

He does the crime who profits by it.

Men do not understand one another. There are fewer madmen than we think.

Men make laws, but women make morals.

Great thoughts come from the heart.

People without fortune must be perfect.

Things are wholly worth what we make them worth.

We drink without being thirsty, and make love at any time; that is the only distinction between us and the other animals.

It is to my faults that I owe my virtues.

It is a double pleasure to deceive the deceiver.

When the foe fears us, we must dare everything.

He who complains most is not the most hurt.

More proverbs of France make up today's installment of this series of presentations of the axioms of the various peoples.

We must have reasons for speech, but we need none for silence.

It is not the robe that makes the monk.

Love is the reign of women.

The eagle in one house is in the next a fool.

Marriage puts every one in his place.

The art of pleasing is the art of deceiving.

The first half of life is spent in longing for the second, and the second half in regretting the first.

Prosperity makes few friends.

Reason on love, and you will lose your reason.

Excessive justice is often excessive wrong.

Prayer is a cry of hope.

Quarrels would not last long if the wrongs were all on one side.

Offended self-esteem never forgives.

Wisdom is on the lips of those about to die.

Virtue would not go so far did not vanity bear her company.

He who lives without folly is not so wise as he thinks.

Cowardice is the mother of cruelty.

The slave has but one master; the ambitious man as many as there are people likely to be useful to him.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Jesse D. Holloway Offer To All Who Suffer Stomach Agony, Gas and Indigestion

Money Back if One Bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one dessert spoonful of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can banish indigestion or dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach or any abnormal condition that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

And how happy you will be when your stomach is as good as new for then dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dull eyes and other ailments caused by a disordered stomach will disappear and you will be your old happy, contented self again. Jesse D. Holloway and every regular pharmacist guarantees one bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin to show the way to stomach comfort.

Over 6,000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—ask yourself why?

By Elizabeth Dejeans

Dascome sat down beside her, his hand on the back of the divan, bent over her nestled back in the cushions. "You have much of the child in you—your thoughts lie deep and they mature slowly. You are guided largely by instinct, and a child's instincts are very accurate. My history, told by myself, would be too long a recital for one evening—it is subject matter for such widely divergent opinions. But I have a confession to make. May I?"

Karesia's smile answered his; she felt so satisfied and at ease with him; it had been so from the beginning. "Have you broken some of my best china?"

No. Do you remember the black-beared, black-haired, spectacled man who used to sit in the Cafe du Nord and watch la belle Karesia dance?" He touched his breast. "That was I."

Karesia's eyes widened to their utmost. "You! And every day a handful of roubles!" She flushed to crimson. "It kept us from starving! I had to dance or starve."

"I guessed it. I had to disguise myself, my life wasn't worth the toss of a rouble. I needed the joy watching you gave me, God knows! Afterward when I read 'A Dancer of Petrograd,' I knew who wrote it—the girl who danced and smiled, the skeleton of starvation clinging to her one arm and the grimy hand of the Red Terror always touching the other. It is the truest story of the transition from Kerensky to Lenine and Trotzky that has been written. Your grace of expression saved it from bald realism. It is a gem."

"Then you knew who I was—when you came to my house?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you tell me?"

"Partly because I love to save my pleasures. I have a world of things to tell you, la belle Karesia—later on. May you always care to listen!" Dascome was warmly flushed, his steady eyes absorbed her. Suddenly he was as personal as hitherto he had been impersonal; for the time being, he had slipped his leash. It was as if he meant to say, "Beneath my quiet exterior is a volcano, and you have stirred it into action."

It was a revelation to Karesia of the man's powers of self-control and concealment. She looked down at his strong hands, and she was swept by the wish that they would settle upon her and draw her to him. She felt the craving that knows no rest until it is satisfied. She looked into his eyes, her look said much; then she looked down.

But Dascome's hands did not move. When she looked at him again, his expression had changed completely. "I must go back now," he said. "Clarice is alone," and he rose in his usual resolute way.

Karesia had a feeling of hot rebellion; he had remembered before she did how things were. It was Rossiter who stood between them. On impulse, she rose and brought him Alexander Karesia's photograph; she hoped he would talk of Russia again, it brought him closer to her.

"I found this in the storehouse and brought it here because I wanted to ask you how you came by it. My mother was a Karesia—he was a distant relation of my mother's. He had such high hopes for Russia."

Dascome's expression did not alter. "Alexander Karesia. Yes, I know. His was the brand of socialism that Lenine's is not. He was a splendid dreamer and a good man. He was my wife's first husband. She married him when she was very young—he died not long afterward."

It came back to Karesia now, the story of Alexander Karesia's marriage; he had married a wealthy American girl, a wild, ungovernable creature who had pretended to sympathize with his views; she had left him and it had broken his heart. But in her portrait she had looked so sweet, like a flower! How had she treated Dascome, Karesia wondered? Was it she who had "alienated" Clarice from him?

In her sympathy and interest, Karesia forgot her own restless unhappiness. "I remember now—my mother told me about his marriage. She was very fond of him, she kept his photograph always on her table. You know the costume I wore the evening you first came—I was lonely and had amused myself by putting it on—that was the costume my mother wore when she danced before the czar and czarina."

But the spell had been broken. His eyes were very steadfast again and his face grave and worn. "Your mother made a tour of this country, years ago, when I was a boy. I remember seeing photographs of her in Boston in that very costume. I remember I thought she was very lovely, the eyes and the brow. You look like her, very like her—it was strange, a vision, when I saw you in Russia. You were a vision when you opened the door to me here. Do you mind that I didn't tell you before?"

Karesia tried to smile. "I have a queer sort of feeling that whatever you do is right, so, of course, I don't mind."

Dascome flushed suddenly and the hand he gave her was burning. But all he said was, "Thank you again for helping me with Clarice. I have worried over her ever since she was a baby, and a kindness to her is a treble kindness to me. Don't come down—I'll let myself out."

When he had gone, Karesia walked the floor. "He's right not to come! He's right!" she said to herself.

She walked and thought herself into determination, then sat down to consider details. Presently she went to her desk and opened the package of cards which Rossiter had left. They were beautifully engraved and, in the top left-hand corner was a miniature reproduction of his patio. There were spaces for the guest's name and for the guest of honor. Karesia took one of the cards and wrote, "Miss Clarice Dascome," in one space; the space for the guest of honor she left blank. She addressed one of the envelopes and put the card in it. Then she went downstairs and out the back way to Takimoto's cottage. There was merriment in the Japanese menage, the notes of a samisen, a chattering in Japanese, and a woman's laugh. "At least they are happy," was Karesia's thought.

Dascome's expression did not alter. "Alexander Karesia. Yes, I know. His was the brand of socialism that Lenine's is not. He was a splendid dreamer and a good man. He was my wife's first husband. She married him when she was very young—he died not long afterward."

It came back to Karesia now, the story of Alexander Karesia's marriage; he had married a wealthy American girl, a wild, ungovernable creature who had pretended to sympathize with his views; she had left him and it had broken his heart. But in her portrait she had looked so sweet, like a flower! How had she treated Dascome, Karesia wondered? Was it she who had "allenated" Clarice from him?

In her sympathy and interest, Karesia forgot her own restless unhappiness. "I remember now—my mother told me about his marriage. She was very fond of him, she kept his photograph always on her table. You know the costume I wore the evening you first came—I was lonely and had amused myself by putting it on—that was the costume my mother wore when she danced before the czar and czarina."

But the spell had been broken. His eyes were very steadfast again and his face grave and worn. "Your mother made a tour of this country, years ago, when I was a boy. I remember seeing photographs of her in Boston in that very costume. I remember I thought she was very lovely, the eyes and the brow. You look like her, very like her—it was strange, a vision, when I saw you in Russia. You were a vision when you opened the door to me here. Do you mind that I didn't tell you before?"

Karesia tried to smile. "I have a queer sort of feeling that whatever you do is right, so, of course, I don't mind."

Dascome flushed suddenly and the hand he gave her was burning. But all he said was, "Thank you again for helping me with Clarice. I have worried over her ever since she was a baby, and a kindness to her is a treble kindness to me. Don't come down—I'll let myself out."

When he had gone, Karesia walked the floor. "He's right not to come! He's right!" she said to herself.

She walked and thought herself into determination, then sat down to consider details. Presently she went to her desk and opened the package of cards which Rossiter had left. They were beautifully engraved and, in the top left-hand corner was a miniature reproduction of his patio. There were spaces for the guest's name and for the guest of honor. Karesia took one of the cards and wrote, "Miss Clarice Dascome," in one space; the space for the guest of honor she left blank. She addressed one of the envelopes and put the card in it. Then she went downstairs and out the back way to Takimoto's cottage. There was merriment in the Japanese menage, the notes of a samisen, a chattering in Japanese, and a woman's laugh. "At least they are happy," was Karesia's thought.

NEVADA FAILS TO TABOO GAS FOR MURDERERS

Western State Refuses to Act Despite "Barbarism Cry."

TONGMAN VICTIM

State Legislature Will Not Oppose Lethal Executions.

CARSON CITY, Nevada, Jan.—Lethal gassing will remain the means of execution in Nevada.

That death by this method is the most humane inflicted today seems to be the contention of the majority of the Nevada state senators and assemblymen. Nevada, pioneer in an untried method of imposing the age-old penalty of a "tooth for a tooth," executed a Chinese tong slayer with the dealy hydrocyanic acid gas in February last year.

Ever since other states have watched with interest to see if the law calling for death by gas would be repealed by the state legislature.

"Nevada, so far as I know, has no intention of striking out the law that made the world gasp last year," said John I. Peterson, state senator. "Although capital punishment in any form seems horrible, it is necessary; and it is my opinion that the lethal gas execution is the solution to the humaness of the problem."

Will Stick to Gas

Many other members of the Senate are of the same opinion. They denounce electrocution, hanging and shooting and say that if any bill intended to repeal the lethal gas law is introduced in the state legislature they will fight it.

From the medical profession, which was represented by several physicians at the execution last year, only one dissenting voice was heard.

One doctor charged that Gee Jon, the convicted slayer had died from "cold and exposure" and not from inhalation of the deadly fumes. This was later pointed out to be erroneous by Warden Denver S. Dickerson, who called attention to the three electric heaters in the death-cell and said that the temperature of the room was above 80 degrees Fahrenheit.

Nevada's lethal-gas means of capital punishment had its birth when an assemblyman from Elko county read a novel in which one of the characters committed suicide by the "almond scented gas route." The book described how painless the death was; and a bill to adopt this form of capital punishment was immediately introduced in the legislature and passed.

Used Hydrocyanogen

No certain gas was decided upon, and no provisions for its administration were made. When Gee Jon, the tongman, was convicted of murder it was found that the execution had to be by gas.

Sanford Dinsmore, State Food and Drug Commissioner, was called into consultation, and hydrocyanogen, a gas derived from hydrocyanic acid, was decided upon. The acid had been in use for several years as a spray for fruit trees, and the gas had been used to rid granaries of vermin.

Preparations were started immediately on a death-cell, the building chosen being a ramshackle affair in the prison yard. The interior was covered with plaster and the window edges sealed with parafin.

Nevada then snuffed out Gee Jon's life, amid the cries of "Barbarians!" From other states. The execution was such a success from the humane standpoint, according to medical authorities, that it seems the state will cling to the method and fight any attempts to repeal the law.

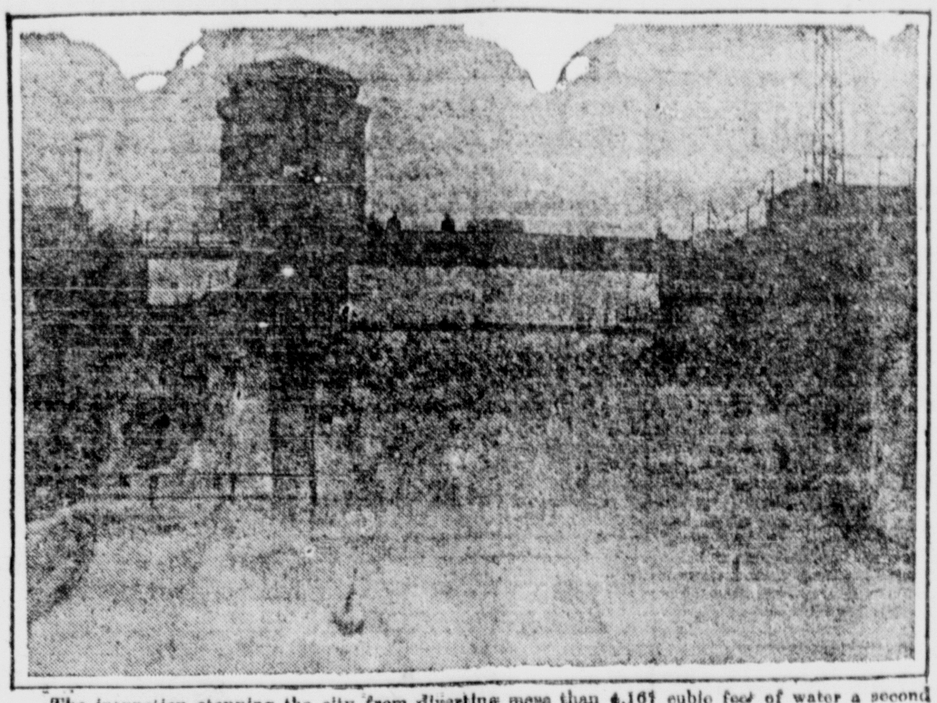
Radios and Autos Supplant Churches In Western State

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. Jan.—Charges that automobiles, radios, and other "luxuries" are suplanting the churches in rural districts througout Oklahoma will be made when the Methodist Episcopal convention meets here February 13 to discuss plans for creating more interest in the country churches, it is said.

Officials of the denomination declare that during the past few months many rural congregations have advised their pastors that they can no longer support a church. In these same communities, however, there is a radio in nearly every home and few residents do not own automobiles, according to the churchmen.

A remedy for this condition will be discussed at the conference. Similar conferences will be held in St. Louis February 10, and in Kansas City Fberuary 11.

Chicago Carries Drainage Fight to Congress



The injunction stopping the city from diverting more than 4,167 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan to dispose of its sewage, having been upheld by the U. S. supreme court, Chicago has carried its fight to keep the figure at 10,000 cubic feet a second to congress. City authorities declare the decision imperils the health of millions. For years, Mid-west states and Canada, alarmed by the lowering of the level of the great lakes, have been fighting the increased diversion of water by Chicago. The photo shows the gate at Lockport, Ill., which controls the diversion.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT, IS FIERY, ITCHY OR ROUGH, USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

Gives Wife Adlerika For Stomach Trouble

A merchant whose wife had stomach trouble finally gave her Adlerika. It helped her at once. The pleasant and QUICK action of Adlerika is surprising. It helps any case gas on the stomach unless due to deep-seated causes. It is excellent as an intestinal evacuant and a wonderful remedy for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes. Japan is Flooded With Counterfeit American Money

The reason is that several counterfeit American bills have been circulated in the city recently. One $100 bill which an obliging tradesman changed for a customer who made a small purchase was found to be "phoney," and several bogus $20 bills have been discovered.

Detectives are keeping a close watch in the hope of capturing those responsible for circulation of the spurious currency.

District Attorney's Office Probes Baseball Scandal

Runyon Says

The Finns Are the Great Skaters. And Mr. Thunberg Knows He Is. They Wait 'Til They Are Grown Up A Twenty-five-year-old Is Child. Strain of Skating Is On the Legs.

By DAMON RUNYON.
(Copyright, 1925, by International Feature Service.)

YOU are reading much of Paavo Nurmi, wonderful runner from Finland.

That is a small country, but it produces great athletes, perhaps the greatest the world has ever seen in certain fields.

Their skaters are remarkable men. The writer learned of them from Joe Moore, slim, pleasant-looking young American amateur skater, who met the Finns on the ice in the Olympic contests at Chamonix, France, last year.

Joe Moore is a New York boy, a marvel on the ice. He is now 25 years old and has been skating since he was 14. At 15 he won the Metropolitan championship at the old St. Nicholas rink, where they once held boxing bouts.

Joe Moore for six years has held the world's indoor amateur championship; also he holds the Canadian National and Middle Atlantic championships. He finished first in three races in the Olympic contests, but didn't make the best time; therefore, under the strange scoring system of the Olympics, he didn't win.

Joe Moore says Thunberg, the Olympic champion, a Finlander, is a marvelous skater, also something of a character.

"I congratulated him on his victory," Moore told the writer. "I said to him, 'You are a great skater, Mr. Thunberg,' and he answered, 'Yes, I KNOW I AM!'

"All those Finnish skaters are like that—confident, dead-sure of themselves," said Moore. "I wouldn't say they are swell-headed, of boastful, but they know what they can do. And HOW THEY CAN DO IT!

"Nobody knows how far Thunberg can skate. I wouldn't be much surprised if he went a thousand miles without stopping. He's in a class by himself.

"We'll never be able to produce skaters like the Finns," the young man continued. "Their ability goes back to their ordinary routine of daily life. We'd have to live like them for five of six years to get their fundamentals.

"They nearly all live in the country, get up very early, go to bed early. They are methodical, systematic. They do a lot of walking, which develops their legs. Naturally, legs are a skater's most important equipment.

"Moreover the Finns have the opportunity for more regular skating than we have in this country. They have long periods of ice. Over here the season of outdoor ice is short, except in a few localities. There's little opportunity of outdoor skating around New York, for instance.

"The Finns don't take to racing until they are fully matured. One of their greatest skaters is Paul Oson, who is 25, and he enters only the sprints.

"I asked why he didn't race in the distance events, and they said, 'Oh, he's too young! He's only a baby!'

"Skuppnob, the man who won the 10,000 meters race in the Olympics, is 37, and has three children. He's a dairyman in Finland.

"They pay little attention to set training rules such as we observe," Moore went on. "They drink liquor when they feel like it, and do a lot of smoking.

"I was sitting at a table with Thurnberg, a glass of water in front of me, while he had a glass of champagne. That was when I congratulated him on his skating. He pointed at my glass of water, and said, 'You,' then touched his glass of champagne, and said to me.'

"He meant to convey, as I gathered, that in skating I compared to him as champagne compares to water. Yet I don't think he meant anything offensive by it. It was just his way.

"They skate entirely different from our system," said Moore. "We always get away sharp and very fast. They move off quite leisurely.

"It does no good to get the jump on them at the start. They come along steadily, picking up speed at every move. They use skates with eighteen-inch blades, while ours are fifteen and a half inches long—and we thought we had long blades!

"Their blades are narrower than ours, but I don't think their advantage is in their skates. It's in their natural ability. They are tremendous on the ice."

Those who live in regions where there is no ice skating may be interested in the statement that it is one of the most strenuous of sports.

On New Year's day, in the Middle-Atlantic championship at Newburgh, New York, young Moore skated intermittently from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Skating involves a terrific muscular and mental strain, yet skaters last longer than almost any other athletes. That is because the muscular strain is on the legs. There is no strain on the heart.

When young Moore trains for racing on the ice, he skates. That is practically his only training. Unlike a boxer, he does not mix in a lot of other exercises.

Skating in races is largely a matter of pace.

In this important respect, as Moore related, the Finns are more accurate and scientific than the Americans.

They wear watches on their wrists. Thus they know at all times just how fast they are going. The American skaters trust to their judgment of pace, to their instinct.

The reader will at once say, as the writer said to Moore, "Well, why don't you wear a watch, too?"

"Oh, I can judge my pace without it," he rpelied.

There are any number of skating titles, so many, in fact, the thing seems rather confusing.

Oscar Mathieson, of Norway, is called the world's professional champion. He is a remarkable skater. Larsen, of Norway, is another great skater.

In America, Art Staff, of Chicago, is champion. Then there are numerous record holders at different distances, including Richard Donovan, of St. Paul, holder of the mile speed record, made over a six-lap track.

May Be Able to Get Further Knowledge On O'Connell Deal

Will Find Out if Other Members of Club Know Anything About Alleged Bribe; Dolan's Testimony Will be Sought.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Regardless of lamentations to the contrary the local district attorney's office expects to strike pay dirt somewhere in its impending excavations in and around the Dolan-O'Connell scandal which rocked the baseball world last October. Many seem to think that no additional light will be thrown on the situation by an official inquiry, that District Attorney Joab Banton will find his hands tied just as secretly as were those of Judge Landis when the original probe was instituted. It is evident that the district attorney's office does not concur.

It knows what it can do with witnesses when they are placed under oath and asked questions that require more illuminating answers than the mere affirmative or negative, as the case may be.

If, as some people seem to feel, Frank Frisch, Ross Young and George Kelly have guilty knowledge of O'Connell's attempt to bribe Heine Sand, the district attorney's office will be sufficiently inquisitive to discover just what these men know, if anything.

In this respect, local officials will find conditions for an inquiry far more favorable than did Landis. The judge could go so far and no further. He could not place his witnesses under oath and if all of them saw fit to give the "don't remember" reply to his questions, he could have done nothing about it, except to oust those concerned from baseball. But that would have left the case in a more opaque condition than it is.

Of course, if nothing new is uncovered, O'Connell will be the only victim. On his own admission, he can be sent to jail and plastered with a heavy fine. This is a highly undesirable outcome. Baseball doesn't want it, the fans do not want it and I think I take no undue liberty in answering for O'Connell himself. He doesn't want it.

The district attorney's office, cognizant of this popular attitude, does not plan to institute extradition proceedings. O'Connell, coming here on invitation, would be footloose and fancy free. were he extradited, he immediately would become liable to the actions of the grand jury.

He could be arrested while in New York in either case, but it is likely that a guarantee of immunity will be given him in order to gain the benefit of his testimony.

Just what Dolan will do is a question. If he is guilty, as charged by Landis, and can be made to admit it, the possibility is by no means remote that he would involve others who might have a connection with the attempted bribery. But Cozy is in Oshkosh and may see fit to stay there. He once talked loudly of instituting legal proceedings to obtain reinstatement but seemed to think better of it.

If he declines to appear, it is more than possible that this latest inquiry will have few important developments. Dolan is the focal point of the entire situation. Through him only, the guilt or innocence of other possible conspirators can be established for all time. According to New York law, no one, not even Dolan, can be convicted on the unsupported testimony of a self-confessed "fixer," such as O'Connell happens to be.

Will Dundee Explain Affair to Bretonnel?

Johnny Dundee ran out of a battle with Fred Bretonnel in Paris to rush home to claim the world's lightweight championship as Benny Leonard's retirement was reported.

Which brings two thoughts.

What assurance will the promoter have who matches Dundee as "champion," that Dundee will not run out on him?

And is Dundee is acclaimed champion, as he desires to be, how will he explain sneaking out of the Bretonnel affair?

Hitters Most Highly Paid

"Dazzy" Vance has been offered a contract by the Robins that calls for a salary of $10,000 a year. Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby, and a dozen or more hitters of lesser fame, are drawing larger salaries than that right now. Which indicates again the relative value of pitching and hitting in the eyes of the big league bosses.

STRIBLING ADDS TO KAYO RECORD

Fords Lose and Drop to Third Place

Turning in a score of 41 to 34, the Trotters five of the "Y" industrial basketball league downed the Liverpool Motors last night on the "Y" court.

The winners generally outplayed their opponents in this clash, although their shooting was anything but perfect. The score probably would have been much larger had they succeeded in making good on half their tries.

In the second, the Chevrolet passers went into the lead when Watson shot one in from the field. When time was up for the half the Market street crew had piled up a five-point lead, the count being 19-14.

During the third period, both squads tried plenty of shots from the field with the Fords climbing to within two points of the enemy's score. The tally at the end of the quarter was 28-26.

But the Chevrolet quintet stepped on the gas in the concluding frame and drew away so rapidly that the Motors were unable to keep up. The Chevrolets speeded into second place as a result of their conquest.

Watson was the big gun in the Chevrolets' attack, finding the baskets for nine field goals and three fouls. McConville and Brooks starred at the guards.

Lineup and summary:

Liverpool Motors		Chevrolets
Bromby	F	Beeler

Brozka	C	Watson
Canne	G	McConville
Cox	G	Brooks

Ten World Records Shattered by Nurmi In Races in U. S.

For 2¼ and 2½ miles by Paavo Nurmi at Newark last night brought the great Finn's total of new records established in this country to an even ten since beginning competition here about three weeks ago. Nurmi stepped the 2½ mile distance in 10:42 and the longer route in 12:03. His remaining record performances in America follows:

1,500 meters, 3:56; one mile 3:13 3-5; 5,000 meters 14:44 3-5; mile and 3-4, 7:55 2-5; 3,000 meters 8:26 4-5; mile and 7-8, 8:29; 2,999 meters, 5:33.

'STOP LYNCH' IS MOUNT'S SLOGAN

Coach Detrick's men are doped to win, but a good game is expected. Ohio Northern, though not exhibiting the brand of basket ball displayed last year, has a five that is not to be sneezed at, and Mount's men are still rather weak in passing.

This will make the last non-conference game on the Purple schedule, the following Saturday being dedicated to a scrap with Hiram on the enemy's floor.

Burkle, the heavy new tryout for guard, may start the game Monday, as he has shown up well in the other clashes.

Seeks Bigger Fields

His recent victory over the veteran "Ted" Lewis in England has spurred Tommy Milligan, British mauler, on to conquer more worlds. He is coming to the U. S. in search of bouts with welterweights here, including Mickey Walker, the Shade dodging champ.

Finish Season With 18 Consecutive Victories.

Standing out so far ahead of the opposition that their class was indicated in no uncertain manner, the Laughlin 6 crew of the "Y" industrial volley ball circuit last night turned in their eighteenth straight victory and carried off championship honors in the final games of the season.

The Laughlin 6 tossers won without opposition last night, being given three forfeit contests from the Laughlin 5 team.

Although quite a distance away from the leaders, the Smith-Phillips team finished second, a full game ahead of the Decorators. The Oaklanders won 10 games and lost 2.

The Adamant No. 2 team was at the foot of the ladder, with 12 defeats chalked up against them in as many games. This squad came into existence in the latter part of the season.

The final standing follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Laughlin, 6	18	0	1.000
Smith-Phillips	10	2	.833
Decorators	9	3	.750
Laughlin, 5	9	6	.600
Adamant, 1	5	13	.278
B. & W.	3	9	.250
Laughlin, E. E.	3	12	.200

SUNDAY SCHOOL GAMES TONIGHT

Two contests are scheduled tonight in the Sunday school basketball league, on the Methodist Protestant court.

The Methodist Episcopal and Baptist Juniors will meet in the preliminary at 7 o'clock. The Methodist Protestant and Park Boulevard Intermediates clash in the main contest.

LOCAL LASSIES WIN FAST GAME

The girls' basketball team of the St. Stephens Episcopal church defeated the Wellsville M. E. church team Tuesday evening on the St. Stephens' parish house court by the score of 15 to 11. The lineup.

Wellsville M. E.		St. Stephens.
Irvin	F.	Imbrie
Wickline	F.	Redick
Orr	C.	Betts

Vernia	G.	Bayley

Substitutions—W. Green for Dyke, E. Green for Sayre, McConnell for Redick; refree—R. Cooper; scorer—Buell.

Baseball Is Next In Line On Y Court

Plans are Announced for Indoor League.

"Y" industrial volleyball athletes who concluded their season's schedule with last night's games will turn their attention now to indoor baseball.

Plans for the organization of an industrial league of this nature were announced by industrial department executives today.

According to present arrangements the league will complete its organization moves and be ready to swing into action in probably two weeks.

Executive department officials have instructed prospective shop entries to file their applications for the league early.

ROAMERS DEFEAT GLENMORE QUINT

The East Liverpool Roamers defeated the Glenmore five, 14-11, in a warm contest Tuesday evening on the Glenmore court.

Bloor was the star for the Roamers, with four field goals to his credit while Foutts performed well for the losers.

Last Night's Fights

BUFFALO—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, defeated Joe Lohman, Toledo, six rounds; Sid Terris, New York, earned decision over Joe Hall, Buffalo, six rounds; Charlie O'Connell, Cleveland, got decision over Joe Jawson, Milwaukee, six rounds; Bobby Hamilton, Buffalo, got decision over Johnny MacGregor, Niagara Falls, six rounds. Benny Ross, Buffalo, and Phil Jackson, Buffalo, fought a six round draw.

The Wrong Place.

Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion, has undergone an operation for the removal of a bone from his hand. Most fighters would be benefited by such an operation on their heads.

District Attorney's Office Probes Baseball Scandal

Runyon Says

The Finns Are the Great Skaters. And Mr. Thunberg Knows He Is. They Wait 'Til They Are Grown Up A Twenty-five-year-old Is Child. Strain of Skating Is On the Legs.

By DAMON RUNYON.
(Copyright, 1925, by International Feature Service.)

YOU are reading much of Paavo Nurmi, wonderful runner from Finland.

That is a small country, but it produces great athletes, perhaps the greatest the world has ever seen in certain fields.

Their skaters are remarkable men. The writer learned of them from Joe Moore, slim, pleasant-looking young American amateur skater, who met the Finns on the ice in the Olympic contests at Chamonix, France, last year.

Joe Moore is a New York boy, a marvel on the ice. He is now 25 years old and has been skating since he was 14. At 15 he won the Metropolitan championship at the old St. Nicholas rink, where they once held boxing bouts.

Joe Moore for six years has held the world's indoor amateur championship, also he holds the Canadian National and Middle Atlantic championships. He finished first in three races in the Olympic contests, but didn't make the best time; therefore, under the strange scoring system of the Olympics, he didn't win.

Joe Moore says Thunberg, the Olympic champion, a Finlander, is a marvelous skater, also something of a character.

"I congratulated him on his victory," Moore told the writer. "I said to him, 'You are a great skater, Mr. Thunberg,' and he answered, 'Yes, I KNOW I AM!'

"All those Finnish skaters are like that—confident, dead-sure of themselves," said Moore. "I wouldn't say they are swell-headed, of boastful, but they know what they can do. And HOW THEY CAN DO IT!

"Nobody knows how far Thunberg can skate. I wouldn't be much surprised if he went a thousand miles without stopping. He's in a class by himself.

"We'll never be able to produce skaters like the Finns," the young man continued. "Their ability goes back to their ordinary routine of daily life. We'd have to live like them for five of six years to get their fundamentals.

"They nearly all live in the country, get up very early, go to bed early. They are methodical, systematic. They do a lot of walking, which develops their legs. Naturally, legs are a skater's most important equipment.

"Moreover the Finns have the opportunity for more regular skating than we have in this country. They have long periods of ice. Over here the season of outdoor ice is short, except in a few localities. There's little opportunity of outdoor skating around New York, for instance.

"The Finns don't take to racing until they are fully matured. One of their greatest skaters is Paul Oson, who is 25, and he enters only the sprints.

"I asked why he didn't race in the distance events, and they said, 'Oh, he's too young! He's only a baby!'

"Skuppnob, the man who won the 10,000 meters race in the Olympics, is 37, and has three children. He's a dairyman in Finland.

"They pay little attention to set training rules such as we observe," Moore went on. "They drink liquor when they feel like it, and do a lot of smoking.

"I was sitting at a table with Thurnberg, a glass of water in front of me, while he had a glass of champagne. That was when I congratulated him on his skating. He pointed at my glass of water, and said, 'You,' then touched his glass of champagne, and said to me.'

"He meant to convey, as I gathered, that in skating I compared to him as champagne compares to water. Yet I don't think he meant anything offensive by it. It was just his way.

"They skate entirely different from our system," said Moore. "We always get away sharp and very fast. They move off quite leisurely.

"It does no good to get the jump on them at the start. They come along steadily, picking up speed at every move. They use skates with eighteen-inch blades, while ours are fifteen and a half inches long—and we thought we had long blades!

"Their blades are narrower than ours, but I don't think their advantage is in their skates. It's in their natural ability. They are tremendous on the ice."

Those who live in regions where there is no ice skating may be interested in the statement that it is one of the most strenuous of sports.

On New Year's day, in the Middle-Atlantic championship at Newburgh, New York, young Moore skated intermittently from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Skating involves a terrific muscular and mental strain, yet skaters last longer than almost any other athletes. That is because the muscular strain is on the legs. There is no strain on the heart.

When young Moore trains for racing on the ice, he skates. That is practically his only training. Unlike a boxer, he does not mix in a lot of other exercises.

Skating in races is largely a matter of pace.

In this important respect, as Moore related, the Finns are more accurate and scientific than the Americans.

They wear watches on their wrists. Thus they know at all times just how fast they are going. The American skaters trust to their judgment of pace, to their instinct.

The reader will at once say, as the writer said to Moore, "Well, why don't you wear a watch, too?"

"Oh, I can judge my pace without it," he rpelied.

There are any number of skating titles, so many, in fact, the thing seems rather confusing.

Oscar Mathieson, of Norway, is called the world's professional champion. He is a remarkable skater. Larsen, of Norway, is another great skater.

In America, Art Staff, of Chicago, is champion. Then there are numerous record holders at different distances, including Richard Donovan, of St. Paul, holder of the mile speed record, made over a six-lap track.

May Be Able to Get Further Knowledge On O'Connell Deal

Will Find Out if Other Members of Club Know Anything About Alleged Bribe; Dolan's Testimony Will be Sought.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Regardless of lamentations to the contrary the local district attorney's office expects to strike pay dirt somewhere in its impending excavations in and around the Dolan-O'Connell scandal which rocked the baseball world last October. Many seem to think that no additional light will be thrown on the situation by an official inquiry, that District Attorney Joab Banton will find his hands tied just as secretly as were those of Judge Landis when the original probe was instituted. It is evident that the district attorney's office does not concur.

It knows what it can do with witnesses when they are placed under oath and asked questions that require more illuminating answers than the mere affirmative or negative, as the case may be.

If, as some people seem to feel, Frank Frisch, Ross Young and George Kelly have guilty knowledge of O'Connell's attempt to bribe Heine Sand, the district attorney's office will be sufficiently inquisitive to discover just what these men know, if anything.

In this respect, local officials will find conditions for an inquiry far more favorable than did Landis. The judge could go so far and no further. He could not place his witnesses under oath and if all of them saw fit to give the "don't remember" reply to his questions, he could have done nothing about it, except to oust those concerned from baseball. But that would have left the case in a more opaque condition than it is.

Of course, if nothing new is uncovered, O'Connell will be the only victim. On his own admission, he can be sent to jail and plastered with a heavy fine. This is a highly undesirable outcome. Baseball doesn't want it, the fans do not want it and I think I take no undue liberty in answering for O'Connell himself. He doesn't want it.

The district attorney's office, cognizant of this popular attitude, does not plan to institute extradition proceedings. O'Connell, coming here on invitation, would be footloose and fancy free. were he extradited, he immediately would become liable to the actions of the grand jury.

He could be arrested while in New York in either case, but it is likely that a guarantee of immunity will be given him in order to gain the benefit of his testimony.

Just what Dolan will do is a question. If he is guilty, as charged by Landis, and can be made to admit it, the possibility is by no means remote that he would involve others who might have a connection with the attempted bribery. But Cozy is in Oshkosh and may see fit to stay there. He once talked loudly of instituting legal proceedings to obtain reinstatement but seemed to think better of it.

If he declines to appear, it is more than possible that this latest inquiry will have few important developments. Dolan is the focal point of the entire situation. Through him only, the guilt or innocence of other possible conspirators can be established for all time. According to New York law, no one, not even Dolan, can be convicted on the unsupported testimony of a self-confessed "fixer," such as O'Connell happens to be.

W. V. U. PRIMING FOR MARIETTA

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 22—West Virginia University cagers are going to have a hard job on their hands tomorrow night when they play Marietta College on the "Ark" court here. The Mountaineers are reported to have advanced since their last appearance on the home floor and despite Marietta's showing against Bethany, the Bisons having had to hustle to win, followers of the Stadsvold crew feel that it stands a good chance of copping tomorrow's engagement.

Marietta may not be as strong as Allegheny but its men are experienced cagers with a record as impressive as that of the Pennsylvania Methodists. The Mountaineers are not taking tomorrow's game lightly and have carefully prepared for the invasion of the Ohio quint. Marietta will lineup with Captain Walker and Art Ward, forwards; Harris, center; Lockard and E. Ward, guards. The squad will arrive in Morgantown early tomorrow and rest before meeting the Mountaineers.

Coach Stadsvold will not make any change in the West Virginia lineup but intends to hold Ed. Morrison, Julian Murrin and Bill Heizer in reserve for emergency service. Strict enforcement of the personal foul rule makes it necessary for all teams to have at least eight "regulars" ready for duty. Murrin and Heizer have been getting into almost every game and Morrison is also in line for more work than a second string player expects.

CARNEGIE FIVES IDLE NEXT WEEK

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—There will be a lull in basketball at Carnegie Tech because of the mid-year exams, no games being scheduled for either the varsity or freshmen the coming week. Grove City makes its annual appearance here on February 6, while on the following night the Plebes are to play California Normal here.

Carnegie boasts of a good basketball team this season, one that will improve as the season advances, a light, fast, scrappy little aggregation.

The freshmen are heavier and have also done very well of late. Last week the yearlings elected Al Sebastian of Youngstown, O., captain. Sebastian prepared at Rayen high school. This year he made his numerals on the freshman football team.

France has a tailless airplane.

Gets Chance With Giants

Harry Harper, who served time with the Yankees, Red Sox and Senators, is the latest has-been to be given a chance by John McGraw. The southpaw has McGraw's word that he will get a chance if he can get his old soupbone into condition. Harper plans to work out at Hot Springs, Ark., until the Giant squad reports at Sarasota, Fla.

Wants McInnis

Rumor hath it now that Jack Hendricks, Red pilot, would like to land "Stuffy" McInnis, veteran first sacker of the Red Sox, Athletics, Indians and Braves. Looks as though Jack wasn't reading the papers while McInnis was with the Indians or after Stuffy joined Boston. McInnis is near the end of the road.

Nipped in the Bud.

Tiger Flowers proved to be a Tiger Lily when he tackled Jack Delaney, the other night. Brother Jack nipped the Flower in the bud, so to speak.

Hollocher Getting Set For Big Season

Charley Hollocher, once headed for a permanent place in baseball's hall of fame as shortstop with the Cubs, has announced that he expects to show his old time form with the team next season.

Hollocher was lost to the Cubs the latter part of last year due to illness. He had been ailing for months. He was not in good shape when he reported for the 1924 campaign. His illness was described as ranging from stomach trouble to a desire for more money.

He returned to his home in St. Louis before the season ended and since then has been taking good care of himself in the hope of getting back into good form. Hollocher said that he had become convinced the disease was mostly a nervous one and was treating it as such, substituting exercise, pure food and relaxation for seventeen different kinds of medicine.

make the Cubs a pennant contender Here's hoping that he has the right idea. Hollocher's return to form will again.

LITTLE RESIGNS MICHIGAN POST

ALL ARBOR, MICH., Jan. 22—George Little, football coach at the University of Michigan, and assistant athletic director to Fielding H. Yost, will leave these duties within a month or six weeks to assume the position of athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, it was learned here. Yost announced he has accepted Little's resignation.

Memory Still Poor.

Cozy Dolan's memory hasn't returned. Commissioner Landis has received no inkling from the former Giant coach that he has recalled any of the facts in connection with the futile attempt of Jimmy O'Connell to bribe Heinie Sands of the Phillies at Cozy's alleged suggestion.

It is now recalled that the state legislature of New York, in 1921, made such an act on the part of a ball player a crime. Under that law a baseball plyer who offers or accepts a bribe is guilty of a felony, punishable by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than five years and by a fine of not more than $10,000.

It might be that Dolan would become more ernest in his efforts to dust the cobwebs off his brain were he placed face to face with the possibilities of being found guilty of the offence of which he has been accused and going to the hoosegow for the same.

On the shores of Hull, England, the Anglo-American Society of Hull recently erected a stone monument in memory of the departure thence of the Pilgrim Fathers.

English Woman Bookmaker Seeks to Forget Her Lost Love in U. S.

Mrs. Helen Vernet, England's only woman licensed bookmaker, is in the United States, seeking forgetfulness. She has just been divorced from her husband, whom she calls "one of the most charming men in the world." They had been married 14 years. She became a bookmaker, she says, because she couldn't make money fast enough as a modiste.

Arctic Explorer Seeks End of "Endless" Caverns

Captain R. A. Bartlett, noted Arctic adventurer, has organized an expedition to explore and reach the end of the maze-like Endless caverns, near New Market, Va., which have never been penetrated. The party will build a cabin a mile and a half down from the entrance, and work on from there. The photo shows a section of the interior of "Skyland cavern."

W. V. U. PRIMING FOR MARIETTA

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 22—West Virginia University cagers are going to have a hard job on their hands tomorrow night when they play Marietta College on the "Ark" court here. The Mountaineers are reported to have advanced since their last appearance on the home floor and despite Marietta's showing against Bethany, the Bisons having had to hustle to win, followers of the Stadsvold crew feel that it stands a good chance of copping tomorrow's engagement.

Marietta may not be as strong as Allegheny but its men are experienced cagers with a record as impressive as that of the Pennsylvania Methodists. The Mountaineers are not taking tomorrow's game lightly and have carefully prepared for the invasion of the Ohio quint. Marietta will lineup with Captain Walker and Art Ward, forwards; Harris, center; Lockard and E. Ward, guards. The squad will arrive in Morgantown early tomorrow and rest before meeting the Mountaineers.

Coach Stadsvold will not make any change in the West Virginia lineup but intends to hold Ed. Morrison, Julian Murrin and Bill Heizer in reserve for emergency service. Strict enforcement of the personal foul rule makes it necessary for all teams to have at least eight "regulars" ready for duty. Murrin and Heizer have been getting into almost every game and Morrison is also in line for more work than a second string player expects.

CARNEGIE FIVES IDLE NEXT WEEK

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—There will be a lull in basketball at Carnegie Tech because of the mid-year exams, no games being scheduled for either the varsity or freshmen the coming week. Grove City makes its annual appearance here on February 6, while on the following night the Plebes are to play California Normal here.

Carnegie boasts of a good basketball team this season, one that will improve as the season advances, a light, fast, scrappy little aggregation.

The freshmen are heavier and have also done very well of late. Last week the yearlings elected Al Sebastian of Youngstown, O., captain. Sebastian prepared at Rayen high school. This year he made his numerals on the freshman football team.

France has a tailless airplane.

Gets Chance With Giants

Harry Harper, who served time with the Yankees, Red Sox and Senators, is the latest has-been to be given a chance by John McGraw. The southpaw has McGraw's word that he will get a chance if he can get his old soupbone into condition. Harper plans to work out at Hot Springs, Ark., until the Giant squad reports at Sarasota, Fla.

Wants McInnis

Rumor hath it now that Jack Hendricks, Red pilot, would like to land "Stuffy" McInnis, veteran first sacker of the Red Sox, Athletics, Indians and Braves. Looks as though Jack wasn't reading the papers while McInnis was with the Indians or after Stuffy joined Boston. McInnis is near the end of the road.

Nipped in the Bud.

Tiger Flowers proved to be a Tiger Lily when he tackled Jack Delaney, the other night. Brother Jack nipped the Flower in the bud, so to speak.

Hollocher Getting Set For Big Season

Charley Hollocher, once headed for a permanent place in baseball's hall of fame as shortstop with the Cubs, has announced that he expects to show his old time form with the team next season.

Hollocher was lost to the Cubs the latter part of last year due to illness. He had been ailing for months. He was not in good shape when he reported for the 1924 campaign. His illness was described as ranging from stomach trouble to a desire for more money.

He returned to his home in St. Louis before the season ended and since then has been taking good care of himself in the hope of getting back into good form. Hollocher said that he had become convinced the disease was mostly a nervous one and was treating it as such, substituting exercise, pure food and relaxation for seventeen different kinds of medicine.

make the Cubs a pennant contender Here's hoping that he has the right idea. Hollocher's return to form will again.

LITTLE RESIGNS MICHIGAN POST

ALL ARBOR, MICH., Jan. 22—George Little, football coach at the University of Michigan, and assistant athletic director to Fielding H. Yost, will leave these duties within a month or six weeks to assume the position of athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, it was learned here. Yost announced he has accepted Little's resignation.

Memory Still Poor.

Cozy Dolan's memory hasn't returned. Commissioner Landis has received no inkling from the former Giant coach that he has recalled any of the facts in connection with the futile attempt of Jimmy O'Connell to bribe Heinie Sands of the Phillies at Cozy's alleged suggestion.

It is now recalled that the state legislature of New York, in 1921, made such an act on the part of a ball player a crime. Under that law a baseball plyer who offers or accepts a bribe is guilty of a felony, punishable by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than five years and by a fine of not more than $10,000.

It might be that Dolan would become more ernest in his efforts to dust the cobwebs off his brain were he placed face to face with the possibilities of being found guilty of the offence of which he has been accused and going to the hoosegow for the same.

On the shores of Hull, England, the Anglo-American Society of Hull recently erected a stone monument in memory of the departure thence of the Pilgrim Fathers.

English Woman Bookmaker Seeks to Forget Her Lost Love in U. S.

Mrs. Helen Vernet, England's only woman licensed bookmaker, is in the United States, seeking forgetfulness. She has just been divorced from her husband, whom she calls "one of the most charming men in the world." They had been married 14 years. She became a bookmaker, she says, because she couldn't make money fast enough as a modiste.

MIDLAND

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS BURIED HERE

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock for Jack Cristler, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cristler of Midland avenue, who was killed in the Crucible Steel plant here Saturday. Pallbearers were members of the Masonic lodge. Rev. Fohner, of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was made in the Bethlehem cemetery at Shippingport, Pa.

Home from Hospital.

Alex Zigas, of Penn avenue, who has been in the East Liverpool hospital for several weeks recovering from injuries sustained in a coasting accident, was removed to his home here yesterday. He is recovering rapidly.

Nicely Entertained.

Officers of Jessamine Chapter No. 234, Order of Eastern Star, were entertained in the home of Mrs. Robert Graham in Ohio avenue on Friday. The evening hours were spent socially and in fancywork. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Graham.

Mrs. Trimble Injured.

Mrs. Walter Trimble, mother of Mrs. Wayne Laughlin of Ohio avenue, while visiting with friends and relatives in Scottdale, fell on the icy pavement and sustained a fracture of her right arm. She will remain in Scottdale for several weeks.

Injured in Fall.

Kansas' "Wheat Girl"

President Coolidge will receive a bag of wheat from Miss Vada Watson, Kansas' "Wheat Girl," in Washington on Jan. 20, sixty-fourth birthday of the Sunflower state. Miss Watson was chosen in a contest conducted by twenty-three Kansas newspapers. Her home is in Hutchinson.

Midland Personals.

Word has been received here of the death of Frank Delehanty of Pittsburgh, former resident of this place.

Miss Margaret Bahen of Cleveland was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Dennis Bahen of Beaver avenue, for several days.

Bruce Fisher of Ohio avenue, who was injured in a coasting accident here several weeks ago, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Newcomer of Beaver avenue were business visitors in Pittsburgh recently.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pringle of Park place has returned home after an extended visit with relatives in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Harvey Moll of Ohio avenue was called to Bethlehem on Saturday on account of the death of her father, Robert Arnold.

Miss Clara Borchert of Canonsburg, who has been visiting relatives in Cleveland, stopped over for several days' visit with her brother, C. A. Borchert, and family of Penn avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heaton of Eighth street were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Conrad Bahen, and family of Beaver.

Mrs. Elizabeth True of Columbus, O., a former resident of this place, is visiting her son, Wesley True, and family of Ohio avenue.

Charles Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Green of Ohio avenue, underwent an operation in the East Liverpool hospital yesterday for appendicitis.

Edith, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Flynn of Ohio avenue, is recovering slowly from an attack of diphtheria.

Now Is the Critical Time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will Help You Safely Through

Convoy, Ohio.—"During the Change of Life I was weak and run-down and could hardly do my work. By reading your advertisements I found out about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has straightened me right out and made me feel like a new woman. By the time I had taken eight bottles I was well and could do my housework on the farm without trouble. I recommended it to my daughter-in-law after her second baby was born and it did her a wonderful lot of good. I told her to try it and if it didn't help her I would pay for it, and before she had taken one bottle she said to me, 'You won't have to pay for it! It is helping me wonderfully!' And she took three bottles of it. You can use my testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. ELSIE ACKERMAN, Convoy, Ohio.

Consider carefully Mrs. Ackerman's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She tells of the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Boon to Mothers

Mothers everywhere who realize the danger to delicate little stomachs of too much dosing appreciate the value of Vicks in treating croup and children's colds.

With Vicks there is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. The body heat releases the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine—in the form of vapors which carry the medication directly to the nose throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

MIDLAND

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS BURIED HERE

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock for Jack Cristler, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cristler of Midland avenue, who was killed in the Crucible Steel plant here Saturday. Pallbearers were members of the Masonic lodge. Rev. Fohner, of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was made in the Bethlehem cemetery at Shippingport, Pa.

Home from Hospital.

Alex Zigas, of Penn avenue, who has been in the East Liverpool hospital for several weeks recovering from injuries sustained in a coasting accident, was removed to his home here yesterday. He is recovering rapidly.

Nicely Entertained.

Officers of Jessamine Chapter No. 234, Order of Eastern Star, were entertained in the home of Mrs. Robert Graham in Ohio avenue on Friday. The evening hours were spent socially and in fancywork. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Graham.

Mrs. Trimble Injured.

Mrs. Walter Trimble, mother of Mrs. Wayne Laughlin of Ohio avenue, while visiting with friends and relatives in Scottdale, fell on the icy pavement and sustained a fracture of her right arm. She will remain in Scottdale for several weeks.

Injured in Fall.

Kansas' "Wheat Girl"

President Coolidge will receive a bag of wheat from Miss Vada Watson, Kansas' "Wheat Girl," in Washington on Jan. 20, sixty-fourth birthday of the Sunflower state. Miss Watson was chosen in a contest conducted by twenty-three Kansas newspapers. Her home is in Hutchinson.

Midland Personals.

Word has been received here of the death of Frank Delehanty of Pittsburgh, former resident of this place.

Miss Margaret Bahen of Cleveland was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Dennis Bahen of Beaver avenue, for several days.

Charles Welford of Ohio avenue, who has been employed in the Crucible Steel plant here for several years, has resigned his position and left for Gary, Ind.

Bruce Fisher of Ohio avenue, who was injured in a coasting accident here several weeks ago, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Newcomer of Beaver avenue were business visitors in Pittsburgh recently.
